SIKESTON STANDARD

Southeast Missouri's Leading Semi-Weekly

VOLUME 24 — SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 10, 1936 — NUMBER 56

THE EDITOR SAYS—

The Tuesday edition of The Standard gave credit to The Herald for printing the bill lambasting C. L. Blanton, Sr., who was not a candidate, and we have since learned the bill was from the press of an outsider, or a sundowner, and we hasten to make the correction. However, it was a perfectly legitimate piece of work.

Up to the past week we were of the opinion that we had some little standing in the community, but this election and the panning we have received when we were not a candidate for anything, has rather made us suspect that the only real friends we have are some children that we have given nickels to, and at their age know no better than to think we were all right. If we have been fortunate enough to bring up a large family, who have made real men and women out of themselves, we should be complimented and not lambasted. There has never been one of our name in the state who took advantage of the bankrupt law to beat our creditors, ever been in jail or the penitentiary, no bastards or near bastards, no corrupting of poor white folks or negroes with whisky or money to get votes, no sundown practices or immoral acts that we know of.

* * *

The next good thing that we hope to hear from the new administration is that they have put all the old women to work that they have promised and that the streets are put in as good condition as they were under Mr. Swanner's commissionership.

* * *

If the mayor's race Tuesday had been close there would have been a contest over the shady marking of a ballot, or ballots in Ward 2. Intentional or not, Charlie Henson, one of the judges, made out the ticket for a white woman who had a sore hand, and when she said she wanted to vote for Presnell, proceeded to scratch Presnell, then she told him she didn't want to vote for Fuchs, he scratched out Fuchs and placed the dead ballot in the box. The woman went out and reported the fact and when complaint was made, the judge went into the ballot box, fished out this particular ballot, gave it to her, and fixed another ballot that voted for Presnell. This mutilated ballot was given to the woman who turned it over to Dr. Presnell. This woman could read and saw the judge's work, called his hand, and finally voted the way she wanted to. Now, if this sort of a deal was pulled, intentionally or unintentionally, how many votes were poked into this ballot box for the ignorant who could neither read nor write is a question.

G. B. Greer had a severe attack with his heart at midnight Wednesday night and was in a serious condition for many hours. Early Thursday morning he was thought to be resting easier and friends and acquaintances are hoping that he will soon regain his usual health.

* * *

One of the first acts the new mayor and council should perform is to buy a new tractor and grader in order that the new street commissioner can do the work on the streets as promised. The old tractor that has been in use is so decrepit that it had to be pulled by man power to assist it in moving a truck of dirt, while the grader that has been in use was one played out on the highway work and given to the city. Give Lon Swanner the machinery and a crew of men and he can, and will, put the streets in order whether they hold up or not, but with the old machinery and a two-man force it can't be done.

* * *

There has not been an election held in Sikeston in the last twenty years but what there has been disappointment among defeated candidates and their supporters, and there has not been a single one of the mayors elected but what has given his every effort for the betterment of his city, and the same will hold good now and in the future. If you were one of the disappointed, forget it and get behind the administration.

* * *

Just a hint. Property owners on Tanner street should present a project to WPA headquarters to have the 5-foot strip between the street and curb and gutter concreted while the WPA will furnish labor and maybe part or all of the material. Our strip has already been paved, so we'll gain nothing by this hint, so all others should favor it.

New Madrid should be congratulated on re-electing Sam Hunter as their mayor at the Tuesday election. Likewise on the re-election of their City Marshal. These gentlemen have given that city a splendid administration and triumphed over an element who wished for a wide open city and ably aided by workers on relief rolls who carried voter to the polls.

CHARLES MOORE DIES OF EXPOSURE ON RURAL ROAD

The body of Charles Moore was found at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning lying doubled up near a small bridge on a rural road a short distance west of Wolfe Hole ditch. The place is in the Big Opening community of New Madrid county and three miles east of the Gables night club.

Coroner L. A. Richards of New Madrid and Harvey Johnson said Moore probably died of exposure. He had been in ill health, suffering from heart trouble, chronic bronchitis, and cystitis (inflammation of the bladder).

Friends said that on Tuesday morning Moore had come here for the election with Horace G. English, with whom he lived, and Bob Hale. Hale and English left town separately late in the afternoon, each after asking Moore if he was ready to go home. When English started to his house on the Buckeye plantation, Moore was standing with Mrs. Elmer Mangrum in front of the building on North Kingshighway formerly occupied by the Langley Motor Company.

Mrs. Mangrum said Wednesday that Moore had left town at sunset Tuesday. His companions said he had been drinking, and they believe he was drunk at the time of his death. An empty whisky bottle was in the hip pocket of the blue denim trousers he wore.

Several people passing in cars along the Big Opening road that leads from Highway 61 east said they saw a man near the place where Moore's body was found. Thomas Ayers and Bill Dell saw him at about 10 o'clock and one person stopped to speak to him. Moore was then sitting at the edge of the road with his head on his hands and only grunted to questions.

Tracks in the moist sand indicated Moore had walked down the road, passing from one side to another, until he reached a sand hill beyond the place he died. Then he turned and staggered back, resting for a time. Fifty feet from the edge of the bridge where his body lay Wednesday morning, marks showed he had fallen into shallow water of the roadside ditch and that he had crawled out with effort by digging his fingers into soft mud. His knees evidently gave way, for the upper part of his body was over them and his face in the sand of the road. He had not been dead long.

Lewis Wrenn, who found the body at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, said he had thought before he reached the place at a bundle of straw had been dropped. He did not know the man and so went for Ben Mannings. First identification was made through a letter in Moore's pocket from Clarence Powell, a nephew he had reared.

Powell was until recently at a CCC camp in Kaiser, Mo., but not long ago went to Jefferson City, where he intended to enroll in the United States navy. Men of the community then called Richards.

At the time of his death, Moore was presumably trying to reach the home of Horace G. English and his brother, W. S. English, two miles east of the place he fell. W. S. English said that he and Moore grew up together in Mississippi county, where they attended school, and that latter they moved into the Big Opening community. For a time Moore lived at Sikeston at the Elmer Mangrum home; then on the recommendation of Dr. G. W. Presnell, he went to Hot Springs, Ark., for treatment. English said he could not take the baths, however, because of his weakened heart. He returned to Missouri and went to live in the Big Opening community. There he suffered three broken ribs while working. He had been living at the English home for two months.

Moore was 64 years old. He had no living relation except Powell. His wife died several years ago. Funeral services were to be held here Thursday with Welsh service.

FUCHS MAJORITY 149; TAYLOR, JEWELL WIN

N. E. Fuchs was mayor again Tuesday night after his victory over Dr. G. W. Presnell in one of the most spirited elections of the town's history.

A record vote of 2997 was cast in the four wards—396 more than in 1934, when Dr. Presnell defeated Fuchs by a 751 majority. (Presnell, 1676; Fuchs, 925.) Fuchs won Tuesday by 149 votes in a race he termed difficult to win. Dr. Presnell carried only his home ward, three, by 84 votes and trailed by 113 votes in ward one, 87 in ward two, and 33 in ward four.

Walter Kendall was re-elected police chief; Elmos Taylor, collector; and Lynn Waggener, T. F. Rafferty, and Hubert Boyer, aldermen. Brown Jewell won the police judge's office and Gust Zacher was elected alderman from ward three. Voters chose C. D. Matthews, III, city treasurer, and A. C. Barrett, assessor. Robert Dempster had no opposition for the office of city attorney.

News of the gradual swing to Fuchs was first learned Tuesday afternoon when unofficial reports of ballots counted in each ward showed him leading by 43 votes When wards two and three totals were officially reported at the city hall early Tuesday night, Fuchs was ahead only 3 votes. Ward four returns showed him leading by 36 votes, and those of one, the last to arrive, stamped the victory decisive.

An hour before wards one and four were in, however, Fuchs supporters had learned of their victory. Fuchs arrived at the city hall soon afterward with many followers, saying, "I've come home." Before Fred Briggs took him out for a wheelbarrow ride around the downtown section, Fuchs said he had known it would be "hard to beat Dr. Presnell". He said he would forget all preelection differences and concentrate his efforts on making Sikeston a good mayor.

The campaign was spirited. No such widespread support for Fuchs from varied quarters was apparent in 1934, when he sought re-election after serving four terms as mayor.

Dr. Presnell did not appear at the city hall Tuesday night to swear in Fuchs and other newly elected officers although Fuchs was anxious to go to Cape Girardeau early Wednesday morning to attend a district lumber dealers' convention. Fuchs left Wednesday soon after a special meeting at which all except one of the newly elected officials were inducted into office. Hubert Boyer was ill after a night of celebration.

Fuchs announced a council session will be held early next week to consider changes in the city employes' personnel. He said Tuesday night that new officials will be appointed, and before he left Wednesday he discharged Charles Boardman, the street commissioner, asked for the police star held by Earl Wilson, a relief officer at the election, and appointed Gust Zacher temporary chairman of the board of aldermen. He instructed Lon Swanner to superintend street repair work until his return late Friday or early Saturday.

Voting Tuesday was quiet and the only disturbance was caused by David McNuel, a negro, charged by C. S. Lewis with disturbing the peace by flourishing a loaded pistol at two white people. He was taken by Sheriff Joe Anderson to Benton, where he will be held to await trial in Justice Joseph W. Myers' court.

Jewell and Taylor carried three wards each in their races for judges and collector, Jewell accumulating 1032 votes and Taylor 1131. Judge W. H. Carter, the incumbent seeking re-election, trailed Jewell with 857 votes. Judge Joseph W. Myers had 583; Judge William S. Smith, 162; and L. A. Clark, 121.

D. L. McElroy stood second in the collector's race with 768 votes. Clyde Causey had 480 votes; Luther Felker, 366; and Mrs. Nell Hart, 82. Walter Kendall was given 1844 votes to Roy Beck's 865 for police chief. Robert Dempster received 2913 votes for city attorney and Kendall Sikes, 6.

Vodrel (Red) Kirby ran second in the ward one alderman's race, getting 252 votes to Waggener's, 351. Waggener was the incumbent. W. A. Williams was given 60, and J. A. O'Hara, 53. Boyer beat J. Edgar White by 98 votes in the ward two alderman race, and Zacher received 357 votes in ward three to defeat J. A. Sutterfield, with 206, and Grover Duncan, 170, Rafferty, who was unopposed in ward four, got 620.

W. H. Sikes and A. J. Renner were re-elected without opposition to the board of education; and the $1 levy passed by a 1384-to-374 vote and the 40-cent levy by 1396 votes to 345. Sikes was given 1834 votes and Renner, 1789.

The vote by wards is printed below.

THE REAL DRIVER

10—Has His Car Inspected Regularly and Maintained Properly—DO YOU?

Many drivers have had bad accidents because their brakes wouldn't hold. Cars with loose steering wheels are like boats without rudders—you never know where they are going Accidents frequently occur when drivers are blinded by poorly focused headlights. Regular inspection and maintenance are necessary to assure safe cars.

Kaempfer Files Motion For Change of Venue

The trial of Harry Kaempfer of Cape Girardeau on a charge of perjury at the murder trial of Floyd Smith last fall was delayed in circuit court when defense attorneys filed an affidavit for a change of venue. Judge Frank Kelly said he would rule on the Motion today (Friday).

Kaempfer was arrested February 2. In an indictment he was cited as testifying for the defense in the Smith trial for the W. T. Carlton murder at Gray's Point May 8 that he and Smith were together in Cape Girardeau that day. Smith was convicted of the murder and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Thomas McGee, also of Cape Girardeau, was convicted earlier this month of perjury at the murder trial of his brother, Claude, and sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

In court Wednesday, Richard Townsend, a negro, was sentenced to four years in prison when he plead guilty to burglary and larceny of the J. S. Wallace store March 13. Thomas White, another negro defendant in the same case, is yet to be tried. James Rice, a third, has been sentenced to five years for the crime.

Carol Grant of Fornfelt was given a four-year term when he confessed burglary and larceny of a store in his home town. Prosecuting Attorney W. P. Wilkerson nolle prossed a similar action against Sylvester Weaver of Fornfelt when Grant exonerated him.

Councilmen Object to Police Appointments

Enmity toward Dr. G. W. Presnell was apparent at Monday night's city council meeting after Hubert Boyer asked for the names of men Dr. Presnell had appointed as special police for the election Tuesday. Dr. Presnell had notified board members and candidates by letter that he would place special police at polling places to insure "a fair election, to keep peace, and to promote orderly voting."

Dr. Presnell announced Monday night that he had named Charles French and Roy Stevenson as police for ward one; Clarence Felker and Don Vowels for ward two; E. V. Howell and Earl Wilson for ward three; and Roly McDonald and Oscar Morris for ward four.

When Boyer moved that the board reject the special police, Dr. Presnell told him his action was not in order. Lynn Waggener, E. H. Smith, and J. L. Matthews joined Boyer in saying they considered the hire of special police a waste of money, one adding the city would not benefit from having "the doctor's men" standing outside polling places. As Dr. Presnell showed his authority for his action by reading from an ordinance that grants the mayor to appoint special police whom the city must pay, Boyer asked if the police commission formed last year had any authority. (Boyer is a member of it.) Yes, Dr. Presnell told him, but not any superseding is allowed under an older ordinance. A reading of the bill creating the commission showed this was true. Your term expired last month, Dr. Presnell then said. No further arguments were made against the appointments.

Before they adjourned, councilmen named extra judges and clerks, whom the board of education will pay: Byron Bowman and Duree Medley in ward one; John Sikes and Walter Hughes in ward two; James T. Edwards and J. W. Foley in ward three; and Leo A. Smith and the Rev. Verne F. Oglesby in ward four. Frank Mount was appointed a ward three clerk to replace Earl Malone, who was ill.

Funds Released for Mississippi WPA Work

Four new projects for Mississippi county and funds for continuing four others are included in a list of April WPA allocations just received, C. L. Blanton, Jr., ninth district WPA director, said Thursday. In addition, Mr. Blanton has been sent an additional $5633 for the Dunkllin county sewing rooms.

New Mississippi county projects and amounts are: $1690 of a $22,356 project employing 48 men for gravel surfacing 5200 feet of streets and building 4800 feet of concrete sidewalk in Wyatt; $2217 of a $48,828 project for construction of 42,617 lineal feet of walk in East Prairie, the project to employ 99 men; $1771 of an $11,105 project to build 14,332 feet of walks in Bertrand, 36 men to be given work; and $863 of a $1360 project for laying an eight-inch sewer pipe to drain the Anniston high school basement, 15 men to be employed.

Mr. Blanton received an additional allocation of $1994 for grading and graveling Charleston streets; $682 for construction of the Bird's Point to Birney's Ferry road; $3914 for the Mississippi county malaria control project; and $3057 for Mississippi county sewing rooms.

Allocations for other Southeast Missouri counties are expected soon.

MITCHELL-SHARP'S USED CAR LOT OPEN EVENINGS

The Mitchell-Sharp Chevrolet Company's used car lot on Center street will be open evenings during the rest of the spring and summer months. Clay A. Mitchell announced yesterday.

Powerful lights are now being installed on the lot by the board of public works. The official nite opening will be Saturday.

Mitchell-Sharp's used car lot was remodeled recently until it resembles that owned by metropolitan dealers. A new fence has been built and painted, and new signs installed.

SECRET MARRIAGE OF MISS PAT MURPHY TO REX LAMBERT ANNOUNCED

Announcement was made this week of the marriage of Miss Pat Murphy to Rex Lambert. It was performed at the home of the Rev. Lem Council on February 12 and kept secret until now. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nickens were attendants.

Mrs. Lambert, a foster daughter of Mrs. Clara Hurt, attended school in Poplar Bluff.

Mr. Lambert is a son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lambert. He was graduated from the Sikeston high school in 1933 and is now employed at the International shoe factory.

CLOTHES STOLEN FROM LINE AT HOWE HOME

Personal clothing of Mrs. Beulah Howe was stolen Tuesday night from a clothes line on which garments hung in the yard of her home at the corner of Center and North Prairie streets.

Mrs. Howe, an International shoe factory employe, had washed Monday evening and then put the clothes out to dry. They were not taken, however, until the following night. The only clue Mrs. Howe found was the imprint of a woman's high heel shoe in the ground under the line.

A week ago, an intruder was surprised late at night as he prowled near the chicken house behind the Herbert Finney home at Scott and Trotter streets. The person was a large man wearing a heavy sweater. He was frightened away.

PLANS ALMOST COMPLETE FOR M. U. ALUMNI DINNER

Arrangements for the first University of Missouri alumni banquet to be held in this district are almost completed.

The program will be unpretentious since the meeting is to be primarily a good fellowship one and a session at which a permanent Southeast Missouri alumni association is to be formed .

Mrs. Thomas B. Allen will play the piano while former university students sing "Old Missouri", "I'm a Son of Old Missou", and others of their alma mater, and Robert L. Hill, director of alumni activities for the university, will speak. Either Arnold Roth, district chairman for the banquet, or Allen B. Oliver, both of Cape Girardeau, will be toastmaster.

The dinner will be held in the Marshall hotel dining room at 6:30 Tuesday night. All former students are invited to attend.

TELLS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT TO DROP NAME CONTEST

Attorney-General Roy McKittrick has notified the St. Louis Globe-Democrat that he will institute quo warranto proceedings against the newspaper in the state supreme court unless it discontinues its "Famous Names" contest. He alleges the contest is in violation of the Missouri anti-lottery laws and in conflict with the newspaper's rights and privileges under its state charter.

Many Sikeston residents are competing in the contest for cash prizes totaling $15,000.

McKittrick said in an interview that in answer to an inquiry he made to Postmaster-General Farley he learned the St. Louis postmaster had been advised to treat the cartoons as mailable matter with the understanding that full responsibility for any violations of the laws involved would rest with the sender. McKittrick will take no action until Friday, when he will hear objections from attorneys for the Globe-Democrat.

The contest is now in its tenth week. Eighty-four cartoon were to be published. Number sixty-nine appeared yesterday.

State NYA Director Here

ROSE GROOMSMAN AT CAPE COUPLE'S WEDDING

William Rose of Sikeston served as groomsman at the marriage March 21 of Miss Grace Reynolds and Remmel Martin, both of Cape Girardeau. Announcement of the wedding was made in Cape Girardeau Tuesday.

Mrs. Martin, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Reynolds of the Cape, was graduated from Central high school in 1933. Mr. Martin, a son of Mrs. Pearl Martin of Detroit, Mich., has lived in the Cape three years.

Safety Council to Meet

Safety committeemen of Sikeston service organizations are reminded that a meeting of the newly formed Southeast Missouri public safety council will be held in the Marshall hotel dining room at 1:30 Sunday afternoon. A constitution drafted from suggestions of members will be presented for approval.

W. B. A.

The Women's Benefit Association will hold the regular business meeting Monday, April 13, at I. O. O. F. hall.

9		37

A heavy frost was on the ground Tuesday morning. Rainfall this month has totaled 2.89 inches.

Kirby Grateful for Support

I am grateful to the voters in ward one who came out to cast their ballots for me. Even though I was defeated, I feel that I owe thanks to the ones who supported me. I am certainly proud of the loyal support I got. I was beaten by a good man in my opponent.

Vodrel (Red) Kirby.

Woman's Club Met Tuesday

The Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. C. H. Denman, Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. J. W. Foley and Mrs. Ralph Anderson, assisting. Mrs. G. A. Dempster was program leader with the subject "The Rockhill Nelson Art Gallery." It was decided that a medal be presented annually to the best girl student in home economics and the boy ranking highest in manual training in the Sikeston high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Jean Hirschberg and Mrs. Ted Higgins spent Tuesday in St. Louis buying stock for the Flower Basket.

Brown Jewell's Car Is Burned on Highway 60

Judge Brown Jewell's 1932 Pontiac coupe was entirely burned when it caught fire at 2:30 Thursday morning as Jewell and Dick Swaim were driving east on Highway 60 four miles west of here.

Although apparently there was a short in the dimmer switch, Jewell thinks the car caught fire after it had back fired several times. No covering was on the gasoline tank, because, Jewell thinks a station attendant neglected to replace the cap after filling the tank Wednesday night. Gasoline probably splashed into the rear of the coupe, where Jewell kept a small rug he used in winter to cover the radiator and several gunny sacks.

Soon after he noticed smoke seeping into the front of the car, Swaim saw the machine was in flames. Jewell got it onto the shoulder before he was forced to get out. Passersby brought the two here, and at 8 o'clock Thursday morning, the Mitchell-Sharp wrecker hauled the car to town. Only the framework and a Stark-for-Governor rear tire cover remained.

Jewell and Swaim were returning from Canalou, where they had been visiting friends.

J. F. Trousdale Granted Divorce; Children's Care

Judge Frank Kelly found for the plaintiff Wednesday after hearing testimony in J. Frank Trousdale's divorce suit against Kathryn Anna Trousdale. He had taken the case under advisement last week.

Judge Kelly granted Trousdale a divorce and care and custody of minor children. He allowed Mrs. Trousdale the right to see her children but fixed no dates for her visits.

Trousdale had sued on four counts, alleging that his wife frequently remained away from her home and little children until late at night; that she often became intoxicated and came into the presence of her children drunk; that she improperly associated with other men over the objections of her husband; and that she failed to perform her household duties. Mrs. Trousdale, in her answer, denied all the allegations but did not in turn ask that a divorce be granted her, as is customary. Trousdale was represented by Blanton & Montgomery.

The case against Joe Abernathy of Oran, who is charged with assault with intent to kill, was passed until today when it was brought into court Wednesday. Abernathy is accused of slashing the left side of Creal Abernathy's jaw during a recent fight in Oran. He was bound over to the circuit court after a preliminary hearing Tuesday before Justice J. W. Bowman of Sylvania township. At the time of his arrest, Abernathy said he thought he must have scratched his relatives jaw with a fingernail. The court appointed Steve Barton of Benton to represent him.

The Maryland Casualty Company's suit against E. P. Coleman, Jr., was dismissed at the request of the plaintiff, who stipulated Coleman was to pay the court costs. The action resulted from a disagreement about the amounts of premiums on group insurance Coleman had taken out on his employes.

L. W. Baldwin took an appeal to the supreme court from Judge Kelly's recent ruling in favor of the Scott County Milling Company in his coal rebate case for the Missouri Pacific railroad. The suit involved $24,000 the railroad alleges Scott County owes it above what the company paid for haul.

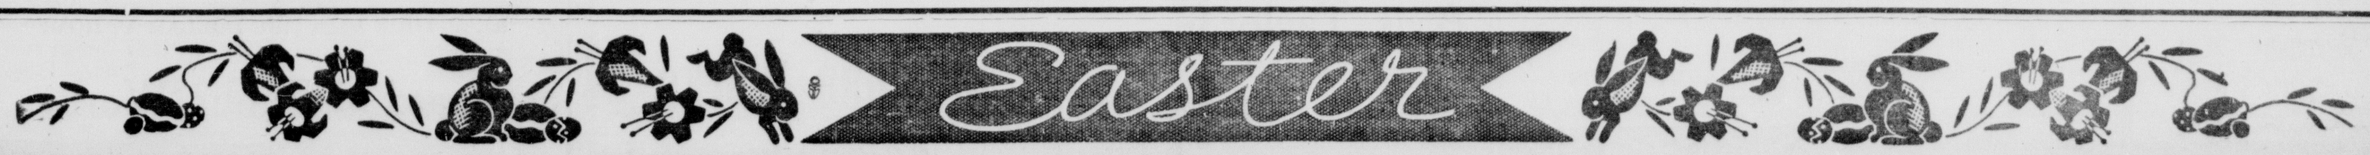

"I'd like a couple of hard boiled eggs to take out," said the young fellow to the girl at the lunch counter.

This is written the morning after. As the sun went down the evening before the thermometer fell with the hopes we had of saving the country and by the time the final count was announced, the frost fell, and the ground froze, but with the rising sun the frost disappeared, our spirits rose, and we are eating crow and like it.

An anonymous letter received by the editor Wednesday morning and signed "A Republican that wants to know," is inquiring what became of the money taken in on the President's two balls. Well, after his last ball came off, what was left was turned over to Miss Florence Chrisler, principal of the grade school to buy shoes and underclothes for children in that school. Miss Chrisler can give the number of dollars and cents turned over to her. We hardly think any of it was used for whisky in the Tuesday election.

In Ward Two on election day a negro voter told the Judge to mark his ticket for him and said he wanted to vote for Mr. Blanton for mayor. He was informed that Mr. Blanton was not a candidate, but he wanted to vote for him anyway. Now Mr. Blanton has $5 worth of groceries for that negro if he can be identified as he is about the only friend we have that we have heard of.

Shorthand II—Joe Finley, Portageville, 12 errors; Paxton Hunter, New Madrid, 43; Ruth Howard, New Madrid, 46; Louise McMullin, Parma, 72; John Henson, Portageville, 84; Vernon Spradling Matthews, 86. Points won in this subject did not count toward cup since less than six schools entered. However, individual honors will be awarded.

The contest was carried out in good order and the questions were difficult enough to make it easy to pick the winners. In fact, some of the winners missed nearly half of the questions as will be noted in such cases as Algebra and Geometry.

Every possible precaution was taken to make the contest fair to all and the schools accepted the results in a splendid spirit of good sportsmanship.

Our Very Best Quality

Remember that we say Phillips 66 Motor Oil is our finest premium quality. Yet it sells for only 30¢ a quart in refinery-sealed cans. Or in bulk, 26¢ a quart.

No doubt you have read about the excitement created in scientific circles by the announcement of the POLYmerization process.

It has been hailed and acclaimed on the radio and in the press as a miracle of modern chemistry. The benefits it brings to gasoline have been lauded to the skies. No single improvement in motor fuel manufacture has ever been greeted by such unanimous approval of technical experts.

BUT . . . in the final analysis . . . one thing, and only one thing, counts with any experienced driver: "How does Poly Gas work in my motor?"

The best answer to this question, the most convincing and conclusive proof that POLYmerization improves gasoline quality, is just one trial tankful of the new Phillips 66 Poly Gas.

It costs nothing extra, but it must deliver extra value because our sales of Phillips 66 Poly Gas are right now at the highest levels in the history of the company. And as a famous slogan puts it—There must be a reason! Find out the money-saving facts by getting a tankful of the new Phillips 66 Poly Gas.

TOO MUCH LIGHT

It is practically impossible to have too much light in any home, but it is easy to have too much glare.

Even the feeble light that is produced by a match would hurt your eyes if you held it directly in front of them for any considerable length of time.

Clear sunlight is five hundred times brighter than the light of an electric light, but you never try to read or work with the sun shining directly into your eyes.

Every lamp in your home should be shaded to prevent glare.

Don't make the mistake of trying to get rid of glare by using fewer or smaller lamps.

Plenty of light from properly shaded lamps will add to the attractiveness of your home and bring more comfort into it.

Let us call and tell you how to light your home for eye comfort, as well as for beauty. This service is free.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH TO HAVE EASTER SERVICES

Special Easter services will be held at the Christian church Sunday morning. The Rev. R. M. Talbert of Cape Girardeau, the pastor, will preach, and the choir will sing an Easter anthem, "He Is Risen."

ANNOUNCES SUBJECTS FOR EASTER SERMONS

"The Meaning of the Resurrection" is the subject the Rev. D. D. Ellis has chosen for his morning Easter sermon at the Presbyterian church Sunday. The service will begin at 9 o'clock.

Special Easter music will be sung and a short dedicatory service for the new carpet recently laid on the auditorium floor will be held. On Sunday evening, Mr. Ellis will preach on "The Bible: Its Influence and Its Need."

Sunday school will be held as usual at 10 o'clock, and Christian Endeavor at 6:30 Sunday, and prayer service at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

ELLIS TO PREACH TONITE ON MEANING OF CROSS

The Rev. D. D. Ellis, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will preach on "The Meaning of the Cross" at union Good Friday services in the Methodist church tonight. The Revs. Verne F. Oglesby, C. F. Transue, and A. L. Shoemaker will assist at the services and the Baptist church male quartet will sing.

BAPTIST PAGEANT THE STORY OF HOW FAMILY FOUND FAITH IN JESUS

The story of how members of a wealthy family were converted to Christ and of how they pledged themselves to his service after the crucifixion will be told by Baptists who present an Easter pageant, "The Living Christ," at the church Sunday evening.

The family was that of Jairus, whose daughter Ruth died of a disease that had baffled all physicians of the time. The child's nurse, Anna, told Jairus of the reputed healing powers of Jesus, but because Jairus was a ruler of the synagogue, where Christ was not favored by priests and elders, he hesitated for a time to seek Jesus out. After Ruth died, however, Jesus came at his bidding and restored her to life. He was gone before Jairus could thank him.

When Jairus, his wife, Lydia, the child, and Anna went out to follow and serve Christ through their lives, they found He was dead and then that He had arisen. They heard his voice saying, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature" as they talked with his followers.

A. B. Moll will portray Jairus in the pageant; Miss Vernetta Smith, Lydia; Mary Ann Lankford, Ruth; and Miss Marguerite Bryant, Anna. Miss Lela Stacy will play the part of Mary, the sister of Martha; Mrs. A. B. Moll will be Mary Magdalene; Miss Lillian Belle Tayor, Joannah; and Miss Muriel Edwards, Salome. Rex Martin will be Peter; Dr. F. L. Sisson, Jr., John; and Arthur Lockhart, Thomas. Members of the choir will sing anthems between each scene of the pageant.

At the morning services, the Rev. Verne F. Oglesby will preach on "The Resurrection Hope" and will conduct a baptismal service. The choir will sing special Easter music.

THREE M. E. CHOIRS TO SING SUNDAY MORNING

The beginners', the junior, and the young peoples' choirs will have parts on Easter morning services at the Methodist church Sunday.

Mrs. E. H. Orear has charge of the choruses of fifty-seven voices that will sing many Easter selections at the services. She has been assisted by Mrs. Ruby Newson, director of the young people's choir, and by Mrs. R. A. Moore, the church organist.

The Rev. E. H. Orear will preach Sunday morning on "He is not here; He is Risen." During the service he will baptize children and receive new members into the church.

SIKESTON BOYS IN HONORARY ORGANIZATION

Charlie McMullin and Bill Donnell were initiated into "The Stripes and Diamonds," a national honorary military organization, at the University of Missouri, last week, according to a newspaper article read here.

TRAINING COURSES TO BE OFFERED FOR CUB PARENTS, SCOUTMASTERS

The first of a series of lectures of a Scoutmasters' training course and a course for parents interested in the Boy Scout cubbing program will be given in the Marshall hotel dining room at 7:30 tonight (Thursday) immediately after the Kiwanis club dinner. Kiwanians are sponsoring organization of a cub pack here.

All persons interested in Scouting as troop committeemen, Scoutmasters, or assistant Scoutmasters are invited to take the course, especially men actively associated with Troops 41, 42, 43, and the new 44 since several additional Scoutmasters and helpers are needed. One lesson will be given each week for six successive weeks.

The cub training course will be offered for cub chiefs, cubmasters, and parents of cubs. Invitations to attend the meeting and to take the course have been sent out to every parent in Sikeston who has boys from 9 to 12 years old. The notices were distributed to 250 school boys of cub age.

Cub dens will be limited to the boys whose parents are interested enough to co-operate by taking the course, which consists of three lectures, given one evening for three consecutive weeks.

"Cub work is preliminary to that of scouting. A cub who completes the cub course becomes a tenderfoot scout at 12 years of age and is ready to begin work for his second class badge in scouting. However, the cub program is built around the home, rather than around the scout meeting place, as we feel that youngsters of this age should not be taken away from their home environment. We strive, therefore, to give these 9 to 12 year old boys their cub program of work at their own home or that of their chums or "buddies". This work will be directed by the cubmaster but will be supervised largely by the "den mother" and the "den chief". The cub program provides for cub dens in various parts of town. Any neighborhood group of boys, who play together, can form a den. This may consist of from 5 to 10 boys, or even a larger number. Whatever number of boys play together in the neighborhood group will make up the membership of that particular den. It is possible therefore, to have many dens in different parts of Sikeston. A cub chief will be in charge of each den. The cub chief is a boy scout, who will direct the work of each den, under the supervision and direction of the cubmaster. It is necessary that we have also a cub mother for each den. She must be the mother of one of the cubs in the den and usually is the mother at whose home this cub work is carried on. We also select a father of one of the cubs in each den, who serves as "den dad". It is, therefore, evident that the co-operation of the parents is necessary in the establishment of every cub den.

"The cub pack is made up of the various cub dens. The meet together as a pack only once each month, under direct supervision of the Cubmaster, who checks up on the work they have accomplished. Parents of cubs are invited to this monthly meeting."

Herman L. (Humpy) Mattingly suffered third-degree burns on his right hand, wrist, and forearm when he carried a three-gallon bucket of flaming gasoline from the Sinclair service station Tuesday morning.

Jim Mason a negro attendant at the station, ignited the gasoline as he started to light the hot patch to repair a tire. He accidentaly dropped a match he thought was out into the bucket, kept under the work bench. With flames more than a foot high, Mattingly first pulled the bucket out into the workroom to prevent the blaze from setting the wooden ben on fire. Then because a car was in the room, he picked up the bucket and carried it to the concrete surrounding the station.

Dr. Howard A. Dunaway, who treated Mattingly, said the burns were deep. Mattingly was resting at his home Tuesday afternoon.

AS OWNERS everywhere will tell you, Oldsmobile is a revelation in all-round economy not only because of its low purchase price, but because months and miles of driving prove its real money-saving advantages. In gasoline and oil consumption—in service and maintenance costs—in depreciation—Oldsmobile saves you money all along the line. And at the same time, you enjoy all the fine-car features—the added satisfaction that comes from having everything for comfort, convenience, driving ease and safety. If you want real economy, from first to last, buy a 1936 Oldsmobile. The first step is to take a trial drive.

IDEAS ON MEAT FOR ? THAT ARE DIFFERENT

Easter, with its "crop" of spring brides, has become a close rival for June in the affairs of heart and home, and both the bride when she starts housekeeping and Mother who now has only herself and Father to consider in preparing meals are looking for meat cuts suitable for the family of two.

Of course, there are the old stand-bys, the steaks and chops which can be cut in any desired size, but even though the chops and steaks are perfectly broiled, and served, sometimes friend husband or Father wishes longingly for a good old-fashioned stew or that old favorite, corned beef and cabbage. Perhaps they may seek a downtown restaurant, but why not accommodate them by giving them their old favorites at home? It can be done, even when there are only two.

For the small-sized stew, a casserole dish is a good utensil—not of course, the casserole dish which holds enough for six, but there are plenty of inexpensive casserole dishes on the market for single or double servings. To make the stew place the vegetables, potatoes, onions, carrots, or any other vegetables you wish, in the casserole dish then brown the diced meat in a hot skillet, place this on top, add enough water to cover vegetables but not the meat, cover and let cook slowly in the oven for one hour. This makes a very simple meal, one which not only the new husband relishes as a change from the usual, but one which because of its ease in preparations, the new bride will welcome quite as much.

Corned beef and cabbage, too, can easily be incorporated into your menus. Just visit the canned meat counter and choose a can of already cooked corned beef, which needs only to be opened, and cooked with cabbage until the latter is done. Or the uncooked corned beef can be bought and none of it will be wasted, since corned beef can be used in so many ways. First, it is served as corned beef and cabbage, then it can be used for a second meal as hot corned beef sandwiches, and perhaps a third served in a cream sauce with buttered noodles, or as corned beef hash.

Mummy of Princess, Who Died 2,000 Years Before King Tut, Is Revealed

CAIRO, EGYPT, April 6—The well preserved body of an Egyptian princess, who is estimated to have lived more than 2,000 years before King Tut Ankh-Amen, has been discovered in the Gigeh pyramids, Prof. Selin Hassan announced Monday.

The body was covered with gold. The princess was believed to have died about 3,600 B. C. and to have been the daughter of the Pharoh Chephren, builder of the second highest pyramid.

The mud of the Nile has seeped into the tomb, covered the body and preserved it through the thousands of years.

Around the princess' neck were three threads of gold. Another gold necklace with two gold weights was found on the ground, apparently having dropped from the body.

The head-dress was of plain gold with streamers of copper and gold. A bracelet of thin gold was on each arm and a girdle of copper covered with gold leaf around the waist.

Gold circlets were around the legs and two heaps of gold were at the feet.

Despite its excelent condition, the mummy was extremely fragile and was being handled with the utmost caution. The find was considered the most important since the discovery of Tut Ankh-Amen, whose mummy was 3,250 years old.

Chephren was the brother of Cheops, builder of the great pyramid, and succeeded him. Herodotus records that during the reigns of the two brothers, the Egyptians suffered miserably so that they could build vast pyramids which were to be the king's tombs.

Cheops closed the temples and made all the Egyptians labor on his monument, working in relays of 100,000 men every three months. He sacrificed the honor of his daughter to get money. The princess built herself a small pyramid of stones given to her by her lovers.

ROUT WINDS WITH STEW

During April there are always chill winds which penetrate with stinging severity, so be prepared to counter-act the cold with warm and satisfying foods, such as a good old-fashioned stew serving steaming hot.

A stew combines the tasty meat flavor with vegetables and makes a broth which is the delight of epicures and a comfort for tired workmen. The stew to give the most satisfaction must be well-made with plenty of meat to add both flavor and nutritive value. It is not important, however, that the meat be cut from the most tender sections, because in the long slow cooking given stews, the meat is always made tender. Its important that the meat have plenty of extractives, the flavoring substance which makes stews so tasty. Comparatively large amounts of extractives are found in the neck, shank, heel of round, and chuck of beef and in the forequarters cuts of lamb. Hence, these are the cuts most frequently used for stew, and rightly so, because they not only make excellent stew, but are also the economical cuts.

Here Is Standard Methods

The standard method for making stews, according to Inez S. Wilson, home economist, is this:

1. Have meat cut into small pieces, into about 2-inch cubes, so that the meat will keep its identity after cooking.
2. Dredge with flour and brown in hot lard.
3. Season with salt and pepper and add enough water to cover.
4. Cover kettle tightly and let simmer slowly until done. Do not allow to boil.
5. Add vegetables just long enough before serving that they will be done, not overcooked.

While the method of cooking is essentially the same for all stews, still there is variety to be found among them. Different meats, different vegetables, and different seasonings insure them against monotony.

Many of the old-fashioned stews were served with dumplings, either drop or rolled. Rolled dumpling are never so fluffy as those made from a lighter dough, but they are more easily manipulated and are most delicious. An interesting variety of the rolled dumpling is the corn stuffed dumpling, which is certainly worth a trial.

Corn Stuffed Dumplings

Make a dumpling dough stiff enough to be rolled. Roll 1-4 inch thick and cut into 3 inch rounds. Place the seasoned cold pulp on top, and pinch the edges of rounds together. Drop these on the meat and vegetables, not in liquid, and allow to steam for fifteen minutes until done.

Old-Fashioned Stew

2 pounds shank or neck of beef
4 tablespoons flour
Salt and pepper
6 small onions
6 small carrots
3 turnips, quartered.

Have the meat cut into 2-inch cubes. Dredge it with flour and brown in hot lard. Season. Cover with hot water and allow to cook slowly until done. Forty-five minutes before serving, add the vegetables and season. Cover tightly and allow them to steam. Fifteen minutes before serving add the dumplings, cover and do not uncover until they are done. More water may be added as needed but do not add so much that the dumplings must rest on liquid. They are much better if they rest on meat or vegetables and are allowed to steam.

CCC BOYS TO CAMP

Twelve white and three negro men from Scott county will report at 10 o'clock this morning to district CCC camps. The white men will be quartered at the New Madrid camp and the negroes at Delta.

The municipal water system of Lamar, county seat of Barton County ranks as one of the most complete filtration and treating systems in the state. The town has had not a case of typhoid fever in the past twenty years where city water was used exclusively.

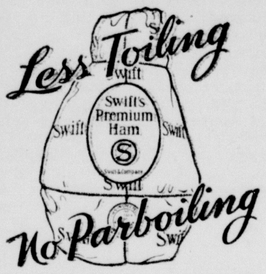

An interesting hobby is that of Captain John Campbell, who retired from river work in 1928 after 49 years of service on the Missouri River. Captain Campbell is a violin maker and to date has completed sixteen instruments "each one better than the last" to quote a friend and neighbor. Wooldridge, a small village of Cooper County, is the ancestral home of Captain Campbell, his great-grandfather, William A. Campbell having settled there in 1812.

The Sikeston Standard $2 per year

In the days preceding the Civil War, Ulysses S. Grant, who later commanded the northern forces and finally became President of the United States, was a farmer near St. Louis and frequently sold wood in the city. The log cabin which he built with his own hands and in which he lived is still preserved. The cabin stands today about a mile from its original site near the entrance to Grant's farm the country place of wealthy St. Louisans.

A careful estimate prepared by the Missouri State Highway Department indicated that tourists in a single year leave more than $21,000,000 in the state.

Tanner Corn Club

The 4-H Corn Club in the Tanner community held its regular meeting April 2 at the Tanner school. The subject of discussion was "Where to secure seed and how to test it". Mr. Gasser demonstrated how to test seed corn, using the "rag doll' tester. Each member is to test his own individual seed and compare the test with the seed used by the other members.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. Gasser, club leader, and the subject of discussion at this meeting will be "Selection of seed corn."

4-H GIRLS URGED TO MODEL IN STYLE DRESS CONTEST

The seventh annual National 4-H Girls' Style Revue in which 40 or more state champions will compete for final honors is to feature the National Club Congress in Chicago November 27—December 5 to be held in connection with the International Live Stock Exposition.

Every 4-H girl in this county and state may compete in this great educational contest. To do so she must be enrolled in a clothing or sewing project and make and model one of four classes of outfits. They are a wash dress for school or sport wear—a wool or rayon dress or suit for school—a best dress— and an informal party dress. She also must select her shoes and other accessories for the outfit which is judged for neatness, modesty, attractiveness, economy and other points. The girl may obtain the materials and articles anywhere she chooses. Score cards and other details may be obtained by local leaders from the county extension agent.

Although the experience a girl gains in the contest is alone worth the effort she puts in, many attractive prizes are offered as incentives for her to take part. They start with a beautiful, specially desined gold medal of honor and three silver medals for county champions. The state winner in each of the four types of outfits receives an elegant silver bracelet, while the state champion wins a trip with all expenses to the National Revue in Chicago.

Each of the four class winners in Chicago receives a 17-jewel gold watch, and the national winner a special gold medal, all prizes being provided by the Chicago Mail Order company, sponsor of the contest which is conducted by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work in co-operation with state and federal extension agents.

PAUL JONES' PARAGRAPHUS IN DUNKLIN CO. DEMOCRAT

Some one has said that gasoline and alcohol do not mix, but one thing certain when an attempt is made to mix the two, something usually happens, and the four who were in the truck which was wrecked east of Kennett Sunday afternoon can thank their lucky stars they are alive today.

It is a shame that all of us do not have the common sense shown by a certain salesman who was in Kennett some few months ago, and who was getting ready to drive to Hayti one night. He was at the hotel looking for someone to drive his car for him. The man seemed to be perfectly sober, but he said, "I am not drunk, but I have had a couple of drinks this evening, and I have made a solemn promise to myself that I will never attempt to drive an automobile after I have had as much as even one drink."

Now that's my idea of a sensible man. While some persons will contend that a drink "braces them up," that it steadies their nerves, and otherwise has a stimulating effect, it has been my experience that it also alters a man's judgement, and furthermore, after a man has had a few drinks he is not capable of knowing at just what point he ceases to be able to exercise all of his faculties which are necessary to drive with care.

It is my opinion that if every person who has occasion to drive an automobile would take the same attitude of the salesman who refrains from driving after he has had even one drink, the number of accidents would be greatly decreased.

This is not a temperance lecture, and it is not the plea of a prohibitionist, but it is merely a suggestion which seems to me to fit in with our national safety campaign which is being conducted throughout the nation.

And while we are on the subject I might insert a squib taken from the West Plains Journal, headed, "Cause, Effect???"

"It may have been just a coincident and probably was, but on opening a popular magazine the first full page ad was of a popular brand of Kentucky Booze, and the next was of a high powered automobile which was followed by a half page description of a travel accident policy and believe it or not the very next ad told where tombstones could be purchased on easy payments. A most significant sequence."

LUPER HEADS SCOTT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Carl O. Luper was elected president of the Scott County Association at a meeting of the board of directors Saturday morning. Arthur Schiwitz was elected vice-president. Mr. Luper will act as chairman and Mr. Schiwitz will act as vice-chairman of the county committee. Evin Burke was elected as a member of the county committee and Otto Diebold as alternate. F. B. Veatch, Jr., county agent, was selected as secretary of the Association and Mrs. Hortense Watkins was elected as treasurer.

Field work will start this week. Community committeemen will visit individual farms for the purpose of executing work sheets. Owing to the necessity for a rapid start, committeemen will probably work by themselves when assisting with the work sheets.

SCOUTS WILL DISTRIBUTE DRIVERS' SAFETY PLEDGES

Boy Scouts will begin Saturday to seek signatures for drivers' safety pledges which the Junior Chamber of Commerce began distributing recently, Kemper Bruton announced.

Mr. Bruton said Scouts will go through town Saturday asking motorists to sign pledges and then placing stickers on their cars to show they are co-operating with the junior chamber's campaign.

The work of distributing pledges was delayed temporarily because of the organization of the Southeast Missouri public safety council Mr. Bruton heads.

STILLBORN SON BORN TO D. D. ELLISES ON MONDAY

A stillborn son was born at 9:30 Monday night to the Rev. and Mrs. D. D. Ellis. He had been named ohn Stanaland Ellis.

Short funeral services were conducted at the Ellis home at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. C. V. Farrell, pastor of the Malden Presbyterian church, assisted by the Rev. B. R. Schwegler. Interment was in the city cemetery with Dempster service.

Mrs. Ellis' condition is as satisfactory as can be expected.

PLEAS MALCOLM HEADS STARK-FOR-GOVERNOR CLUB

Jefferson City, April 8.—Pleas M. Malcolm of Sikeston has been named as Scott county chairman of the Salesmen's Stark-for- Governor club, it was announced this week by Carl A. Barnert, of St. Louis, president.

Mr. Malcolm, it is expected, will announce his plans for the formation of a county Stark-for-Governor club within a few days. State headquarters already has supplied him with membership cards and campaign buttons.

In making this announcement, Barnert pointed out that it costs nothing to join the club and that, unlike most organizations engaged in political activities, the Salesmen's Stark-for-Governor club is being organized by people who are devoted solely to the candidacy of Major Lloyd C. Stark for Governor.

"Regardless of his political affiliations," Barnert said, "anyone who desires an outstanding business man and civic leader as Governor of Missouri can join our club. We are particularly proud that hundreds of our members come from that great body of independent voters whose common sense determines the way they mark their ballots."

The many members of the club in Scott county who desire additional pledge cards can obtain them from Malcolm.

TWO MEN DISQUALIFIED FOR POOR WRESTLING

Two rough wrestlers harried two clean straight ones at the American Legion matches in the armory Tuesday night. Both were disqualified after winning and losing one fall each.

Bobby Sampson, a new fellow the fans liked, won the first fall of the preliminary in twenty-two minutes and lost the second in seventeen to Floyd Byrd. Byrd was disqualified after seven minutes of the next round for his bad tactics, which included making several passes at Mike Meroney, the referee.

Freddie Knickle took a lot of punishment from Ole Alsen in the main event, chiefly enduring mouth stretching and eye gouging. Olsen won the first fall in seventeen minutes with a crab hold and lost the second in four minutes when Knickle started a series of kangaroo kicks. Olsen was disqualified after eight minutes of the third round.

Olsen will return next Tuesday to wrestle the popular Canadian, Roy Welch for the main event. In the preliminary, Charley Layden of Chicago will meet Billy Venable, a new 186-pound wrestler of Denver, Colo.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN DISTRICT MEET SOON

A district convention of Democratic women will be held in Caruthersville on Saturday, April 25, it was announced this week. Mrs. O. E. Rigdon of Chaffee, the tenth congressional district president, will outline features of the program soon.

HOUSE FURNISHINGS

FELT BASE RUGS STEPPING OUT

Despite the cold weather of late our floor covering specials are stepping out lively. If you doubt it take a look at the big front windows and note the blank spots that were covered with merchandise when the sale started. Prices on 9 x 12 felt base rugs begin at $3.75. On that basis every housekeeper should get the needed supply.

NEW WOOL RUGS—BEAUTIFUL—REASONABLY PRICED

Our entire force is enthusiastic about patterns and quality in the new ideas. Alexander Smith products are second to none and our racks are full of them. Firth Hooked Rugs are also here in beautiful patterns. You may have an odd size room to cover. If so, talk to us about it. We take such orders on a guarantee of satisfaction and have not failed in any instance.

AND THIS IS NO APRIL FOOL

With the aid of the Lammert Furniture Company of St. Louis we are covering S. E. Mo., this week with April circulars showing an assortment of spring bargains in home furnishings that are away out of the ordinary. Lammerts are recognized as the leading wholesalers of the Mississippi Valley and we value our connection with them highly. For downright beauty and value their April offerings as shown on this sheet are unbeatable. And bear in mind please there is not a piece advertised that we can not furnish at the price named, right out of our store. WE HAVE WHAT WE ADVERTISE.

PROOF OF THE PUDDING

Gifted talkers and high pressure salesmen are not required this year in selling genuine Frigidaires. Prospective customers sell themselves after they see and understand the workings of the new METER-MISER. An electric meter is hooked up with a Frigidaire in our store. The Frigidaire is full of meat, vegetables, milk and other foods, just as it would be in a home. The meter is an instrument which is easily read. Results in operating cost may be figured in one minute. Our only comment at this time is that no electric refrigerator made will keep the inside temperature as low on as little current as the 1936 Frigidaire with the METER-MISER. THE PROOF IS HERE FOR YOU. YOU DON'T HAVE TO TAKE SOMEBODY'S WORD FOR IT.

CONSTANT SERVICE—VALUABLE

Buyers of electric refrigerators, no matter what brand they select, should carefully consider the advantages of having a real service man handy when adjustments become necessary. The Frigidaire Company maintain official service in Sikeston which is under Company supervision twelve months in the year. Mechanics who take care of calls are highly schooled in Frigidaire requirements. Our firm is also on the job every day to see that customers get the service that is promised when sales are made. Think it over.

SPEAKING FURTHER OF REFRIGERATION

Farm homes, village homes, summer cottages, wayside eating places, all may now have modern refrigeration without electric current by the amazing new ELECTROLUX which is operated with ordinary kerosene. The work of a small coal oil flame is almost magical—almost unbelievable but it does the work—and at a cost of only a few cents a day. See the 1936 models at our place. Plenty of time to pay.

If Man's Heart You Would Please Serve Him Pie of Cottage Cheese

FEW housewives appreciate the diversity of uses for Cottage Cheese in the daily menu. To enumerate just a few of the tempting array of dishes that can be made with Cottage Cheese would make almost any person hungry.

Perhaps the many types of salads in which Cottage Cheese is so popular has caused housewives in many instances to limit its use to this form. There are, however, many other delightful ways in which this delicacy may be served.

One of the most tempting forms in which to prepare this nourishing food is in a Cottage Cheese Pie. You will discover it has an appetizing goodness that is difficult to surpass. Ask your milkman to leave a jar of Cottage Cheese or order a jar from your grocer, and then try this recipe. You will wish to add it to your list of favorite pie recipes.

Cottage Cheese Pie
1½ cups Cottage Cheese
4 tablespoons melted butter
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon flour
grated rind of 1 lemon
2 egg yolks (unbeaten)
½ cup raisins
½ cup chopped nuts

Combine in the order given, mix thoroughly and pour into an unbaked pie shell. Bake at 400 degrees for ten minutes then reduce temperature to 350 degrees and continue baking until filling is firm. (About 30 minutes.) Fresh fruits such as cherries and currants may be used in place of raisins, if desired. This recipe is sufficient to fill an 8-inch pie shell.

VOLUME 24 — SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 10, 1936 — NUMBER 56

THE EDITOR SAYS—

In the absence of Mayor Fuchs, in attendance at the Lumber Convention in Cape Girardeau, Lon Swanner, while still under the influence of victory, took it upon himself to take over the perogatives of Mayor Fuchs and proceeded to order Bill Cox to vacate the house near the city cemetery and discharge him as grave digger; told Jim Winchester to turn in his push cart, broom and shovel, that he was fired and had a man to report for his job; gave orders to the Robinson Lumber Co., to deliver a carload of cement for North street; gave orders to WPA officials to either pave North street or fill up the hole. Mayor Fuchs was called home from the Cape to keep Swanner from firing the City Council, the Board of Public Works, and perhaps the WPA for not filling up the hole on the North street. Victory is hell, and worse when it makes a man believe he has more authority than old Grant ever had.

It is hard to say whether the intelligentsia won or the intelligentsia lost in the recent city election. However, somebody was outsmarted.

We would like very much for some one with a good lead pencil who is good at figures, to tell us just about the population of Sikeston within the city limits with the vote cast last Tuesday in the city election as a basis. There were 2997 votes counted which should put Sikeston in the ten thousand class according to statistics. As a former distinguished Sikestonian once said, after the defeat of his ticket, "it looks like the damn people intend to rule."

Easter Sunday was a beautiful day, the sun shining bright and Easter clothes in evidence. It was a busy day with the editor and the Missus. She attended early mass enjoyed the service and beautiful flowers and contributed her mite. We put out twenty dahlia bulbs in the forenoon and attended the 11:00 service at the Methodist church, listened to the children's, youths' and Misses' choirs, dressed in white robes, led by Mrs. Orear, noted the wonderful decoration of Easter lilies and other beautiful flowers, listened as carefully as we could to the sermon, contributed in a way to the fund, was greeted by well-wishers who seemed to be surprised that we came out, and felt like we would like to be a better man. Then home where a very splendid dinner was served with Mary, and her family of DeSoto, and Charlie and his family present to help us pick the bones of two chickens that cost $3.25. To settle our dinner, we put out nineteen more dahlia bulbs, rested, then to the Baptist church in the evening to witness a pageant directed by Mrs. Ogilvie. The singing was satisfying and the pageant pleasant. We know who was the prettiest actress, but we are not saying. Here again we were happy to place our bit in the hat. We were asked if we were not ashamed to put out the flowers on Sunday, but we were not. They were put out in the hope and belief they would bring happiness and good cheer to those who are sick and cannot come out to hear the messages and prayers given by priest and preacher, and these flowers delivered in person with words of encouragement may offset on the day of judgment the thought of working on Sunday, which was a labor of love.

The Standard is in receipt of an anonymous letter telling of the crookedness of the late city election, of the illegal votes cast, and a mess of other stuff that seems to be true. If the writer will come in and sign his name to the article we might consider publishing same, but as the election is over we hesitate to use our columns for further agitation. If our anonymous letter writer can prove what he writes, it would be the right thing to do to have some arrests made and get someone on the way to the penitentiary at the earliest possible date.

The Board of Equalization or review in session today should check up on the property of white people who make a business of building and renting cabins to negroes for gain, and raise the valuation of the property to at least half the rent secured from this source. Those who have the cabins for their own servants should not come under such valuation raise. Several property owners in the residential sections of the city have from three to six families living on their premises and their property valuation should certainly be raised. And, again, Sunset addition was set aside for these people, and there they should be housed, given better streets, more electric lights, fire protection and full police protection. We are unable to find out just how permits were gotten for these cabins, but the back yards and alleys should be cleaned out or valuation raised. Some folks won't like this suggestion.

Republican newspapers are harping long and loud about how hard up the country is, but evidently the Republican National committee has more money than ever before, for it is offering even Democratic newspapers free plate service on all publicity stuff.—Illmo Jimplicute.

Funds Released For New, Partly Finished Semo WPA Projects

The receipt of additional April WPA allocations totaling $23,747 to start thirteen new WPA projects in five Southeast Missouri counties and 47,789 to continue sixteen already underway was announced Friday by C. L. Blanton, Jr., ninth area WPA director. Funds for four new projects and for four partly completed in Mississippi county were received earlier last week.

Work on the new projects is to be started the first of this week. Men employed will be taken from projects just finished or from those on which personnel is too large. Mr. Blanton's rolls of 4831 are to be reduced to 4592 by Wednesday.

A list of the new projects for which funds were released Friday, together with descriptions, is printed below.

Cape Girardeau county—Improve buildings and grounds of the Millersville school, $674 released, $1010.50 needed, 13 men to be employed. Build sidewalks at Jackson, $2082, the project to be completed at a cost of $5233.70 with 38 men working.

Carter county—Construct 2:53 miles of farm-to-market road on Route SN., $2266 released, $25,-266.03 needed, 66 men. Build 8875 feet of new watermains and repair and gravel streets at Van Buren, $1501 of $3349 needed released, 30 men.

Dunklin county—Lay new watermains in Campbell, $1941 allotted of $5766.75 needed, 40 men.

Pemiscot county—Grade and gravel Wardell streets, $1518 released, $2333.50 needed, 32 men. Widen Ward avenue from Seventh street to the city limits of Caruthersville, $1887 received, $7610 needed, 49 men. Grade and gravel roads in the Pascola special road district, $2174 of $13,941.25 needed, 45 men. Grade and gravel Deering special roads, $2830, project to cost $9733 and employ 39 men. EMILY BLANTON ENGAGED TO LARRY HATFIELD

Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Blanton announce the engagement of their daughter, Emily Ann, to Larry Hatfield of St. Louis, a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Hatfield of Sikeston.

The wedding will take place at the home of the prospective bride's parents at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, May 31. The Rev. E. H. Orear, pastor of the Methodist church, will read the service.

Miss Blanton attended Blue Mountain College at Blue Mountain, Miss., for two years after her graduation from the Sikeston high school. She has also been enrolled at summer sessions of the Kirksville and the Cape Girardeau state teachers' colleges. She taught two years at the Blodgett consolidated school and since last fall has been a second grade instructor at the Sikeston grammar school.

Mr. Hatfield attended school in St. Louis. He is now employed in the office of Swift & Company in St. Louis, where the couple will live.

Washington Comment

Congress continues to busy itself with routine affairs which, after all, are things that have to receive attention. If the members of the chief legislative body were kept continually at the pitch represented by Daniel Webster's reply to Mr. Haynes, a Congressman could last no longer than a session or two. When such matters as old age pensions or building more war ships come up, the public takes notice, but is inclined to think that at other times Congress is asleep or playing golf. Representatives get little credit for the daily grind, which is as tiresome on Capitol Hill as in the store, office or workshop. Though foreign affairs, especially insofar as they relate to our island possessions, are receiving attention, and although banking and commerce always furnish problems that require new or amended laws, tax legislation perhaps is the load that burdens congressional shoulders most just now. Committee hearings sometimes on taxes sometimes have been red hot of late. Speaking of taxes, who would want to be a Representative at the present time? On the one hand, money for the conduct of the federal government must be provided, but that argument does not have a great deal of force in winning the vote of a wavering constituent whose pocket is shallow and empty; and it is to be recalled that election is coming on. Someone should invent a system of fiscal dentistry by which the individual tax tooth can be extracted without pain.

The Hauptmann case is surrounded by a desert of talk. Amid the dreary waste of contention and debate, the department of Doctor Condon constitutes a welcome and cooling oasis. He is one of the few who has no comment to make.

Italy has prepared a decree making training in aviation compulsory for all young men whose brains and bodies fit them for the task. This should not be passed over casually as a mere war measure. The time will come when operating a flying machine will mean no more than driving an auto. Millions now living can remember the time when the owner of a new flivver brought the blush of shame to the cheeks of his neighbors by inquiring haughtily: "Do you drive a car?"

Hungary has forbidden the singing of a song that prompted a score of dwellers in that land to committ suicide. Not a little of the music that is poured into the ears of listeners in the United States makes them yearn to kill the composer. Possibly we too are in need of the restraining hand of the law.

Mr. Hitler has been upheld in another election, about 98 per cent of the votes cast being in his favor. The tickets contained no space in which to record disapproval and blank ballots were thrown out. The referendum indicates, nevertheless, that Germany is satisfied with her leader; but the method of voting reminds one just a little of the cry of the man who used to follow the county affairs: "Walk up, ladies and gents. No blanks on the board.'

A few months ago, a Persian diplomat drove his car at too high a speed through a Maryland village and was taken in charge by the police. He claimed diplomatic immunity from arrest, was released and apologies were tendered. Now the ruler of Persia has recalled all representatives of his government in the United States because the state department of this country will not suppress newspapers which intimated that a speeding diplomat ought, in justice, to be handled like any other speeder. The action of the Shan of Persia indicates that Persia has a distorted view point and is but partly civilized. Though hardly couched in the language of diplomacy, a note reading "Go chase yourself" seems to be what the situation deamnds.

NO FINES TO BE STAYED IN CITY COURT THIS TERM

No fines will be stayed in police court, Judge Brown Jewell announced this week.

Jewell said persons who are fined must either pay or work on the city streets. If a defendant who pleads guilty has a job and is able to pay a fine later, Jewell will allow him to fill a reliable bond and then will defer sentence. Jewell said he will also try to collect all outstanding fines on the police court books.

Robert Lee, who was arrested Wednesday night, pled guilty Friday to a charge of being drunk and disorderly and was fined $8.

Sentence was deferred until April 25 on the case of James Lacy, who was arrested Friday on a charge of fighting with Thomas Vaught. Lacy made bond. A warrant has been issued for Vaught but he had not been arrested by Monday afternoon.

Jewell issued a commitment Friday for Lowell Grissom, who was fined $10 March 30 when he was brought into court and charged with drunkenness. He is now in jail.

Ward Grocery to Open Soon

Workmen were busy last week-end and Monday remodeling the South Kingshighway rooms formerly occupied by the Southside grocery and cage for the grocery store Carr Ward of Poplar Bluff will open soon. Shelves were installed and some stock brought in. Ward owns thirty-three stores in this district.

NINE CHILDREN BAPTIZED AT METHODIST CHURCH

Nine children were baptized at a service in the Methodist church Sunday morning.

They are William Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harper; Anna Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hollenbeck; Edwin Joseph, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Malone; Elizabeth Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ross; James Harlan and Betty Louise, children of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Mahew; Margaret Alice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Marshall; Samuel Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Tanner; and Jerry McMullin, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Conatser.

FOR RENT—2-room furnished apartment. Mrs. Maude Sitzes, 204 N. Scott St. tf-57

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Scott expect to drive to St. Louis Friday afternoon and attend the wedding of Mr. Scott's niece, Miss Glenda Tweddle and Weston McElhaney, which will occur that evening.

COUNTY SOCIAL WORKERS ARE RESPONSIBLE TO MRC

Welfare workers for counties continuing services under the Missouri relief commission "will be wholly responsible" to the commission, Wallace Crossley, the state administrator, said in an open letter to relief heads.

"Any deviation from, or violation of the rules and regulations of the commission governing its various activities will constitute a reason for withdrawal of any commission support," he announced. "We must keep faith with Washington,—merit a continuance of government aid."

Crossley briefly outlined the work of county welfare officers for which they will be responsible to the commission, mentioning commodities they may give either to employables or unemployable families or individuals for whom a relief need has been established. WPA families and old age pensions are not eligible to receive commodities, he said. Neither are persons who received rural rehabilitation grants except when production commodities included in the budget estimates were not available in the county relief offices before cases were closed.

County welfare workers also certified persons to WPA, refer them to RRA, and enroll them in CCC camps in accordance with policies already established.

"We recognize that the activities for which the county social worker is responsible to the commission will require only a portion of his or her time," Crossley said in closing. "Therefore, those services requested by the county court, or sponsoring agency, in connection with relief or service to needy persons in the county should be performed. It is the desire of the commission to work in harmony and in close co-operation with the county courts of the on with the county courts of state," he added, "and we feel sure that the courts will uphold the social workers in their endeavors to follow strictly all rules and regulations imposed upon the commission by the government. To become lax, or inefficient, or to yield to local pressure in the designation of relief clients, certification, selection of CCC enrollees, etc., would endanger the entire program and might deprive Missouri of government aid and participation in certain governmental activities.

WPA Approves Unit of Storm Sewer Project

C. L. Blanton, Jr., announced Monday that he has rectived notice of presidential approval on one unit of Sikeston's $205,000 WPA storm sewer project.

The approved unit project provides for the manufacture and installation of 1138 feet of sewer main in the north part of town. One thousand one hundred and thirty-eight dollars are now available to start work on the project, which will require $29,264 for completion. Mr. Blanton said, however, he will not ask for release of funds until May. Present allocation of money for new and old projects is sufficient to keep WPA employes at work this month.

According to plans prepared last fall by Harvey Johnson, the engineer in charge of city WPA projects, the sewer will be started at Grove and Park avenues with a thirty-six-inch reinforced concrete pipe of the lockjoint type. The pipe will be increased to forty-two inches, extending to Park and Woodlawn and angle under the northwest corner of the athletic field to Bulldog street, then east and under Highway 61 to an open ditch.

If funds are available, laterals will be laid to drain North Kingshighway, North Ranney, Center, Lake, and Tanner streets, and in the future, the line may be extended north to serve a large territory along North Kingshighway now uninhabitated.

Work will begin on the north outfall because laborers may start constructing the open ditch during the time required to make and cure sufficient pipe for the main line. The WPA intends to contract with a reliable pipe manufacturer for the precasting of the pipe at a central plant near the south section outfall sewer, using Sikeston WPA labor.

The city has already agreed to contribute from municipal funds $3229.60, which represents the sponsor's share for the entire project. City money will be spent for these items: Cement, $1965.60; sand, $225; gravel, $139; and lumber, $900.

Hayti Child Hurt In Unavoidable Accident

Three-year-old Byron Jackson Masterson was recovering in the Southeast Missouri hospital at Cape Girardeau last week-end of a fracture of the skull and of the left clavical bone in the shoulder, sustained when he was struck down by Miss Maxine Husher's car as he ran across Malone avenue in front of the Marshall hotel Thursday evening. Byron is a son of H. Byron Masterson of Hayti, a state high school inspector, and Mrs. Masterson.

Physicians described the child's condition as serious but not critical after he regained consciousness Friday morning. He had also suffered lacerations on his head and thigh.

The accident happened when Byron left his mother and Mrs. Louis Largent, and her daughter, Mary Lou, and ran into the street. He was thrown several feet as Miss Husher's car hit him. The Largents and the Mastersons had just finished eating dinner in the Marshall hotel coffee shop.

Miss Husher told highway patrolmen that she did not see Byron until he had run directly in front of her Chevrolet sedan. She stopped as soon as she could, but she was unable to keep from striking him. The accident was termed unavoidable.

The Mastersons had been in Sikeston all Thursday so that Mr. Masterson could visit the schools. Trooper Melvin Dace took Byron to the hospital.

Work On Five New WPA Jobs To Start In May

Presidential approval of five new WPA projects for Southeast Missouri communities was announced Monday by C. L. Blanton, Jr., ninth area WPA director. Work on the new undertakings will not be started until May.

They are:

Raze two-story high and elementary school building and construct new combined one-story high and elementary school and gymnasium building, landscape and grade grounds, and build retaining walls at Ellsinore in Carter county. The project is to cost $41,751; $1132 has been released.

Build addition to the present Charter Oak school in Stoddard county and paint the entire structure. One thousand one hundred and thirty-three dollars has been set aside to begin work on the project, which will require $3210.

Build accessory school building 40 by 80 feet at Glennonville, Dunklin county. The project will cost $5881 and $1136 has been allotted to start it.

Grade, build drainage structure, and gravel surface North Sprigg street in Cape Girardeau between Washington and Pearl streets. $1139 has been released; the project will cost $4576.

Plant trees and shrubs and work along Highway 61 in Cape Girardeau, New Madrid, and Pemiscot counties. $1128 of the $6783 needed has been allocated for the project. The part of Highway 61 in Scott county was landscaped by the highway department last summer.

Mr. Blanton has received an additional $2573 for work on the Chaffee streets.

INTERMEDIATE G. A. TO MEET TONIGHT

The Intermediate G. A. of the First Baptist church will meet at the home of Shirley Jean Smith this (Tuesday) evening. All members are invited to be present.

STOLEN CAR FOUND

A 1935 Ford V-8 stolen Friday night from its parking place by the Gables was found Saturday morning on a rural road by Hart's cemetery, where it had been abandoned. It was damaged from being driven into a stump. Officers arrested but later released two suspects. The car was owned by Mitchell-Sharp Chevrolet Company and was being driven by R. D. Clayton at the time of the theft.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Tweddle of St. Louis, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Scott.

Sam Graham and Miss Mildred Simmons of the Graham Beauty Shop, and Mrs. Opal Brady of Illmo, went to Memphis, Monday afternoon to attend the Midwest Beauty Convention at the Peabody Hotel. They will return here Wednesday.

The condition of Mrs. Jack Johnson, who underwent an operation at St. Francis hospital in Cape Girardeau nearly two weeks ago, is not satisfactory at this time. An infection in the operated area has developed and caused high temperature. The operating surgeon has assured Mr. Johnson that the condition is not yet alarming.

ISSUES LAST APPEAL FOR FLOOD DONATIONS

The Rev. E. H. Orear issued a last appeal Monday for contributions to fill the Scott county Red Cross chapter quota of $135 for flood victims in the east.

By now, Scott countians have donated only about $85, and Mr. Orear is anxious that the remainder be subscribed so that it may be forwarded to Red Cross headquarters for immediate use. Several business firms and individuals here have failed to contribute.

Mr. and Mrs. Giles Dover and family departed for their home in New York City, Monday, after a ten-days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dover.

Mrs. Woolard Baker and two children returned to their home in Memphis Sunday after a week-end visit with Mrs. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dover.

Mrs. Charles Matthews, III, little daughter, Dot, and Mrs. Anna Winchester drove to Cairo Saturday, where they met Mrs. Robt. Lillard of Arlington, Ky., and little Ann Stokes, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Stokes, of Mayfield, Ky., who visited here until Tuesday. Mrs. Lillard was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Matthews, and Ann Stokes visited her grandmother, Mrs. Winchester.

The Monday night club will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Mow, Sr., this week.

POPLAR BLUFF NEWSPAPER PUBLISHER IS HONORED

Prominent newspaper publishers and educators of the state went to Poplar Bluff Friday evening to celebrat with members of the Daily American Republic staff the formal opening of their new home.

John Wolpers, the American Republic publisher, Mrs. Wolpers, and staff members were guests of honor at a dinner arranged by Mayor J. C. Allen and Guy Cahill, president of the Poplar Bluff Chamber of Commerce.

As the principal speaker, Secretary of State Dwight H. Brown reviewed the history of newspaper publishing in Poplar Bluff and praised Mr. Wolpers for his successful attempt to give Poplar Bluff and a large district surrounding it a splendid newspaper. Brown, a resident of Poplar Bluff, published a daily paper there until he began devoting his time exclusively to politics.

Dean Frank L. Matron of the University of Missouri's school of journalism, said the America Republic is one of the best newspapers in the United States for a town the Bluff's size and commended Mr. Wolpers for the paper's excellent quality and progressive spirit.

Other speakers were Fred Naeter, co-publisher of The Southeast Missourian in Cape Girardeau, and Dr. Frederick A. Middlebush, president of the University of Missouri.

Guests at the banquet included Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Blanton, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Blanton, Jr., Cletus Shell, and Eli Williams of Sikeston; R. C. Goshorn, publisher of the Jefferson City Tribune and president of the Missouri Press Association; C. W. Keller, field representative of the Missouri Press Association; James Todd and W. T. Van Cleve of the Moberly Democrat; C. E. Watkins of the Chillicothe Constitution; J. H. Anderson, Associated Press correspondent in St. Louis; Mrs. Frederick A. Middlebush and Mrs. Frank L. Martin of Columbia; Dr. T. W. H. Irion, head of the school of education at the University of Missouri, and Mrs. Irion; Dr. W. W. Parker, president of the Cape Girardeau teachers' college, and Mrs. Parker; Dean Vest C. Myers of the College and Mrs. Myers; Dr. S. A. Kruse and Professor and Mrs. A. C. Magill of the college; and many Southeast Missouri newspaper publishers.

Mr. Wolpers, a graduate of the Cape college, first became associated with a Poplar Bluff newspaper in 1916. He started a daily in 1923 and, in 1928 he consolidated Republican and Democratic dailies into one of non-partisan platform. The new building is one bought last summer. It has been fitted with all of the most modern newspaper plant equipment.

GERTRUDE CRUMPECKER WED TO GLENN LAMPLEY

Miss Gertrude Crumpecker, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crumpecker of near Morehouse, and Glenn Lampley, a son of Mrs. E. W .Gibson of Cape Girardeau, were married Friday morning at the First Baptist church in Cape Girardeau.

The Rev. Franklin D. Owen, pastor of the Oak Ridge Baptist church, performed the ceremony. Miss Francina Peters and Joe Delassus were attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Lampley left immediately after the wedding trip. Next week they will be at home in the Leonora apartments in Cape Girardeau.

Mrs. Lampley went to Cape Girardeau to work as a stenographer for the Himmelberger-Harrison Manufacturing Company after attending school in Morehouse and a business college at Poplar Bluff Mr. Lampley was a prominent footpall player both at the Cape Central high school and at the teachers' college, from which he graduated in 1934. He is now a state highway patrolman assigned to the Sikeston office.

SERVES ATTACHMENT TO CLOSE FOX STORE

The Fox Drygoods and Food Store was closed at 6 o'clock Thursday evening when Sheriff Joe Anderson served an attachment for the Sieloss Packing Company of St. Louis. The store owed Sieloss $700 for meat.

Sheriff Anderson found only $6.35 in the store's four cash registers. Friday morning, Blanton & Montgomery, Sieloss' attorneys, obtained a court order for sale of perishable merchandise, and later in the day Anderson auctioned $175 worth of meats and vegetables. The rest of the stock will be held in the store. The suit is scheduled to be heard in circuit court during the August term.

Late Friday afternoon, Blanton & Montgomery filed a petition in involuntary bankruptcy against the store for the McKnight-Keaton Grocery Company, the Goddard Grocery Company, and Winchester, Incorporated, whom Fox owed about $1000. Ernest Harper was appointed temporary receiver. The store's debts are understood to total $15,000.

Herbert E. Fox opened a store here the first of March after closing drygoods businesses in Wyatt and Charleston. Last week he closed his Charleston grocery and moved merchandise here. Senator J. C. McDowell is Fox' attorney.

Safety Meeting Postponed

Because Sunday was Easter, a meeting of the Southeast Missouri public safety council planned for then has been postponed until next Sunday, April 19. Members of all Sikeston's civic club safety committees are asked to attend.

The Standard's sanctum sanctorum was signally honored Saturday forenoon by visits from Hon. Frank Martin, dean of the School of Journalism, University of Missouri; Hon. R. C. Goshorn, president of the Missouri Press Association; Chick Keller, executive secretary of the Missouri Press Association; James Todd and Mr. Vancleve, of the Moberly Index-Monitor; George Johnston, of the Fulton Sun; and C. E. Watkins, of the Chillicothe Constitution. These gentlemen viewed The Standard's art gallery, but without alarm. It was our pleasure to show these gentlemen the interior of our beautiful bank building, and to do as much bragging on our city and community as they would stand for.

A man said Sikeston was twenty-five years ahead of the times in building and business and twenty-five years behind the times in streets and sewerage. All of which is true. Sikeston folks should snap out of this situation and Council and civic organizations should get together and see if there isn't some way that a forward move can be made to remedy this situation. Why couldn't each of the Wards be divided into districts, like special road districts, and vote bonds or tax bills for sewers? Then the Council already has the authority to levy a tax of 65 cents per running foot for street maintenance which would soon pay for paving, in fact if something could be done immediately the WPA could pay most of the bill. All of this just a suggestion as we are interested in surface drainage and to have another paved street on the other side of our property.

Sunday was Easter. Every preacher took special care with his sermon, which was a waste of time because the minds of ma and the girls were on their new clothes while the mind of poor pa was on what they cost.

Sikeston needs a registration law the worst possible way, and we believe the voters of Sikeston would be glad to have the council pass such a law at the earliest possible moment. Such a law would save a lot of confusion and a lot of charges and counter-charges that are made locally after every election.

A negro man was on the stand as a character witness, was asked if he knew Sarah Jane, and how she stood in the community as to truth and veracity. His answer was that some say she do and some say she don't.

It would be hard for any opponent of the New Deal to convince Rufus Underhill and John T. Harper that times are not better today for the farmers than they were four years ago under the Hoover administration. In talking with these men this week we learned that Rufus sold a ham a few days ago that brought him $7.80. In contrast with this price for only a small part of a hog he recalled that in 1932 he sold a sow and 9 good pigs for six dollars and that the purchaser insisted on delivery before paying that much. John Harper delivered 236 bushels of corn to Sikeston a few days ago for $236.00. He recalled that a few years ago the best offer he could get for good corn was 20c a bushel. With this substantial evidenre in their jeans there's no need for any G. O. P. exponent to try to convince them with pure verbage.—Bloomfield Vindicator.

Rattlesnake sandwiches were eaten by a large number of Paris men and boys last Friday afternoon. They were made from canned rattlesnake meat that was brought from Florida by M. E. Buerk. Mr. Buerk paid $1.50 per can for the meat and the cans were quite small. He did not go to that expense just for the fun of the thing but in order to sustain his reputation for truth and veracity. After a previous trip to Florida Martin told about rattlesnake meat being on sale down there. He was laughed to scorn by unbelieving friends. This time he let the rattlesnake meat speak for itself. It was canned in a factory at Arcadia. The snakes used are six feet long and five inches in circumference. The flavor, according to Paris men and boys who tried it last Friday, was delicious.—Paris Appeal.

MISS ALMA BUCHHOLZ IS BRIDE OF HOMER SUCHMAN

Miss Alma Buchholz, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Buchholz, was married in the Lutheran church at 1:30 Sunday afternoon to Homer Suchman, a son of Mrs. Olga Suchman.

Before the Rev. Martin Cook of Chaffee, the pastor, read the service, Miss Zelma Shelby of Marmaduke, Ark., a cousin of the bride, played Wagner's Lohengrin wedding march. The auditorium was decorated with bleeding hearts, hyacinths, calla lilies and lilacs.

The bride was dressed in a white silk crepe gown of floor length. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Evelyn Rummel of DeSoto, her cousin and attendant, was dressed in a pink gown and carried pink carnations. William Suchman was groomsman for his brother.

Guests at a reception held at the P. H. Buchholz home after the wedding included these friends and relatives from out-of-town: John Suchman, a brother of the bridegroom, Miss Vera Sheedy, and Mrs. Bertha Rummel, a grandmother of the bride, all of St. Louis; Frank Bernasek and Charles Bernasek of Chester, Ill.; Alfred Moureau, a grandfather of the bridegroom, and Arnold Thies, an uncle of Ava, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wischeropp and Miss Rhoda Lorenz of DeSoto; Mrs. Ida S. Turley and Mrs. Eunice Childress of Cape Girardeau; and Edward Shelby, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Amelia Buchholz, her grandmother, of Marmaduke.

Biggest Still Confiscated

The largest still of its kind ever taken in Southeast Missouri was confiscated near Marston late Thursday and one man arrested, E. C. Liley, a member of the federal revenue squad in this district, announced. The still was a copper one of 250-gallon capacity.

LATHOMS CALLED TO IND. AFTER RELATIVE'S DEATH

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Lathom left Saturday morning for Princeton, Ind., to attend the funeral services Sunday afternoon for J. R. Brown, Mr. Lathom's brother-in-law.

Mr. Brown, a 60-year-old farmer of near Princeton, died suddenly Friday morning. He is survived only by his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Lathom returned late Sunday night.

TWO BOYS ROW DOWN DITCH TO NEW MADRID

Moore Greer, Jr., and Charles Beal had close views of the high water last week-end.

Going to the drainage ditch near the Gables Friday afternoon, they set out in a row boat Moore made several years ago and went slowly down the stream that grows larger with water from many small laterals.

Both Friday and Saturday nights they slept on the levees, but they were molested by no larger creatures than a mouse that crawled up Moore's leg one evening. Once they killed and ate a rabbit marooned on a small strip of land surrounded by flood water, and early Sunday they swam in the Mississippi river at New Madrid, where their journey ended.

G. Moore Greer met the boys at New Madrid Sunday to carry them and the boat home.

NORTH STREET PAVING TO BE COMPLETED FRIDAY

The North street block between Kingshighway and New Madrid will be half paved by noon today (Tuesday), Harvey Johnson said yesterday.

Men first begai pouring concrete Saturday but were forced to stop when rain fell. They were on duty all Monday, however, and by early afternoon had completed work on more than half of the north strip.

Paving of the south strip will be started as soon as all work of the subgrade is finished. Mr. Johnson expects North street to be completely paved by Friday unless rain falls. Later this week, excavation on North Kingshighway will be started to that paving may be begun next week.

Mrs. E. C. Matthews entertained the members of the Bergman family of Cape Girardeau, Sunday, at her home on North Kingshighway. In the afternoon, the junior members enjoyed an Easter egg hunt in the spacious grounds.

HIGHWAY EMPLOYES TO BUILD HOUSES SOON

John A. Loung issued building permits Monday to Rey Wedel and to C. C. Wilkerson, both employes at the division ten offices of the state highway office.

Wedel will construct a five-room house with bath on lot two, block five, of the high school addition at an estimated cost of $2500.

Wilkinson's five-room house with a bath and full basement is to be built on lot two, block one, of the Parkland addition. It will cost about $3500.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Matthews son Bob, and Mrs. Bettie Matthews were dinner guests of Mrs. Scott Alexander in Charleston, Sunday.

Mrs. A. C. Sikes will entertain the Friday afternoon bridge club this week in her home on South Kingshighway.

PERTINENT PARAGRAPHS FROM PARIS APPEAL

There is another interesting thing about boards of education. They seldom are composed of educated men.

Well, it does look like we righteous Democrats get all the breaks. Our latest piece of luck is in New Jersey where the antics of Governor Hoffman, a Republican, gives us an open road to victory next fall.

Public schools in both town and country have a fundamental fault. It is their indifference to spelling, punctuation, capitalization and penmanship. Too many teachers consider these things unimportant, and too few of them could make passable grades on any of these items.

We know a problem that is going to cause our Republican friends a lot of more perplexity than the problem of how to overcome Boss Pendergast here in Missouri. It is the problem of how to get any of the Republican papers in Kansas City to join with them in their comic opera war on Uncle Tom.

There's a reason why we the people do not worry because the American dollar is worth only 59c. It is because we can still buy 20 pounds of sugar or a dollar's worth of taxes with one of them. And even the rich fellers who say it is a debased dollar continue to chase it as though it were worth having. Not even Mr. Hoover would sell one of them for 99c.

The Germans have built another Zeppelin and flown it safely across the Atlantic. They have been doing this for 20 years, without the loss of a ship. England and the United States have built many Zeppelins during that time every one of which has met with disaster. The lesson, we suppose, is that we should quit trying to fly such ships or else get some honest construction jobs.

Another bad sign of the times is the passing of the goose egg, the duck egg, the turkey egg and the guinea egg as an occasional table delicacy. Back in the days of real sport our mother served each of these varieties, hard boiled, to every child at least once during the spring. They were great occasions and many were the myths that were built about each variey. We haven't seen a goose egg in twenty years. They probably would not look half as big now as the did in childhood. No little folk should be allowed to grow up without experiencing the thrill of having a hard boiled goose egg for breakfast.

In Virginia, according to press clippings we have received from a former Monroe county citizen, D. D. Pierce, the people are to vote on the matter of reducing the number of counties from 100 to 31 through a consolidation plan. This, of course, would save huge sums to the taxpayers. But the average tax-payer is about his county as he is about his school district. He would rather keep it as it is than to reduce his tax bill by increasing its size. Here in Monroe county we could effect large savings to ourselves by having 50 instead of 90 school districts, and with no harm to the cause of education, but the people would rather have little districts and big levies than big districts and little levies.

LITTLE RIVER DRAINAGE DISTRICT FILES PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY AT CAPE

The Little river drainage district has filed a petition in bankruptcy in the Cape Girardeau federal court, availing itself of the provisions of section eighty of the amended bankruptcy act recently held constitutional by the circuit court of appeals for the fifth circuit at New Orleans.

The petition shows that the district has outstanding bonds in the sum of $8,018,000. Default was made in the payment of both principal and interest on October 1, 1929.

The action was made necessary because of owners of 2.4 per cent of the outstanding bonds refused to accept the RFC debt readjustment plan, a statement by Oliver & Oliver, the district's attorneys, said. The plan provided for payment of the principal of the bonds on the basis of 30 cents on the dollar with nothing for interest.

111 RECRUITS REPORT TO DISTRICT CCC CAMPS

Southeast Missouri's quota of 111 white and negro CCC recruits reported Friday morning at various district CCC camps and at the United States army recruiting station in Poplar Bluff.

Butler county's twenty white men went to the station in the Bluff,, as did Dunklin's ten white recruits. Cape Girardeau county's fifteen whites were sent to the Perryville CCC camp and its two negroes to the Delta camp, as were Scott county's three negro corps members.

Ten whites from Mississippi, fifteen from New Madrid, twelve from Scott, and ten from Stoddard counties reported at the New Madrid CCC camp. Mississippi and New Madrid counties sent five negroes each, Stoddard two, and Butler, two, to the camp near Poplar Bluff.

COLLECTOR'S CASE MAY GO TO JURY

Charleston, Mo., April 10—State Auditor Forrest Smith will be asked for a detailed audit covering the past five years in the accounts of Alice G. Lee, former county treasurer, Wm. J. Melton, presiding judge of the county said today. The action will be taken, he said, in line with a request of Prosecuting Attorney James Haw.

Haw explained the information would be presented to a special grand jury, which he will ask to be called when circuit court convenes Monday.

Auditors in charge of the work here, acting on orders of their superior, said no audit more in detail than the one filed four weeks ago would be prepared. That report revealed net shortage of $57,000 in the collector's accounts.

Balanced Meals for Spring Tonic

Far better than the old-fashioned remedy of sulphur and molasses to chase away spring fever, is the assurance that your meals are entirely adequate, and just to make assurance doubly sure, let's check up on nutritional requirements.

The whole year around, according to Inez S. Wilson, home economist, the body needs and must have high-quality proteins to build and repair body tissues; it needs iron and copper for building rich red blood; it must have calcium and phosphorus for strong bones and teeth; it must have the vitamins necessary for health. In foods, this means meat, fresh vegetables and fruits, and dairy products, and then after those items are supplied enough other foods chosen as you wish to furnish the additional energy needed for the day's activity.

The value of sulphur and molasses, according to medical men, lies in its influence on the blood. However, modern scientists have learned that one of the important factors in building rich blood is the supply of iron and copper in the diet, iron because it is an essential part of red blood cells and copper because it seems to be necessary in order for iron to be assimilated by the body. Both of these elements are found in all meats, but especially in the glandular meats, such as liver, heart, and kidneys. Liver leads all other foods in its iron and copper content, and as a result is the chief blood-building food advocated in the treatment of anemia, a condition in which the red blood cells of the body are depleted.

It was an old Egyptian custom to paint the figure of an enemy on the soles of one's sandals—so he could be insulted daily by treading him under foot.

James A. Reed, speaking to a meeting of the GOP, recently avowed he still remains a Democrat. He may be able to get a few Republicans to believe that.—Pulaski County Democrat.

A Selected Editorial

Looks like a good year for the Democrats. A few months ago the Republicans had their day, or believed they were having it when the supreme court and Al Smith collaborated in handing out a varied assortment of attacks on the New Deal and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Some of this community's most ardent Democrats expressed worry over what they believed to be a trend away from the principles they espoused. All of them are resting easy now and express the belief the assault of the supreme court and the childish threat of Al Smith did more to make the country Roosevelt-minded than any other thing. And it is quite noticeable how anti-administration leaders are now agreeing Roosevelt is assured of another term.

Frank R. Kent, among the most bitter columinsts with regard to the president, says there is no longer worry in the high council of the Democratic party. Henry Haskell, Republican editor of the Kansas City Star, says his party will have to change its present plans if it is to get anywhere. Senator Carter Glass, Democratic insurgent who has seldom if ever agreed with Roosevelt, is now stating he will support him. And whoever the Republicans nominate to oppose Roosevelt is going to be the wrong man with a large section of his party.—Shelbina Democrat.

There are seven ropes in a ship; they are:—manrope, headrope, handrope, footrope, bellrope, buoyrope, and diprope.

The U. S. Navy has had but four fleet actions, but in each one it captured and destroyed every enemy ship.

Deacon: "Why does you all preach that the infernal regions is covered with ice and snow?"

Parson: "Wal, if I done tole them it was everlasting fire down thar all the rheumatic niggers in my congregation would try to flock there."

NOT MANY BOLTERS

The "Democrats" who will bolt President Roosevelt are few in number, far between, and destitute of influence. It is significant that, eight months before the election, powerful leaders are declaring their fealty to the President and perhaps more significant that Republican officials are also coming out in support of the Democratic national ticket.

In California Senator Johnson is openly advocating the reelection of Mr. Roosevelt, although the Senator styles himself a Republican. The Republican Governor, Mr. Merriam, recently said something about our heaven-sent President and how necessary he was to the national well-being. Mr. Johnson might or might not need Mr. Roosevelt later on. Mr. Merriam needs him now. The fact is, the President is stronger in California than even the state political idols.

Senator Tydings of Maryland and Mayor Jackson of Baltimore are both proclaiming their loyalty, although both have differed at times with administration aims. The Senator and the Mayor are very influential men; the former, indeed, is said to have built up a most far-reaching organization. But are they as strong in Maryland as Mr. Roosevelt? It may well be questioned if they are. Students of politics who like to see things as they are recognize in the President a man having a tremendous hold on the popular imagination. He is the hope and faith of vast elements whose votes determine election results.

The Democrats need entertain no fears of a bolt of magnitude. In point of fact, self-proclaimed Democrats who berate the President so roundly are ultra-conservative Republicans. They are the very people who have so often led the Democratic party to disaster, the people responsible for the crazy idea that the Democrats could only win by courting the favor of the Tories. As our own State Chairman Aylward has said, the Democratic party is inherently progressive and forward looking, and only in this role can it succeed. It is succeeding now because it is faithful to its natural philosophy.

Politics has been reshuffled; there can be no doubt about this. Mr. Roosevelt has cut squarely across the face of all the political elements of the country. He has divested the Democratic party of the idea that it should be controlled by "Wall Street", and he has attracted to it millions of people who are interested in a measure of personal security rather than a mere political designation. The reactionaries have their party. Let them keep it. The Democrats will remain liberal and so long as liberalism guides them they will win. The prospective bolters belong in the opposition party, and they will confer a favor on the Democrats by getting out and staying out.—Missouri Democrat.

The original forest cover of the state amounted to 32,000,000 acres, or 72 per cent of the total land area. All of this land with exceptions of 3,500,000 acres was covered with good commercial timber. It is now estimated that less than 250,000 acres of virgin timber remains.

The first American flag to fly over a foreign fortress was raised on anuary 27, 1778, when the American ship Providence captured a British fort at New Providence in the West Indies. The flag was raised, guns spiked, all ammunition removed, three hundred small arms taken, twenty American prisoners of war released, and the Providence sailed with six prize vessels.

GOLF GLEANINGS

By George W. Kirk.
Club Secretary

Recently the golfers of Sikeston reorganized their club and adopted a new plan of organization. Murray Phillips was elected president, Ted Martin, vice-president, and George W. Kirk, secretary-treasurer. The name for the new organization is The Sikeston Golf Club.

The new organization has leased the golf grounds from the Sikeston Realty Company, the owner of this forty-acre tract, and will be responsible for the operation of the golf course for the ytar 1936.

A new mowing machine has been purchased and is now ready for operation. A Fordson tractor has been obtained and will be used to pull the tandem mowing machine. By this means, it will be possible to mow the entire course in one and a half days, whereas it formerly required four days by mule power. The course is now being rolled with a five-ton power roller brought in from Poplar Bluff for this purpose. As a result, the course can be kept in much better condition than formerly.

A group insurance policy has been taken out by the Sikeston golf club from damage suits or litigation arising from injuries sustained on the club grounds by any one. This does not protect the individual member for injuries he might inflict but does protect the club.

Twenty-five new members have joined the club and are now learning the fine points of the game. Golf is rapidly becoming the real natinoal game of America. More individuals play golf now in America than actually participate in any other form of sport, and more money is invested in golf equipment than in any other sport equipment. It is expected that an additional ten or twelve will avail themselves of the special rate of $15 for full privileges for the remainder of 1936. This offer must be accepted at the 20th of April. In addition to this special rate now open to those who desire to learn this fascinating game, several of the veteran golfers of the club have volunteered their services in teaching the beginners the game. The local club does not have a professional instructor this year, but experienced members of the club will assist the new members in acquiring the proper form.

It has also been decided by the club that ladies' memberships for the remainder of this year can be obtained for the sum of only $10. Quite a number of women have already been playing the course. It is hoped that larger numbers will become interested in the game.

Two matches have been scheduled with the strong Blytheville club, but the exact dates have not yet been agreed upon. This provides a schedule of eight matches for this season. In all probability, two additional matches will be scheduled with Dexter, Cairo, or Poplar Bluff, clubs which are not in the same division of the league.

The new golf club now numbers sixty members. It is hoped to increase the club to at least seventy-five members for the year.

Death of John T. Davis, Merchant Prince of St. Louis

The commercial history of Missouri presents few more phenomenally successful business careers than that of John T. Davis, whose death occurred on April 13, 1894, forty-two years ago this week. Yet this man, who is at the age of forty-nine left an estate said to be valued at nearly $20,000,000 is now almost forgotten.

Not only "one of the best known western merchants, "Mr. Davis an active investor in the three great boom projects of his day—banks, railroads, and real estate. He inherited a fortune of $3,000,000, and his remarkable success in increasing that fortune proved him a commercial genius.

Born on September 13, 1844, in St. Louis, he was educated in the public schools of the city. In 1863, he graduated from Washington University—a member of the second class to complete a four-year course at that school. Immediately afterward he went into his father's firm, the Samuel C. Davis Company, one of the oldest wholesale firms in the city.

In 1867, at the age of twenty-three, young Davis married Maria J. Filley, daughter of a former mayor of St. Louis. In this same year he was taken into partnership in the firm of which, on the death of his father some few years later, he became sole head.

From that time, Davis' career was characteristic of his energy and farsightedness as a business man. According to the customs of earlier days, the Samuel C. Davis Company under which name the firm continued to operate, sold an assortment of staple articles most in demand in the city. Young Davis, however, realizing the possibilities of specialization and foreseeing its inevitableness in industry, disposed of all side departments and confined the business to the sale of wholesale drygoods. That his action was wise was confirmed by the fact that by the '80s, according to Scharf, the drygoods trade in St. Louis had expanded from humble transactions until it offered a market surpassed by none in the country.

Davis, together with several of his friends, then organized the St. Louis Trust Company in which he became the largest stockholder. Later he was made the vice-president of the State Bank, and still later he acquired stock in other corporations.

Not content, however, with these ventures, Davis made large investments in real estate in the downtown sections of St. Louis, Chicago, New York, and Boston. Owing to the fact that he apparently held no property which brought no return, he seemed, as in all other transactions, to have acquired the proverbial "Midas touch."

In the meantime, he had become a director and investor in the Frisco, the Paducah, Tennessee Alabama, and the Tennessee Midland railroads, and here again his judgment proved astute.

At the close of nearly thirty-one years of active work, John T. Davis, planning to retire, died suddenly at his home in St. Louis. From 1871 until his death in 1894, he was a member of the controlling board of Washington University. In the memorial delivered at his death by an official of that institution, he was spoken of as one "of the best loved benefactors of that institution, its friend as a boy and as a successful business man, to which he had given liberally, but with the least possible ostentation."

INFANTS BAPTIZED AT CHARLESTON M. E. CHURCH

Charleston, Mo., April 7.—The Palm Sunday service held at the Methodist church was largely attended. The vested Choir of young people rendered a beautiful musical program under the direction of Mrs. Moffat Latimer, and the pastor, the Rev. C. P. Throgmorton, delivered a splendid sermon, his topic being "Why the Cross".

An interesting feature of the service was the baptism of the following infants: Paul Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Cornwall; Terry Finley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Hequembourg; James Dennis, and Joella Moore, children of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Thurmond; Paula Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Beasley; Lois Morine, James Warren, and Johnnie Seldon, children of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Cox; Mary Irma and James Hugh, children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson; James William, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. McFadden, Sr.; Rebecca Jane, and John Lindsay, children of Mr. and Mrs. E. Misses Anne Goodin and Ada Hequembourg served at the altar, assisting the pastor, the Rev. C. P. Throgmorton, with the flowers (pink carnations) used in the service and the holding of the silver baptismal bowl.

The outstanding feature of the evening service was the musical reading (following the sermon) King Robert of Sicily by Longfellow and Cole which was given by Mrs. Riley Brown with Mrs. Moffat Latimer accompanist.

NEW SOIL CONSERVATION PROGRAM IS EXPLAINED

Aspects of the new soil conservation program now being presented to farmers were explained last week-end by Leslie B. Broom, the New Madrid county extension agent.

Mr. Broom emphasized particularly that the program is voluntary. There will be no contracts, he said, and no tax on cotton. Neither will there be compliance, but there must be performance. It is impossible to state now the exact amount any farmer will receive as a grant.

Three things Mr. Broom said every farmer must do if he desires to try to qualify are these: he must take a total of all his cultivated acreage (exclusive of wild hay) from which any crop was harvested in 1935, together with all other farm land which is tillable and from which at least one crop (other than wild hay) has been harvested since January 1, 1930; he must get a total of his soil depleting crop acreage such as corn, oats, wheat, barley, rye, and cotton; and he must have a total of his soil conserving crops, such as lespedeza, red, alsike, or crimson clover, alfalfa, soybeans, and cowpeas. This information must be supplied before anything can be done towards deciding whether a farmer will be able to qualify for payment, Mr. Broom said.

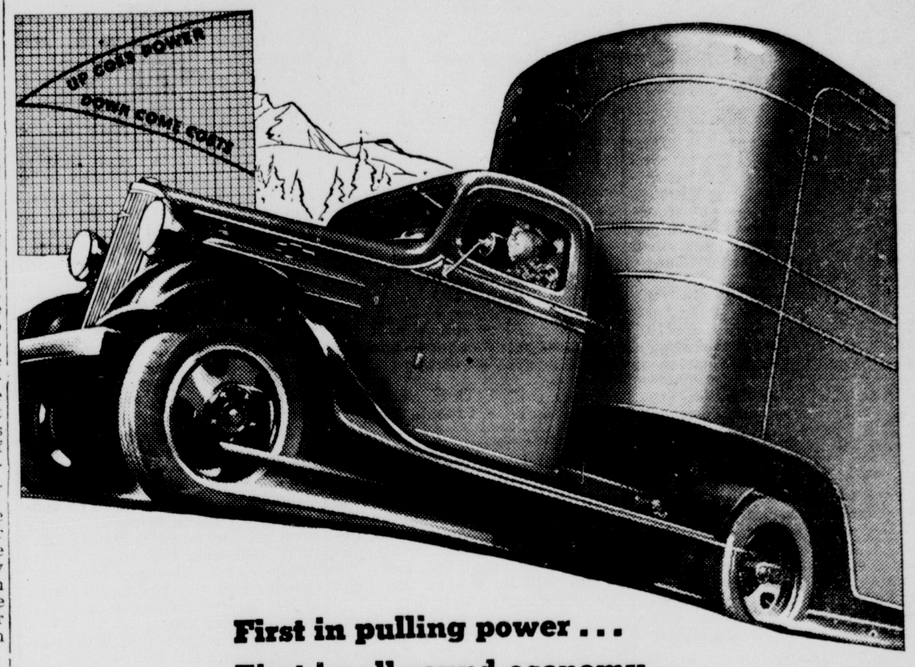

Bases used for the AAA contracts will be continued for determining the payments to be made. Farmers who have no contracts must qualify as to their base acreages for the soil conservation program in the same manner as did those who signed agreements.

There are 19 blind persons out of every 10,000 in Missouri compared with 9 out of every 10,000 of the entire United States including Missouri. One-third of the state's blind pensioners for the bi-ennium period of 1931-32 suffered from trachoma, a disease that is very prevalent throughout many southern counties of the state.

As a manufacturing state, Missouri ranks about eleventh in value of products and thirteenth in the number of wage earners. Of the states west of the Mississippi River, Missouri has been the leader in manufacturing until displaced in recent years by California.

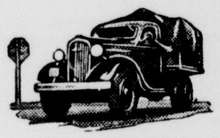

The average date for the last killing frost in the spring comes about the middle of April, and the first killing frost in the fall about the middle of October thus making the average growing season for the state about 180 days long.

Charles Ferdinand Wilmar, Missouri's great painter of Indian life, lived among the Indian tribes along the upper Missouri River at intervals for six years studying the native types their habits and home life. As a result he is ranked as one of the greatest painters of Indian and buffalo subjects. The artist died in 1862 shortly after finishing his work of painting the dome of the old St. Louis courthouse.

Laxative combination folks know is trustworthy

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Thedford's Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The grown folks stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets. . . Mrs. C. W. Adams, of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Thedford's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

59,814 ENROLLED IN STATE ADULT EDUCATION CLASSES

A notion of the size and success of Missouri WPA emergency education projects may be found in a March report of activities Alfred C. Moon, the state director, has just sent to Washington. Mr. Moon forwarded a copy of his report to C. L. Blanton, Jr., ninth area WPA director.

Throughout the state, the report shows, 1090 instrutors and supervisors have charge of classes having a total enrollment of 59,814 persons.

The largest single group of people—37,257—are taking general adult education courses offered by 503 teachers. Literacy education, with 10,292 enrollees, ranks second. Two hundred and sixty instructors are devoting their time to it.

Smaller numbers are taking parent education (1990); vocational training (6057); workers' education (3349); and freshman college work (153). Seven hundred and sixteen children are enrolled in nursery schools taught by 123 teachers.

Strip Crops Hold Soil When Wind Whips Fields

Strip cropping, one of the best and most economical methods of checking erosion by water, also is valuable in checking wind erosion in western areas.

Whether planted on contour lines or at right angles to prevailing winds, strips of sweet clover, alfalfa, sorghum, sudan grass, or sunflower not only stop soil that starts to blow, but also break the wind as it sweeps across the field. It is small soil particles carried by a high wind that produce the scouring effect known as wind erosion. Strip cropping stops drifting soils in the same way as fences and weed clumps.

Another advantage of strip cropping is that strips may be shifted from year to year. The top growth and roots are plowed under and add humus to the soil. This is one of the best preventives of "blowing." Soil with a good content of organic matter is much less likely to blow than soil cultivated year after year until most of the humus disappears.

IN BANKRUPTCY

To the Creditors of The Little River Drainage District:

NOTICE is hereby given that on the 9th day of April, A. D. 1936, the verified petition of The Little River Drainage District was duly filed in the office of the clerk of this Court stating, among other things, that the district is insolvent and unable to meet its debts as they mature; and that it desires to effect a plan of debt readjustment whereby its bonded indebtedness will be reduced and refinanced pursuant to the provisions of Section 80, of Chapter IX, of the National Bankrupty Act, as amended, and praying that the court take such action under the Act mentioned as is necessary to fully effect such debt readjustment. That the petition of the district and the proceedings for debt readjustment as set forth therein was approved by the court as properly filed under the Bankruptcy Act and is now pending therein. That by order of the court duly entered in this cause a hearing will be held in the chambers of the Judge of the court in the Federal Building, in the city of Cape Girardeau, State of Missouri on the 8th day of May, 1936, at 11 o'clock A. M., or as soon thereafter as same may be held, for the purpose of considering the plan of readjustment as set out or referred to in the petition as well as any changes or modifications thereof which may be proposed or decreed necessary or proper, and for the further purpose of hearing any creditor of the district upon any controvertible matter in connection with the proposed plan of debt readjustment and the advisability of entering an order confirming same.

The plan of debt readjustment materially affects the holders of all outstanding bonds of the district, as it will, if put into effect require the holders of such Bonds to accept in exchange therefor Three hundred dollars ($300) for each One Thousand Dollars ($1,000) thereof, nothing on interest.

Creditors of the district are hereby referred to the petition on file in the above entitled cause and to the exhibits attached thereto and the orders of the court for details and particulars of the proposed plan of debt readjustment and of the proceedings taken and to be taken therein.

The proposed plan of debt readjustment has been approved by the district and duly accepted by the holders of more than 97 per centum of the holders of the outstanding bonds of the district, and upon the approval or confirmation of the plan or readjustment by the court, the district is empowered and authorized to take such action is necessary to carry the same into effect.

This 9th day of April, 1936.

Insured Lubrication

GOOD-BYE to hit-or-miss oiling and greasing! . . . NOW an utterly new idea brings you a PERFECT lubrication plan, PROTECTED by Insurance in The Travelers Indemnity Company.

The Quaker Statement

LUBRICANTS

1—Perfected motor oils and greases to meet full requirements of all seasons for each part of every make of car.

2—Motor oil made from 100 per cent Pennsylvania crude oil: so pure it does not require acid treatment which lessens an oil's oiliness.

3—By costly, extra refining processes, Quaker State removes the quart of thin, useless oil of little or no lubricating value—which remains in every gallon of ordinary motor oil—and replaces this waste with a quart of rich, fullbodied lubricant. Four fullbodied lubricant. Four full quarts of genuine, heat-resisting lubrication in every gallon.

THE PROPOSITION

1—Because your car will not operate without oil and grease, you face a choice of brands.

2—Brands differ greatly in quality; we urge that you use Quaker State, but we do not attempt to prove its superiority by claims alone. Instead we say:

3—If you will use only Quaker State lubricants in your car, ADOPT THE QUAKER STATE PLAN OF LUBRICATION and equip your car with "Roll-o-Miles" at $3.50, we will supply you with a one year guarantee insured in The Travelers Indemnity Company of Hartford, Conn., which agrees to pay the customary cost of repairing or replacing any burned out and inoperative bearings resulting from faulty or insufficient lubrication.

TO FILE QUO WARRANTO AGAINST GLOBE-DEMOCRAT

Attorney-General Roy McKittrick was to file quo warranto proceedings in the Missouri supreme court yesterday against the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, alleging the newspaper's "Famous Names" contest violates the state anti-lottery laws and exceeds the paper's rights and privileges under its state charter.

McKittrick's announcement was made Friday after a conference with Globe-Democrat attorneys at which they indicated the paper does not intend to discontinue the contest. They do not consider it a lottery.

If the defendant were found guilty by the court, it could be prevented from doing business in Missouri, be fined, or receive a conditional ouster order if it agreed to discontinue the contest.

Death Claims John C. Clemson of Oran

Mr. John C. Clemson of Oran died of pneumonia at the Southeast Missouri hospital in Cape Girardeau, Thursday, April 9, 1936. He had been ill only a few days.

Mr. Clemson was born in Dresdon, Tennessee, July 12, 1848. He went to Oran as a young man and to work for the Old Iron Mountain Railroad System in 1879. He was pensioned by the Missouri Pacific in 1928. Since that time he has busied himself around his home in Oran, being active until only a few days before death.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist church in Oran, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with the pastor, Rev. D. D. Seger offigiating. Burial was in the Friend cemetery at Oran.

Mr. Clemson was long a faithful member of the Baptist church at Oran, serving in many capacities in the church, and was a regular attendant at it's services through the years.

Mr. Clemson was united in marriage to Miss Ella Harris at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Phil Williams of Kelso on February 24, 1886. It was their happy privilege last February to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary, at which time many of their friends from near and far came to express their love to them.

Mr. Clemson taught 36 boys to handle the telegraph instrument while he was station agent in Oran. Those boys have grown in to manhood and some of them are to still be found in railroad offices.

Besides his wife Mr. Clemson is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Georgia Williams of Oran, Mrs. Virginia Duckworth of Tuscaloosa, Alabama; two sisters, Mrs. Lew C. Smith of Cape Girardeau, Mrs. R. E. Dedge of Memphis, Tenn; two grandchildren, Clemson and Helen Duckworth of Tuscaloosa; two great-grandchildren, John Clemson Duckworth the 3rd, Virginia Henderson Duckworth of Tuscaloosa.

Mr. Clemson was a member of A. O. U. W.; O. R. T. and the Odd Fellows.

MANY PARENTS, SCOUTERS ATTEND TRAINING COURSE

Twenty-five parents of boys of cub age and eleven Scoutmasters' attended the first lecture of training courses being sponsored by the Kiwanis club. They were given in the Marshall hotel dining room Thursday night.

C. G. Morrison of Cape Girardeau, Scout executive for the Scout executive for the Southeast Missouri area council, spoke to the parents; and George W. Kirk, president of the council, and Tharon Stallings conducted the first lecture for Scoutmasters and Scouters.

The second lecture of the Scoutmasters' traning course will be delivered in the American Legion rooms in the McCoy-Tanner building this Thursday.

Mr. Kirk said last week-end that both parents and Scoutmasters may still enroll for the training course. Two additional lectures will be given parents, and five more will be offered Scouters.

A cub pack sponsored by Kiwanians will be organized when the parents' course is completed. Only boys whose parents have attended the lectures will be eligible for membership.

19 AT FROG DINNER FOR AGENT'S OFFICE WORKERS

Nineteen persons attended a frog dinner at Porter's cafe in Benton Thursday evening for all present and former members of the Scott county extension agent's office and for two state agricultural officials. Fowler A. Young, assistant Scott county agent, and Sayers Tanner, also an associate of the office, had gigged the frogs.

Guests included C. C. Hearne and Ide P. Trotter, both of the Missouri College of Agriculture; Frank B. Veatch, Scott county agent, and Mrs. Veatch; Mr. and Mrs. Fowler A. Young; Mr. and Mrs. Sayers Tanner; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Watkins, Jr.; Miss Alma Hooker; Miss Alma Compas; Leslie B. Broom, New Madrid county agent; Miss Lucille Sloas of New Madrid; Simon P. Bollinger, cotton assistant in Ripley county; Miss Catherine Ahrens of Oran; Miss Dixie Smith of Benton; Miss Christine Phillips of Morley; and David Blanton of Sikeston.

This program was given during the dinner: piano solo, Mr. Veatch; clog dance, Mr. Broom; vocal solo, Mrs. Young; piano solo, Miss Compas; and tap dance, Miss Smith. Guests danced during the later part of the evening.

Burial Society Charged In Suit In Newton County

By Associated Press

Springfield, Mo., April 8, 1936.—Objections of the Better Business Bureau and a group of funeral directors today led the Atlas Life Society to agree that the decree moving it from here to Newton County be set aside. A pro forma decree of reincorporation was granted in circuit court here March 7.

The society formerly was known as the Granby Burial Association, with Arthur A. Bull, President; Marshall T. Jamison, secretary and treasurer; and Jasper Ryan a member who joined them in the petition for transfer to Green county.

The Better Business Bureau claimed the reincorporation and relocation decree was illegal because the law requires that such associations shall not be organized for pecuniary benefit.

Marshall T. Jamison, the objector claimed, is interested in a funeral establishment at Dexter, and prior to asking the decree he issued about 6000 memberships requiring their burial benefit be procured through the Rice-Jamison Funeral Home.

The bureau claimed also he is interested in funeral homes in Kennett and Charleston.

WE SPONSOR NO SCHEMES

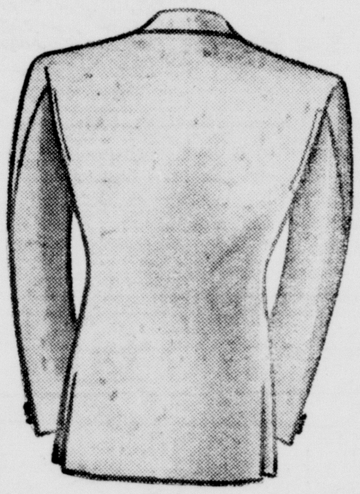

Every now and then we are approached by promoters who seek to interest us in a burial association scheme by selling certificates or memberships to a large number of people promising a definite kind of funeral service in return, we are told our business can be greatly increased.

Our answer to these proposals is always the same. We refuse to sponsor any such project. In our opinion, funeral service is a matter of personal arrangement. The family should have complete freedom of choice and not be limited by any iron bound contract made in the past.

Our services vary in cost according to individual needs. The highest possible quality, with careful, efficient attention to every detail guarantees complete satisfaction.

SPORT SUIT
by HART SCHAFFNER & MARX

Hart Schaffner & Marx had you fellows - who - hate - tight shoulders in mind when they designed this suit.

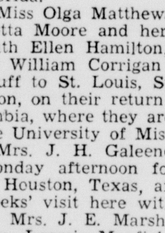

They put a gusset where sleeve meets shoulder (see sketch) which gives plenty of freedom. And for good measure they cut clever side vents in the jacket to prevent tightness across the seat.

This suit is top style—it's designed from jackets worn by the well dressed crowd at United Hunts Meet and polo matches at Meadowbrook, L. I. Your size is waiting for you here, in the pattern and color you like. Come on in and try it on Stenographer and Typist Exams.

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for the positions of senior and junior stenographer and senior and junior typist.

This examination is being held for appointment in Washington, D. C. only.

Applicants must be at least 18 but under 53. For positions in the apportioned service at Washington, D. C., they must show actual and bona fide residence in the state or territory claimed for at least six months next preceding the closing date for reeipt of applications.

W. A. WHITE'S WIFE SENT TO INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Two sisters, on of them Mrs. Agnes Tidwell White, 16-year-old wife of W. A. White of Cape Girardeau, formerly of Sikeston, were ordered taken to the state industrial school for girls at Chillicothe after a joint hearing in the juvenile division of the Cape Girardeau common pleas court last week.

Mrs. White and her sister, Mrs. Lorene Tidwell Summers, 17 years old, were found to be "neglected and delinquent children." They will be kept at the school until they are 21 years old.

A hearing was called after Prosecuting Attorney Elmer A. Strom of Cape county learned the sisters had caused their husbands and close relatives to worry. They had allegedly been separated from their husbands for short periods of time.

Mrs. White said in court that she was willing to return to her husband and that she thought "we could make a go of it. He treated me all right when we lived together," she said. She added, when the courst asked if she loves Mr. White, who is 69 years old, "I donk think there is such a thing as love, but I think we could get along all right. I don't want to be sent away."

Both Mr. White and Pat Summers, Loren's husband, told Judge Lee L. Bowman they wanted their wives returned to them. Mrs. William Gilmore, the grils' mother, also said she wished her daughters could be left in Cape Girardeau.

DECKER'S MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL OVERRULED; APPEALS TO HIGH COURT

Judge Frank Kelly overruled Dr. A. J. Decker's motion for a new trial Friday and formally sentenced him to two years in the penitentiary.

Decker, who was given a two-year term after his conviction earlier this term on a manslaughter charge resulting from an illegal operation performed on Mrs. Herbert McMullin of Fornfelt, immediately appealed to the state supreme court.

Harry Kaempfer's motion for a change of venue was passed until later this month, and court was adjourned until April 23.

SIKESTON STANDARD

Southeast Missouri's Leading Semi-Weekly

THE EDITOR SAYS—

The Tuesday edition of The Standard gave credit to The Herald for printing the bill lambasting C. L. Blanton, Sr., who was not a candidate, and we have since learned the bill was from the press of an outsider, or a sundowner, and we hasten to make the correction. However, it was a perfectly legitimate piece of work.

* * *

Up to the past week we were of the opinion that we had some little standing in the community, but this election and the panning we have received when we were not a candidate for anything, has rather made us suspect that the only real friends we have are some children that we have given nickels to, and at their age know no better than to think we were all right. If we have been fortunate enough to bring up a large family, who have made real men and women out of themselves, we should be complimented and not lambasted. There has never been one of our name in the state who took advantage of the bankrupt law to beat our creditors, ever been in jail or the penitentiary, no bastards or near bastards, no corrupting of poor white folks or negroes with whisky or money to get votes, no sundown practices or immoral acts that we know of.

* * *

The next good thing that we hope to hear from the new administration is that they have put all the old women to work that they have promised and that the streets are put in as good condition as they were under Mr. Swanner's commissionership.

* * *

If the mayor's race Tuesday had been close there would have been a contest over the shady marking of a ballot, or ballots in Ward 2. Intentional or not, Charlie Henson, one of the judges, made out the ticket for a white woman who had a sore hand, and when she said she wanted to vote for Presnell, proceeded to scratch Presnell, then she told him she didn't want to vote for Fuchs, he scratched out Fuchs and placed the dead ballot in the box. The woman went out and reported the fact and when complaint was made, the judge went into the ballot box, fished out this particular ballot, gave it to her, and fixed another ballot that voted for Presnell. This mutilated ballot was given to the woman who turned it over to Dr. Presnell. This woman could read and saw the judge's work, called his hand, and finally voted the way she wanted to. Now, if this sort of a deal was pulled, intentionally or unintentionally, how many votes were poked into this ballot box for the ignorant who could neither read nor write is a question.

* * *

G. B. Greer had a severe attack with his heart at midnight Wednesday night and was in a serious condition for many hours. Early Thursday morning he was thought to be resting easier and friends and acquaintances are hoping that he will soon regain his usual health.

* * *

One of the first acts the new mayor and council should perform is to buy a new tractor and grader in order that the new street commissioner can do the work on the streets as promised. The old tractor that has been in use is so decrepit that it had to be pulled by man power to assist it in moving a truck of dirt, while the grader that has been in use was one played out on the highway work and given to the city. Give Lon Swanner the machinery and a crew of men and he can, and will, put the streets in order whether they hold up or not, but with the old machinery and a two-man force it can't be done.

* * *

There has not been an election held in Sikeston in the last twenty years but what there has been disappointment among defeated candidates and their supporters, and there has not been a single one of the mayors elected but what has given his every effort for the betterment of his city, and the same will hold good now and in the future. If you were one of the disappointed, forget it and get behind the administration.

* * *

Just a hint. Property owners on Tanner street should present a project to WPA headquarters to have the 5-foot strip between the street and curb and gutter concreted while the WPA will furnish labor and maybe part or all of the material. Our strip has already been paved, so we'll gain nothing by this hint, so all others should favor it.

* * *

New Madrid should be congratulated on re-electing Sam Hunter as their mayor at the Tuesday election. Likewise on the re-election of their City Marshal. These gentlemen have given that city a splendid administration and triumphed over an element who wished for a wide open city and ably aided by workers on relief rolls who carried voter to the polls.

CHARLES MOORE DIES OF EXPOSURE ON RURAL ROAD

The body of Charles Moore was found at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning lying doubled up near a small bridge on a rural road a short distance west of Wolfe Hole ditch. The place is in the Big Opening community of New Madrid county and three miles east of the Gables night club.

Coroner L. A. Richards of New Madrid and Harvey Johnson said Moore probably died of exposure. He had been in ill health, suffering from heart trouble, chronic bronchitis, and cystitis (inflammation of the bladder).

Friends said that on Tuesday morning Moore had come here for the election with Horace G. English, with whom he lived, and Bob Hale. Hale and English left town separately late in the afternoon, each after asking Moore if he was ready to go home. When English started to his house on the Buckeye plantation, Moore was standing with Mrs. Elmer Mangrum in front of the building on North Kingshighway formerly occupied by the Langley Motor Company.

Mrs. Mangrum said Wednesday that Moore had left town at sunset Tuesday. His companions said he had been drinking, and they believe he was drunk at the time of his death. An empty whisky bottle was in the hip pocket of the blue denim trousers he wore.

Several people passing in cars along the Big Opening road that leads from Highway 61 east said they saw a man near the place where Moore's body was found. Thomas Ayers and Bill Dell saw him at about 10 o'clock and one person stopped to speak to him. Moore was then sitting at the edge of the road with his head in his hands and only grunted to questions.

Tracks in the moist sand indicated Moore had walked down the road, passing from one side to another, until he reached a sand hill beyond the place he died. Then he turned and staggered back, resting for a time. Fifty feet from the edge of the bridge where his body lay Wednesday morning, marks showed he had fallen into shallow water of the roadside ditch and that he had crawled out with effort by digging his fingers into soft mud. His knees evidently gave way, for the upper part of his body was over them and his face in the sand of the road. He had not been dead long.

Lewis Wrenn, who found the body at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, said he had thought before he reached the place at a bundle of straw had been dropped. He did not know the man and so went for Ben Mannings. First identification was made through a letter in Moore's pocket from Clarence Powell, a nephew he had reared.

Powell was until recently at a CCC camp in Kaiser, Mo., but not long ago went to Jefferson City, where he intended to enroll in the United States navy. Men of the community then called Richards.

At the time of his death, Moore was presumably trying to reach the home of Horace G. English and his brother, W. S. English, two miles east of the place he fell. W. S. English said that he and Moore grew up together in Mississippi county, where they attended school, and that latter they moved into the Big Opening community. For a time Moore lived at Sikeston at the Elmer Mangrum home; then on the recommendation of Dr. G. W. Presnell, he went to Hot Springs, Ark., for treatment. English said he could not take the baths, however, because of his weakened heart. He returned to Missouri and went to live in the Big Opening community. There he suffered three broken ribs while working. He had been living at the English home for two months.

Moore was 64 years old. He had no living relation except Powell. His wife died several years ago. Funeral services were to be held here Thursday with Welsh service.

FUCHS MAJORITY 149; TAYLOR, JEWELL WIN

N. E. Fuchs was mayor again Tuesday night after his victory over Dr. G. W. Presnell in one of the most spirited elections of the town's history.

A record vote of 2997 was cast in the four wards—396 more than in 1934, when Dr. Presnell defeated Fuchs by a 751 majority. (Presnell, 1676; Fuchs, 925.) Fuchs won Tuesday by 149 votes in a race he termed difficult to win. Dr. Presnell carried only his home ward, three, by 84 votes and trailed by 113 votes in ward one, 87 in ward two, and 33 in ward four.

Walter Kendall was re-elected police chief; Elmos Taylor, collector; and Lynn Waggener, T. F. Rafferty, and Hubert Boyer, aldermen. Brown Jewell won the police judge's office and Gust Zacher was elected alderman from ward three. Voters chose C. D. Matthews, III, city treasurer, and A. C. Barrett, assessor. Robert Dempster had no opposition for the office of city attorney.

News of the gradual swing to Fuchs was first learned Tuesday afternoon when unofficial reports of ballots counted in each ward showed him leading by 43 votes When wards two and three totals were officially reported at the city hall early Tuesday night, Fuchs was ahead only 3 votes. Ward four returns showed him leading by 36 votes, and those of one, the last to arrive, stamped the victory decisive.

An hour before wards one and four were in, however, Fuchs supporters had learned of their victory. Fuchs arrived at the city hall soon afterward with many followers, saying, "I've come home." Before Fred Briggs took him out for a wheelbarrow ride around the downtown section, Fuchs said he had known it would be "hard to beat Dr. Presnell". He said he would forget all pre-election differences and concentrate his efforts on making Sikeston a good mayor.

The campaign was spirited. No such widespread support for Fuchs from varied quarters was apparent in 1934, when he sought re-election after serving four terms as mayor.

Dr. Presnell did not appear at the city hall Tuesday night to swear in Fuchs and other newly elected officers although Fuchs was anxious to go to Cape Girardeau early Wednesday morning to attend a district lumber dealers' convention. Fuchs left Wednesday soon after a special meeting at which all except one of the newly elected officials were inducted into office. Hubert Boyer was ill after a night of celebration.

Fuchs announced a council session will be held early next week to consider changes in the city employes' personnel. He said Tuesday night that new officials will be appointed, and before he left Wednesday he discharged Charles Boardman, the street commissioner, asked for the police star held by Earl Wilson, a relief officer at the election, and appointed Gust Zacher temporary chairman of the board of aldermen. He instructed Lon Swanner to superintend street repair work until his return late Friday or early Saturday.

Voting Tuesday was quiet and the only disturbance was caused by David McNuel, a negro, charged by C. S. Lewis with disturbing the peace by flourishing a loaded pistol at two white people. He was taken by Sheriff Joe Anderson to Benton, where he will be held to await trial in Justice Joseph W. Myers' court.

Jewell and Taylor carried three wards each in their races for judges and collector, Jewell accumulating 1032 votes and Taylor 1131. Judge W. H. Carter, the incumbent seeking re-election, trailed Jewell with 857 votes. Judge Joseph W. Myers had 583; Judge William S. Smith, 162; and L. A. Clark, 121.

D. L. McElroy stood second in the collector's race with 768 votes. Clyde Causey had 480 votes; Luther Felker, 366; and Mrs. Nell Hart, 82. Walter Kendall was given 1844 votes to Roy Beck's 865 for police chief. Robert Dempster received 2913 votes for city attorney and Kendall Sikes, 6.

Vodrel (Red) Kirby ran second in the ward one alderman's race, getting 252 votes to Waggener's, 351. Waggener was the incumbent. W. A. Williams was given 60, and J. A. O'Hara, 53. Boyer beat J. Edgar White by 98 votes in the ward two alderman race, and Zacher received 357 votes in ward three to defeat J. A. Sutterfield, with 206, and Grover Duncan, 170, Rafferty, who was unopposed in ward four, got 620.

W. H. Sikes and A. J. Renner were re-elected without opposition to the board of education; and the $1 levy passed by a 1384-to-374 vote and the 40-cent levy by 1396 votes to 345. Sikes was given 1834 votes and Renner, 1789.

The vote by wards is printed below.

THE REAL DRIVER

10—Has His Car Inspected Regularly and Maintained Properly—DO YOU?

Many drivers have had bad accidents because their brakes wouldn't hold. Cars with loose steering wheels are like boats without rudders—you never know where they are going Accidents frequently occur when drivers are blinded by poorly focused headlights. Regular inspection and maintenance are necessary to assure safe cars.

Kaempfer Files Motion For Change of Venue

The trial of Harry Kaempfer of Cape Girardeau on a charge of perjury at the murder trial of Floyd Smith last fall was delayed in circuit court when defense attorneys filed an affidavit for a change of venue. Judge Frank Kelly said he would rule on the Motion today (Friday).

Kaempfer was arrested February 2. In an indictment he was cited as testifying for the defense in the Smith trial for the W. T. Carlton murder at Gray's Point May 8 that he and Smith were together in Cape Girardeau that day. Smith was convicted of the murder and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Thomas McGee, also of Cape Girardeau, was convicted earlier this month of perjury at the murder trial of his brother, Claude, and sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

In court Wednesday, Richard Townsend, a negro, was sentenced to four years in prison when he plead guilty to burglary and larceny of the J. S. Wallace store March 13. Thomas White, another negro defendant in the same case, is yet to be tried. James Rice, a third, has been sentenced to five years for the crime.

Carol Grant of Fornfelt was given a four-year term when he confessed burglary and larceny of a store in his home town. Prosecuting Attorney W. P. Wilkerson nolle prossed a similar action against Sylvester Weaver of Fornfelt when Grant exonerated him.

Councilmen Object to Police Appointments

Enmity toward Dr. G. W. Presnell was apparent at Monday night's city council meeting after Hubert Boyer asked for the names of men Dr. Presnell had appointed as special police for the election Tuesday. Dr. Presnell had notified board members and candidates by letter that he would place special police at polling places to insure "a fair election, to keep peace, and to promote orderly voting."

Dr. Presnell announced Monday night that he had named Charles French and Roy Stevenson as police for ward one; Clarence Felker and Don Vowels for ward two; E. V. Howell and Earl Wilson for ward three; and Roly McDonald and Oscar Morris for ward four.

When Boyer moved that the board reject the special police, Dr. Presnell told him his action was not in order. Lynn Waggener, E. H. Smith, and J. L. Matthews joined Boyer in saying they considered the hire of special police a waste of money, one adding the city would not benefit from having "the doctor's men" standing outside polling places. As Dr. Presnell showed his authority for his action by reading from an ordinance that grants the mayor to appoint special police whom the city must pay, Boyer asked if the police commission formed last year had any authority. (Boyer is a member of it.) Yes, Dr. Presnell told him, but not any superseding is allowed under an older ordinance. A reading of the bill creating the commission showed this was true. Your term expired last month, Dr. Presnell then said. No further arguments were made against the appointments.

Before they adjourned, councilmen named extra judges and clerks, whom the board of education will pay: Byron Bowman and Duree Medley in ward one; John Sikes and Walter Hughes in ward two; James T. Edwards and J. W. Foley in ward three; and Leo A. Smith and the Rev. Verne F. Oglesby in ward four. Frank Mount was appointed a ward three clerk to replace Earl Malone, who was ill.

Funds Released for Mississippi WPA Work

Four new projects for Mississippi county and funds for continuing four others are included in a list of April WPA allocations just received, C. L. Blanton, Jr., ninth district WPA director, said Thursday. In addition, Mr. Blanton has been sent an additional $5633 for the Dunklin county sewing rooms.

New Mississippi county projects and amounts are: $1690 of a $22,356 project employing 48 men for gravel surfacing 5200 feet of streets and building 4800 feet of concrete sidewalk in Wyatt; $2217 of a $48,828 project for construction of 42,617 lineal feet of walk in East Prairie, the project to employ 99 men; $1771 of an $11,105 project to build 14,332 feet of walks in Bertrand, 36 men to be given work; and $863 of a $1360 project for laying an eight-inch sewer pipe to drain the Anniston high school basement, 15 men to be employed.

Mr. Blanton received an additional allocation of $1994 for grading and graveling Charleston streets; $682 for construction of the Bird's Point to Birney's Ferry road; $3914 for the Mississippi county malaria control project; and $3057 for Mississippi county sewing rooms.

Allocations for other Southeast Missouri counties are expected soon.

MITCHELL-SHARP'S USED CAR LOT OPEN EVENINGS

The Mitchell-Sharp Chevrolet Company's used car lot on Center street will be open evenings during the rest of the spring and summer months. Clay A. Mitchell announced yesterday.

Powerful lights are now being installed on the lot by the board of public works. The official nite opening will be Saturday.

Mitchell-Sharp's used car lot was remodeled recently until it resembles that owned by metropolitan dealers. A new fence has been built and painted, and new signs installed.

SECRET MARRIAGE OF MISS PAT MURPHY TO REX LAMBERT ANNOUNCED

Announcement was made this week of the marriage of Miss Pat Murphy to Rex Lambert. It was performed at the home of the Rev. Lem Council on February 12 and kept secret until now. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nickens were attendants.

Mrs. Lambert, a foster daughter of Mrs. Clara Hurt, attended school in Poplar Bluff.

Mr. Lambert is a son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lambert. He was graduated from the Sikeston high school in 1933 and is now employed at the International shoe factory.

Mr. and Mrs. Lambert are at home at Mrs. Hurt's residence on Northwest street.

CLOTHES STOLEN FROM LINE AT HOWE HOME

Personal clothing of Mrs. Beulah Howe was stolen Tuesday night from a clothes line on which garments hung in the yard of her home at the corner of Center and North Prairie streets.

Mrs. Howe, an International shoe factory employe, had washed Monday evening and then put the clothes out to dry. They were not taken, however, until the following night. The only clue Mrs. Howe found was the imprint of a woman's high heel shoe in the ground under the line.

A week ago, an intruder was surprised late at night as he prowled near the chicken house behind the Herbert Finney home at Scott and Trotter streets. The person was a large man wearing a heavy sweater. He was frightened away.

Arrangements for the first University of Missouri alumni banquet to be held in this district are almost completed.

The program will be unpretentious since the meeting is to be primarily a good fellowship one and a session at which a permanent Southeast Missouri alumni association is to be formed.

Mrs. Thomas B. Allen will play the piano while former university students sing "Old Missouri", "I'm a Son of Old Missou", and others of their alma mater, and Robert L. Hill, director of alumni activities for the university, will speak. Either Arnold Roth, district chairman for the banquet, or Allen B. Oliver, both of Cape Girardeau, will be toastmaster.

The dinner will be held in the Marshall hotel dining room at 6:30 Tuesday night. All former students are invited to attend.

TELLS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT TO DROP NAME CONTEST

Attorney-General Roy McKittrick has notified the St. Louis Globe-Democrat that he will institute quo warranto proceedings against the newspaper in the state supreme court unless it discontinues its "Famous Names" contest. He alleges the contest is in violation of the Missouri anti-lottery laws and in conflict with the newspaper's rights and privileges under its state charter.

Many Sikeston residents are competing in the contest for cash prizes totaling $15,000.

McKittrick said in an interview that in answer to an inquiry he made to Postmaster-General Farley he learned the St. Louis postmaster had been advised to treat the cartoons as mailable matter with the understanding that full responsibility for any violations of the laws involved would rest with the sender. McKittrick will take no action until Friday, when he will hear objections from attorneys for the Globe-Democrat.

The contest is now in its tenth week. Eighty-four cartoon were to be published. Number sixty-nine appeared yesterday.

State NYA Director Here

ROSE GROOMSMAN AT CAPE COUPLE'S WEDDING

William Rose of Sikeston served as groomsman at the marriage March 21 of Miss Grace Reynolds and Remmel Martin, both of Cape Girardeau. Announcement of the wedding was made in Cape Girardeau Tuesday.

Mrs. Martin, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Reynolds of the Cape, was graduated from Central high school in 1933. Mr. Martin, a son of Mrs. Pearl Martin of Detroit, Mich., has lived in the Cape three years.

Safety Council to Meet

Safety committeemen of Sikeston service organizations are reminded that a meeting of the newly formed Southeast Missouri public safety council will be held in the Marshall hotel dining room at 1:30 Sunday afternoon. A constitution drafted from suggestions of members will be presented for approval.

W. B. A.

The Women's Benefit Association will hold the regular business meeting Monday, April 13, at I. O. O. F. hall.

Woman's Club Met Tuesday

The Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. C. H. Denman, Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. J. W. Foley and Mrs. Ralph Anderson, assisting. Mrs. G. A. Dempster was program leader with the subject "The Rockhill Nelson Art Gallery." It was decided that a medal be presented annually to the best girl student in home economics and the boy ranking highest in manual training in the Sikeston high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Jean Hirschberg and Mrs. Ted Higgins spent Tuesday in St. Louis buying stock for the Flower Basket.

Judge Brown Jewell's 1932 Pontiac coupe was entirely burned when it caught fire at 2:30 Thursday morning as Jewell and Dick Swaim were driving east on Highway 60 four miles west of here.

Although apparently there was a short in the dimmer switch, Jewell thinks the car caught fire after it had back fired several times. No covering was on the gasoline tank, because, Jewell thinks a station attendant neglected to replace the cap after filling the tank Wednesday night. Gasoline probably splashed into the rear of the coupe, where Jewell kept a small rug he used in winter to cover the radiator and several gunny sacks.

Soon after he noticed smoke seeping into the front of the car, Swaim saw the machine was in flames. Jewell got it onto the shoulder before he was forced to get out. Passersby brought the two here, and at 8 o'clock Thursday morning, the Mitchell-Sharp wrecker hauled the car to town. Only the framework and a Stark-for-Governor rear tire cover remained.

Jewell and Swaim were returning from Canalou, where they had been visiting friends.

J. F. Trousdale Granted Divorce; Children's Care

Judge Frank Kelly found for the plaintiff Wednesday after hearing testimony in J. Frank Trousdale's divorce suit against Kathryn Anna Trousdale. He had taken the case under advisement last week.

Judge Kelly granted Trousdale a divorce and care and custody of minor children. He allowed Mrs. Trousdale the right to see her children but fixed no dates for her visits.

Trousdale had sued on four counts, alleging that his wife frequently remained away from her home and little children until late at night; that she often became intoxicated and came into the presence of her children drunk; that she improperly associated with other men over the objections of her husband; and that she failed to perform her household duties. Mrs. Trousdale, in her answer, denied all the allegations but did not in turn ask that a divorce be granted her, as is customary. Trousdale was represented by Blanton & Montgomery.

The case against Joe Abernathy of Oran, who is charged with assault with intent to kill, was passed until today when it was brought into court Wednesday. Abernathy is accused of slashing the left side of Creal Abernathy's jaw during a recent fight in Oran. He was bound over to the circuit court after a preliminary hearing Tuesday before Justice J. W. Bowman of Sylvania township. At the time of his arrest, Abernathy said he thought he must have scratched his relatives jaw with a fingernail. The court appointed Steve Barton of Benton to represent him.

The Maryland Casualty Company's suit against E. P. Coleman, Jr., was dismissed at the request of the plaintiff, who stipulated Coleman was to pay the court costs. The action resulted from a disagreement about the amounts of premiums on group insurance Coleman had taken out on his employes.

L. W. Baldwin took an appeal to the supreme court from Judge Kelly's recent ruling in favor of the Scott County Milling Company in his coal rebate case for the Missouri Pacific railroad. The suit involved $24,000 the railroad alleges Scott County owes it above what the company paid for haul.

"I'd like a couple of hard boiled eggs to take out," said the young fellow to the girl at the lunch counter.

This is written the morning after. As the sun went down the evening before the thermometer fell with the hopes we had of saving the country and by the time the final count was announced, the frost fell, and the ground froze, but with the rising sun the frost disappeared, our spirits rose, and we are eating crow and like it.

An anonymous letter received by the editor Wednesday morning and signed "A Republican that wants to know," is inquiring what became of the money taken in on the President's two balls. Well, after his last ball came off, what was left was turned over to Miss Florence Chrisler, principal of the grade school to buy shoes and underclothes for children in that school. Miss Chrisler can give the number of dollars and cents turned over to her. We hardly think any of it was used for whisky in the Tuesday election.

Points won in this subject did not count toward cup since less than six schools entered. However, individual honors will be awarded.

The contest was carried out in good order and the questions were difficult enough to make it easy to pick the winners. In fact, some of the winners missed nearly half of the questions as will be noted in such cases as Algebra and Geometry.

Every possible precaution was taken to make the contest fair to all and the schools accepted the results in a splendid spirit of good sportsmanship.

TWO CAR THIEVES BOUND TO CAPE CIRCUIT COURT

Phillip Busick and Earl Fines, the Illinois lads who stole five outomobiles and a row boat and considered taking an airplane here after their escape from the Bloomington, Ill., jail, were bound over to the Cape Girardeau county circuit court Saturday after waiving preliminary hearings. Both were returned to the county jail at Jackson after failing to supply bonds of $2000 each.

The two are being held in Cape Girardeau county on a charge of stealing Eldon Roberts' automobile at Jackson March 30 Prosecuting Attorney Elmer A. Strom said he did not intend to allow their return to Illinois, where they are also wanted on car theft charges.

LUCILLE HAHS WINS 2nd IN BUSINESS CONTEST

Lucille Hahs won second place in an international business English letter writing contest sponsored each month by the Business Education World, a monthly business periodical, Superintendent Roy V. Ellise announced this week. She is a pupil of Miss Daisy Evans.

Miss Hahs brought the award to the Sikeston high school for the second time in succession. Gertrude Harrison won second place last month. Sikeston is now the only school which has taken second place twice in succession and one of two schools that has won the same place twice. Leominister, Mass., a city of 22,000, has won first award for two consecutive months.

The Business Education World, is circulated in the United States, Canada, Australia, India, and England.

Our Very Best Quality

Remember that we say Phillips 66 Motor Oil is our finest premium quality. Yet it sells for only 30¢ a quart in refinery-sealed cans. Or in bulk, 26¢ a quart.

No doubt you have read about the excitement created in scientific circles by the announcement of the POLYmerization process.

It has been hailed and acclaimed on the radio and in the press as a miracle of modern chemistry. The benefits it brings to gasoline have been lauded to the skies. No single improvement in motor fuel manufacture has ever been greeted by such unanimous approval of technical experts.

BUT . . . in the final analysis . . . one thing, and only one thing, counts with any experienced driver: "How does Poly Gas work in my motor?"

The best answer to this question, the most convincing and conclusive proof that POLYmerization improves gasoline quality, is just one trial tankful of the new Phillips 66 Poly Gas.

It costs nothing extra, but it must deliver extra value because our sales of Phillips 66 Poly Gas are right now at the highest levels in the history of the company. And as a famous slogan puts it—There must be a reason! Find out the money-saving facts by getting a tankful of the new Phillips 66 Poly Gas.

TOO MUCH LIGHT

It is practically impossible to have too much light in any home, but it is easy to have too much glare.

Even the feeble light that is produced by a match would hurt your eyes if you held it directly in front of them for any considerable length of time.

Clear sunlight is five hundred times brighter than the light of an electric light, but you never try to read or work with the sun shining directly into your eyes.

Every lamp in your home should be shaded to prevent glare.

Don't make the mistake of trying to get rid of glare by using fewer or smaller lamps.

Plenty of light from properly shaded lamps will add to the attractiveness of your home and bring more comfort into it.

Let us call and tell you how to light your home for eye comfort, as well as for beauty. This service is free.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH TO HAVE EASTER SERVICES

Special Easter services will be held at the Christian church Sunday morning. The Rev. R. M. Talbert of Cape Girardeau, the pastor, will preach, and the choir will sing an Easter anthem, "He Is Risen."

ANNOUNCES SUBJECTS FOR EASTER SERMONS

"The Meaning of the Resurrection" is the subject the Rev. D. D. Ellis has chosen for his morning Easter sermon at the Presbyterian church Sunday. The service will begin at 9 o'clock.

Special Easter music will be sung and a short dedicatory service for the new carpet recently laid on the auditorium floor will be held. On Sunday evening, Mr. Ellis will preach on "The Bible: Its Influence and Its Need."

Sunday school will be held as usual at 10 o'clock, and Christian Endeavor at 6:30 Sunday, and prayer service at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

ELLIS TO PREACH TONITE ON MEANING OF CROSS

The Rev. D. D. Ellis, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will preach on "The Meaning of the Cross" at union Good Friday services in the Methodist church tonight. The Revs. Verne F. Oglesby, C. F. Transue, and A. L. Shoemaker will assist at the services and the Baptist church male quartet will sing.

The story of how members of a wealthy family were converted to Christ and of how they pledged themselves to his service after the crucifixion will be told by Baptists who present an Easter pageant, "The Living Christ," at the church Sunday evening.

The family was that of Jairus, whose daughter Ruth died of a disease that had baffled all physicians of the time. The child's nurse, Anna, told Jairus of the reputed healing powers of Jesus, but because Jairus was a ruler of the synagogue, where Christ was not favored by priests and elders, he hesitated for a time to seek Jesus out. After Ruth died, however, Jesus came at his bidding and restored her to life. He was gone before Jairus could thank him.

When Jairus, his wife, Lydia, the child, and Anna went out to follow and serve Christ through their lives, they found He was dead and then that He had arisen. They heard his voice saying, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature" as they talked with his followers.

A. B. Moll will portray Jairus in the pageant; Miss Vernetta Smith, Lydia; Mary Ann Lankford, Ruth; and Miss Marguerite Bryant, Anna. Miss Lela Stacy will play the part of Mary, the sister of Martha; Mrs. A. B. Moll will be Mary Magdalene; Miss Lillian Belle Tayor, Joannah; and Miss Muriel Edwards, Salome. Rex Martin will be Peter; Dr. F. L. Sisson, Jr., John; and Arthur Lockhart, Thomas. Members of the choir will sing anthems between each scene of the pageant.

At the morning services, the Rev. Verne F. Oglesby will preach on "The Resurrection Hope" and will conduct a baptismal service. The choir will sing special Easter music.

THREE M. E. CHOIRS TO SING SUNDAY MORNING

The beginners', the junior, and the young peoples' choirs will have parts on Easter morning services at the Methodist church Sunday.

Mrs. E. H. Orear has charge of the choruses of fifty-seven voices that will sing many Easter selections at the services. She has been assisted by Mrs. Ruby Newson, director of the young people's choir, and by Mrs. R. A. Moore, the church organist.

The Rev. E. H. Orear will preach Sunday morning on "He is not here; He is Risen." During the service he will baptize children and receive new members into the church.

SIKESTON BOYS IN HONORARY ORGANIZATION

Charlie McMullin and Bill Donnell were initiated into "The Stripes and Diamonds," a national honorary military organization, at the University of Missouri, last week, according to a newspaper article read here.

TRAINING COURSES TO BE OFFERED FOR CUB PARENTS, SCOUTMASTERS

The first of a series of lectures of a Scoutmasters' training course and a course for parents interested in the Boy Scout cubbing program will be given in the Marshall hotel dining room at 7:30 tonight (Thursday) immediately after the Kiwanis club dinner. Kiwanians are sponsoring organization of a cub pack here.

All persons interested in Scouting as troop committeemen, Scoutmasters, or assistant Scoutmasters are invited to take the course, especially men actively associated with Troops 41, 42, 43, and the new 44 since several additional Scoutmasters and helpers are needed. One lesson will be given each week for six successive weeks.

The cub training course will be offered for cub chiefs, cubmasters, and parents of cubs. Invitations to attend the meeting and to take the course have been sent out to every parent in Sikeston who has boys from 9 to 12 years old. The notices were distributed to 250 school boys of cub age.

Cub dens will be limited to the boys whose parents are interested enough to co-operate by taking the course, which consists of three lectures, given one evening for three consecutive weeks.

"Cub work is preliminary to that of scouting. A cub who completes the cub course becomes a tenderfoot scout at 12 years of age and is ready to begin work for his second class badge in scouting. However, the cub program is built around the home, rather than around the scout meeting place, as we feel that youngsters of this age should not be taken away from their home environment. We strive, therefore, to give these 9 to 12 year old boys their cub program of work at their own home or that of their chums or "buddies". This work will be directed by the cubmaster but will be supervised largely by the "den mother" and the "den chief". The cub program provides for cub dens in various parts of town. Any neighborhood group of boys, who play together, can form a den. This may consist of from 5 to 10 boys, or even a larger number. Whatever number of boys play together in the neighborhood group will make up the membership of that particular den. It is possible therefore, to have many dens in different parts of Sikeston. A cub chief will be in charge of each den. The cub chief is a boy scout, who will direct the work of each den, under the supervision and direction of the cubmaster. It is necessary that we have also a cub mother for each den. She must be the mother of one of the cubs in the den and usually is the mother at whose home this cub work is carried on. We also select a father of one of the cubs in each den, who serves as "den dad". It is, therefore, evident that the co-operation of the parents is necessary in the establishment of every cub den.

"The cub pack is made up of the various cub dens. The meet together as a pack only once each month, under direct supervision of the Cubmaster, who checks up on the work they have accomplished. Parents of cubs are invited to this monthly meeting."

Herman L. (Humpy) Mattingly suffered third-degree burns on his right hand, wrist, and forearm when he carried a three-gallon bucket of flaming gasoline from the Sinclair service station Tuesday morning.

Jim Mason a negro attendant at the station, ignited the gasoline as he started to light the hot patch to repair a tire. He accidentaly dropped a match he thought was out into the bucket, kept under the work bench. With flames more than a foot high, Mattingly first pulled the bucket out into the workroom to prevent the blaze from setting the wooden ben on fire. Then because a car was in the room, he picked up the bucket and carried it to the concrete surrounding the station.

Dr. Howard A. Dunaway, who treated Mattingly, said the burns were deep. Mattingly was resting at his home Tuesday afternoon.

IDEAS ON MEAT FOR 2 THAT ARE DIFFERENT

Easter, with its "crop" of spring brides, has become a close rival for June in the affairs of heart and home, and both the bride when she starts housekeeping and Mother who now has only herself and Father to consider in preparing meals are looking for meat cuts suitable for the family of two.

Of course, there are the old stand-bys, the steaks and chops which can be cut in any desired size, but even though the chops and steaks are perfectly broiled, and served, sometimes friend husband or Father wishes longingly for a good old-fashioned stew or that old favorite, corned beef and cabbage. Perhaps they may seek a downtown restaurant, but why not accommodate them by giving them their old favorites at home? It can be done, even when there are only two.

For the small-sized stew, a casserole dish is a good utensil—not of course, the casserole dish which holds enough for six, but there are plenty of inexpensive casserole dishes on the market for single or double servings. To make the stew place the vegetables, potatoes, onions, carrots, or any other vegetables you wish, in the casserole dish then brown the diced meat in a hot skillet, place this on top, add enough water to cover vegetables but not the meat, cover and let cook slowly in the oven for one hour. This makes a very simple meal, one which not only the new husband relishes as a change from the usual, but one which because of its ease in preparations, the new bride will welcome quite as much.

Corned beef and cabbage, too, can easily be incorporated into your menus. Just visit the canned meat counter and choose a can of already cooked corned beef, which needs only to be opened, and cooked with cabbage until the latter is done. Or the uncooked corned beef can be bought and none of it will be wasted, since corned beef can be used in so many ways. First, it is served as corned beef and cabbage, then it can be used for a second meal as hot corned beef sandwiches, and perhaps a third served in a cream sauce with buttered noodles, or as corned beef hash.

Mummy of Princess, Who Died 2,000 Years Before King Tut, Is Revealed

CAIRO, EGYPT, April 6—The well preserved body of an Egyptian princess, who is estimated to have lived more than 2,000 years before King Tut Ankh-Amen, has been discovered in the Gigeh pyramids, Prof. Selin Hassan announced Monday.

The body was covered with gold. The princess was believed to have died about 3,600 B. C. and to have been the daughter of the Pharoh Chephren, builder of the second highest pyramid.

The mud of the Nile has seeped into the tomb, covered the body and preserved it through the thousands of years.

Around the princess' neck were three threads of gold. Another gold necklace with two gold weights was found on the ground, apparently having dropped from the body.

The head-dress was of plain gold with streamers of copper and gold. A bracelet of thin gold was on each arm and a girdle of copper covered with gold leaf around the waist.

Gold circlets were around the legs and two heaps of gold were at the feet.

Despite its excelent condition, the mummy was extremely fragile and was being handled with the utmost caution. The find was considered the most important since the discovery of Tut Ankh-Amen, whose mummy was 3,250 years old.

Chephren was the brother of Cheops, builder of the great pyramid, and succeeded him. Herodotus records that during the reigns of the two brothers, the Egyptians suffered miserably so that they could build vast pyramids which were to be the king's tombs.

Cheops closed the temples and made all the Egyptians labor on his monument, working in relays of 100,000 men every three months. He sacrificed the honor of his daughter to get money. The princess built herself a small pyramid of stones given to her by her lovers.

ROUT WINDS WITH STEW

During April there are always chill winds which penetrate with stinging severity, so be prepared to counter-act the cold with warm and satisfying foods, such as a good old-fashioned stew serving steaming hot.

A stew combines the tasty meat flavor with vegetables and makes a broth which is the delight of epicures and a comfort for tired workmen. The stew to give the most satisfaction must be well-made with plenty of meat to add both flavor and nutritive value. It is not important, however, that the meat be cut from the most tender sections, because in the long slow cooking given stews, the meat is always made tender. Its important that the meat have plenty of extractives, the flavoring substance which makes stews so tasty. Comparatively large amounts of extractives are found in the neck, shank, heel of round, and chuck of beef and in the forequarters cuts of lamb. Hence, these are the cuts most frequently used for stew, and rightly so, because they not only make excellent stew, but are also the economical cuts.

Here Is Standard Methods

The standard method for making stews, according to Inez S. Wilson, home economist, is this:

1. Have meat cut into small pieces, into about 2-inch cubes, so that the meat will keep its identity after cooking.
2. Dredge with flour and brown in hot lard.
3. Season with salt and pepper and add enough water to cover.
4. Cover kettle tightly and let simmer slowly until done. Do not allow to boil.
5. Add vegetables just long enough before serving that they will be done, not overcooked.

While the method of cooking is essentially the same for all stews, still there is variety to be found among them. Different meats, different vegetables, and different seasonings insure them against monotony.

Many of the old-fashioned stews were served with dumplings, either drop or rolled. Rolled dumpling are never so fluffy as those made from a lighter dough, but they are more easily manipulated and are most delicious. An interesting variety of the rolled dumpling is the corn stuffed dumpling, which is certainly worth a trial.

Corn Stuffed Dumplings

Make a dumpling dough stiff enough to be rolled. Roll 1-4 inch thick and cut into 3 inch rounds. Place the seasoned cold pulp on top, and pinch the edges of rounds together. Drop these on the meat and vegetables, not in liquid, and allow to steam for fifteen minutes until done.

Old-Fashioned Stew

2 pounds shank or neck of beef
4 tablespoons flour
Salt and pepper
6 small onions
6 small carrots
3 turnips, quartered.

Have the meat cut into 2-inch cubes. Dredge it with flour and brown in hot lard. Season. Cover with hot water and allow to cook slowly until done. Forty-five minutes before serving, add the vegetables and season. Cover tightly and allow them to steam. Fifteen minutes before serving add the dumplings, cover and do not uncover until they are done. More water may be added as needed but do not add so much that the dumplings must rest on liquid. They are much better if they rest on meat or vegetables and are allowed to steam.

CCC BOYS TO CAMP

Twelve white and three negro men from Scott county will report at 10 o'clock this morning to district CCC camps. The white men will be quartered at the New Madrid camp and the negroes at Delta.

The municipal water system of Lamar, county seat of Barton County ranks as one of the most complete filtration and treating systems in the state. The town has had not a case of typhoid fever in the past twenty years where city water was used exclusively.

An interesting hobby is that of Captain John Campbell, who retired from river work in 1928 after 49 years of service on the Missouri River. Captain Campbell is a violin maker and to date has completed sixteen instruments "each one better than the last" to quote a friend and neighbor. Wooldridge, a small village of Cooper County, is the ancestral home of Captain Campbell, his great-grandfather, William A. Campbell having settled there in 1812.

The Sikeston Standard $2 per year

In the days preceding the Civil War, Ulysses S. Grant, who later commanded the northern forces and finally became President of the United States, was a farmer near St. Louis and frequently sold wood in the city. The log cabin which he built with his own hands and in which he lived is still preserved. The cabin stands today about a mile from its original site near the entrance to Grant's farm the country place of wealthy St. Louisans.

A careful estimate prepared by the Missouri State Highway Department indicated that tourists in a single year leave more than $21,000,000 in the state.

Tanner Corn Club

The 4-H Corn Club in the Tanner community held its regular meeting April 2 at the Tanner school. The subject of discussion was "Where to secure seed and how to test it". Mr. Gasser demonstrated how to test seed corn, using the "rag doll' tester. Each member is to test his own individual seed and compare the test with the seed used by the other members.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. Gasser, club leader, and the subject of discussion at this meeting will be "Selection of seed corn."

The seventh annual National 4-H Girls' Style Revue in which 40 or more state champions will compete for final honors is to feature the National Club Congress in Chicago November 27—December 5 to be held in connection with the International Live Stock Exposition.

Every 4-H girl in this county and state may compete in this great educational contest. To do so she must be enrolled in a clothing or sewing project and make and model one of four classes of outfits. They are a wash dress for school or sport wear—a wool or rayon dress or suit for school—a best dress— and an informal party dress. She also must select her shoes and other accessories for the outfit which is judged for neatness, modesty, attractiveness, economy and other points. The girl may obtain the materials and articles anywhere she chooses. Score cards and other details may be obtained by local leaders from the county extension agent.

Although the experience a girl gains in the contest is alone worth the effort she puts in, many attractive prizes are offered as incentives for her to take part. They start with a beautiful, specially desined gold medal of honor and three silver medals for county champions. The state winner in each of the four types of outfits receives an elegant silver bracelet, while the state champion wins a trip with all expenses to the National Revue in Chicago.

Each of the four class winners in Chicago receives a 17-jewel gold watch, and the national winner a special gold medal, all prizes being provided by the Chicago Mail Order company, sponsor of the contest which is conducted by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work in co-operation with state and federal extension agents.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sherrard of San Diego, Calif., are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Morris, and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sherrard. Paul is with the U. S. Navy. They will be here for several weeks.

A large crowd was in attendance at the Baptist church Thursday evening to hear the Red Star Baptist quartet sing their songs, and singing was both beautiful and impressive.

Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Gray report a son born to them Friday March 27.

We were sorry to learn of the illness of Mrs. Harry Fox, formerly of Morehouse, but now living in Nodwalk, Calif.

L. M. Holmes and Miss Maude Crowell of Sikeston were married Saturday night by Rev A. C. Sullivan at his home in this city.

Mrs. W. D. Davis is seriously ill in Poplar Bluff, her husband W. D. Davis is Superintendent of the Missouri Pacific, R. R. Bridge crew, and they have been stationed in this town different times, for several weeks at a time and have many friends here who love them dearly. His train has been called into Poplar Bluff, where he can be with Mrs. Davis.

Mrs. J. T. Yeakey returned home Sunday from the Brandon hospital in Poplar Bluff, and is getting along nicely.

A birthday party was given Wednesday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Hall in honor of Mr. Hall and his daughter, Miss Jewell Hall of New Madrid. Several friends were present and enjoyed a social evening together. Refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served.

PAUL JONES' PARAGRAPHUS IN DUNKLIN CO. DEMOCRAT

Some one has said that gasoline and alcohol do not mix, but one thing certain when an attempt is made to mix the two, something usually happens, and the four who were in the truck which was wrecked east of Kennett Sunday afternoon can thank their lucky stars they are alive today.

It is a shame that all of us do not have the common sense shown by a certain salesman who was in Kennett some few months ago, and who was getting ready to drive to Hayti one night. He was at the hotel looking for someone to drive his car for him. The man seemed to be perfectly sober, but he said, "I am not drunk, but I have had a couple of drinks this evening, and I have made a solemn promise to myself that I will never attempt to drive an automobile after I have had as much as even one drink."

Now that's my idea of a sensible man. While some persons will contend that a drink "braces them up," that it steadies their nerves, and otherwise has a stimulating effect, it has been my experience that it also alters a man's judgement, and furthermore, after a man has had a few drinks he is not capable of knowing at just what point he ceases to be able to exercise all of his faculties which are necessary to drive with care.

It is my opinion that if every person who has occasion to drive an automobile would take the same attitude of the salesman who refrains from driving after he has had even one drink, the number of accidents would be greatly decreased.

This is not a temperance lecture, and it is not the plea of a prohibitionist, but it is merely a suggestion which seems to me to fit in with our national safety campaign which is being conducted throughout the nation.

"It may have been just a coincident and probably was, but on opening a popular magazine the first full page ad was of a popular brand of Kentucky Booze, and the next was of a high powered automobile which was followed by a half page description of a travel accident policy and believe it or not the very next ad told where tombstones could be purchased on easy payments. A most significant sequence."

LUPER HEADS SCOTT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Carl O. Luper was elected president of the Scott County Association at a meeting of the board of directors Saturday morning. Arthur Schiwitz was elected vice-president. Mr. Luper will act as chairman and Mr. Schiwitz will act as vice-chairman of the county committee. Evin Burke was elected as a member of the county committee and Otto Diebold as alternate. F. B. Veatch, Jr., county agent, was selected as secretary of the Association and Mrs. Hortense Watkins was elected as treasurer.

Field work will start this week. Community committeemen will visit individual farms for the purpose of executing work sheets. Owing to the necessity for a rapid start, committeemen will probably work by themselves when assisting with the work sheets.

SCOUTS WILL DISTRIBUTE DRIVERS' SAFETY PLEDGES

Mr. Bruton said Scouts will go through town Saturday asking motorists to sign pledges and then placing stickers on their cars to show they are co-operating with the junior chamber's campaign.

The work of distributing pledges was delayed temporarily because of the organization of the Southeast Missouri public safety council Mr. Bruton heads.

STILLBORN SON BORN TO D. D. ELLISES ON MONDAY

A stillborn son was born at 9:30 Monday night to the Rev. and Mrs. D. D. Ellis. He had been named ohn Stanaland Ellis.

Short funeral services were conducted at the Ellis home at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. C. V. Farrell, pastor of the Malden Presbyterian church, assisted by the Rev. B. R. Schwegler. Interment was in the city cemetery with Dempster service.

Mrs. Ellis' condition is as satisfactory as can be expected.

PLEAS MALCOLM HEADS STARK-FOR-GOVERNOR CLUB

Jefferson City, April 8.—Pleas M. Malcolm of Sikeston has been named as Scott county chairman of the Salesmen's Stark-for- Governor club, it was announced this week by Carl A. Barnert, of St. Louis, president.

Mr. Malcolm, it is expected, will announce his plans for the formation of a county Stark-for-Governor club within a few days. State headquarters already has supplied him with membership cards and campaign buttons.

In making this announcement, Barnert pointed out that it costs nothing to join the club and that, unlike most organizations engaged in political activities, the Salesmen's Stark-for-Governor club is being organized by people who are devoted solely to the candidacy of Major Lloyd C. Stark for Governor.

"Regardless of his political affiliations," Barnert said, "anyone who desires an outstanding business man and civic leader as Governor of Missouri can join our club. We are particularly proud that hundreds of our members come from that great body of independent voters whose common sense determines the way they mark their ballots."

TWO MEN DISQUALIFIED FOR POOR WRESTLING

Two rough wrestlers harried two clean, straight ones at the American Legion matches in the armory Tuesday night. Both were disqualified after winning and losing one fall each.

Bobby Sampson, a new fellow the fans liked, won the first fall of the preliminary in twenty-two minutes and lost the second in seventeen to Floyd Byrd. Byrd was disqualified after seven minutes of the next round for his bad tactics, which included making several passes at Mike Meroney, the referee.

Freddie Knickle took a lot of punishment from Ole Alsen in the main event, chiefly enduring mouth stretching and eye gouging. Olsen won the first fall in seventeen minutes with a crab hold and lost the second in four minutes when Knickle started a series of kangaroo kicks. Olsen was disqualified after eight minutes of the third round.

Olsen will return next Tuesday to wrestle the popular Canadian, Roy Welch for the main event. In the preliminary, Charley Layden of Chicago will meet Billy Venable, a new 186-pound wrestler of Denver, Colo.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN DISTRICT MEET SOON

A district convention of Democratic women will be held in Caruthersville on Saturday, April 25, it was announced this week. Mrs. O. E. Rigdon of Chaffee, the tenth congressional district president, will outline features of the program soon.

HOUSE FURNISHINGS

FELT BASE RUGS STEPPING OUT

Despite the cold weather of late our floor covering specials are stepping out lively. If you doubt it take a look at the big front windows and note the blank spots that were covered with merchandise when the sale started. Prices on 9 x 12 felt base rugs begin at $3.75. On that basis every housekeeper should get the needed supply.

NEW WOOL RUGS—BEAUTIFUL—REASONABLY PRICED

Our entire force is enthusiastic about patterns and quality in the new ideas. Alexander Smith products are second to none and our racks are full of them. Firth Hooked Rugs are also here in beautiful patterns. You may have an odd size room to cover. If so, talk to us about it. We take such orders on a guarantee of satisfaction and have not failed in any instance.

AND THIS IS NO APRIL FOOL

With the aid of the Lammert Furniture Company of St. Louis we are covering S. E. Mo., this week with April circulars showing an assortment of spring bargains in home furnishings that are away out of the ordinary. Lammerts are recognized as the leading wholesalers of the Mississippi Valley and we value our connection with them highly. For downright beauty and value their April offerings as shown on this sheet are unbeatable. And bear in mind please there is not a piece advertised that we can not furnish at the price named, right out of our store. WE HAVE WHAT WE ADVERTISE.

PROOF OF THE PUDDING

Gifted talkers and high pressure salesmen are not required this year in selling genuine Frigidaires. Prospective customers sell themselves after they see and understand the workings of the new METER-MISER. An electric meter is hooked up with a Frigidaire in our store. The Frigidaire is full of meat, vegetables, milk and other foods, just as it would be in a home. The meter is an instrument which is easily read. Results in operating cost may be figured in one minute. Our only comment at this time is that no electric refrigerator made will keep the inside temperature as low on as little current as the 1936 Frigidaire with the METER-MISER. THE PROOF IS HERE FOR YOU. YOU DON'T HAVE TO TAKE SOMEBODY'S WORD FOR IT.

CONSTANT SERVICE—VALUABLE

Buyers of electric refrigerators, no matter what brand they select, should carefully consider the advantages of having a real service man handy when adjustments become necessary. The Frigidaire Company maintain official service in Sikeston which is under Company supervision twelve months in the year. Mechanics who take care of calls are highly schooled in Frigidaire requirements. Our firm is also on the job every day to see that customers get the service that is promised when sales are made. Think it over.

SPEAKING FURTHER OF REFRIGERATION

Farm homes, village homes, summer cottages, wayside eating places, all may now have modern refrigeration without electric current by the amazing new ELECTROLUX which is operated with ordinary kerosene. The work of a small coal oil flame is almost magical—almost unbelievable but it does the work—and at a cost of only a few cents a day. See the 1936 models at our place. Plenty of time to pay.

If Man's Heart You Would Please Serve Him Pie of Cottage Cheese

FEW housewives appreciate the diversity of uses for Cottage Cheese in the daily menu. To enumerate just a few of the tempting array of dishes that can be made with Cottage Cheese would make almost any person hungry.

Perhaps the many types of salads in which Cottage Cheese is so popular has caused housewives in many instances to limit its use to this form. There are, however, many other delightful ways in which this delicacy may be served.

One of the most tempting forms in which to prepare this nourishing food is in a Cottage Cheese Pie. You will discover it has an appetizing goodness that is difficult to surpass. Ask your milkman to leave a jar of Cottage Cheese or order a jar from your grocer, and then try this recipe. You will wish to add it to your list of favorite pie recipes.

Cottage Cheese Pie

- 1½ cups Cottage Cheese
- 4 tablespoons melted butter
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon flour
- grated rind of 1 lemon
- 2 egg yolks (unbeaten)
- ½ cup raisins
- ½ cup chopped nuts

Combine in the order given, mix thoroughly and pour into an unbaked pie shell. Bake at 400 degrees for ten minutes then reduce temperature to 350 degrees and continue baking until filling is firm. (About 30 minutes.) Fresh fruits such as cherries and currants may be used in place of raisins, if desired. This recipe is sufficient to fill an 8-inch pie shell.

SIKESTON STANDARD

Southeast Missouri's Leading Semi-Weekly

THE EDITOR SAYS—

In the absence of Mayor Fuchs, in attendance at the Lumber Convention in Cape Girardeau, Lon Swanner, while still under the influence of victory, took it upon himself to take over the perogatives of Mayor Fuchs and proceeded to order Bill Cox to vacate the house near the city cemetery and discharge him as grave digger; told Jim Winchester to turn in his push cart, broom and shovel, that he was fired and had a man to report for his job; gave orders to the Robinson Lumber Co., to deliver a carload of cement for North street; gave orders to WPA officials to either pave North street or fill up the hole. Mayor Fuchs was called home from the Cape to keep Swanner from firing the City Council, the Board of Public Works, and perhaps the WPA for not filling up the hole on the North street. Victory is hell, and worse when it makes a man believe he has more authority than old Grant ever had.

It is hard to say whether the intelligentsia won or the intelligentsia lost in the recent city election. However, somebody was outsmarted.

We would like very much for some one with a good lead pencil who is good at figures, to tell us just about the population of Sikeston within the city limits with the vote cast last Tuesday in the city election as a basis. There were 2997 votes counted which should put Sikeston in the ten thousand class according to statistics. As a former distinguished Sikestonian once said, after the defeat of his ticket, "it looks like the damn people intend to rule."

Easter Sunday was a beautiful day, the sun shining bright and Easter clothes in evidence. It was a busy day with the editor and the Missus. She attended early mass enjoyed the service and beautiful flowers and contributed her mite. We put out twenty dahlia bulbs in the forenoon and attended the 11:00 service at the Methodist church, listened to the children's, youths' and Misses' choirs, dressed in white robes, led by Mrs. Orear, noted the wonderful decoration of Easter lilies and other beautiful flowers, listened as carefully as we could to the sermon, contributed in a way to the fund, was greeted by well-wishers who seemed to be surprised that we came out, and felt like we would like to be a better man. Then home where a very splendid dinner was served with Mary, and her family of DeSoto, and Charlie and his family present to help us pick the bones of two chickens that cost $3.25. To settle our dinner, we put out nineteen more dahlia bulbs, rested, then to the Baptist church in the evening to witness a pageant directed by Mrs. Ogilvie. The singing was satisfying and the pageant pleasant. We know who was the prettiest actress, but we are not saying. Here again we were happy to place our bit in the hat. We were asked if we were not ashamed to put out the flowers on Sunday, but we were not. They were put out in the hope and belief they would bring happiness and good cheer to those who are sick and cannot come out to hear the messages and prayers given by priest and preacher, and these flowers delivered in person with words of encouragement may offset on the day of judgment the thought of working on Sunday, which was a labor of love.

The Standard is in receipt of an anonymous letter telling of the crookedness of the late city election, of the illegal votes cast, and a mess of other stuff that seems to be true. If the writer will come in and sign his name to the article we might consider publishing same, but as the election is over we hesitate to use our columns for further agitation. If our anonymous letter writer can prove what he writes, it would be the right thing to do to have some arrests made and get someone on the way to the penitentiary at the earliest possible date.

The Board of Equalization or review in session today should check up on the property of white people who make a business of building and renting cabins to negroes for gain, and raise the valuation of the property to at least half the rent secured from this source. Those who have the cabins for their own servants should not come under such valuation raise. Several property owners in the residential sections of the city have from three to six families living on their premises and their property valuation should certainly be raised. And, again, Sunset addition was set aside for these people, and there they should be housed, given better streets, more electric lights, fire protection and full police protection. We are unable to find out just how permits were gotten for these cabins, but the back yards and alleys should be cleaned out or valuation raised. Some folks won't like this suggestion.

EMILY BLANTON ENGAGED TO LARRY HATFIELD

Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Blanton announce the engagement of their daughter, Emily Ann, to Larry Hatfield of St. Louis, a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Hatfield of Sikeston.

The wedding will take place at the home of the prospective bride's parents at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, May 31. The Rev. E. H. Orear, pastor of the Methodist church, will read the service.

Miss Blanton attended Blue Mountain College at Blue Mountain, Miss., for two years after her graduation from the Sikeston high school. She has also been enrolled at summer sessions of the Kirksville and the Cape Girardeau state teachers' colleges. She taught two years at the Blodgett consolidated school and since last fall has been a second grade instructor at the Sikeston grammar school.

Mr. Hatfield attended school in St. Louis. He is now employed in the office of Swift & Company in St. Louis, where the couple will live.

Washington Comment

Congress continues to busy itself with routine affairs which, after all, are things that have to receive attention. If the members of the chief legislative body were kept continually at the pitch represented by Daniel Webster's reply to Mr. Haynes, a Congressman could last no longer than a session or two. When such matters as old age pensions or building more war ships come up, the public takes notice, but is inclined to think that at other times Congress is asleep or playing golf. Representatives get little credit for the daily grind, which is as tiresome on Capitol Hill as in the store, office or workshop. Though foreign affairs, especially insofar as they relate to our island possessions, are receiving attention, and although banking and commerce always furnish problems that require new or amended laws, tax legislation perhaps is the load that burdens congressional shoulders most just now. Committee hearings sometimes on taxes sometimes have been red hot of late. Speaking of taxes, who would want to be a Representative at the present time? On the one hand, money for the conduct of the federal government must be provided, but that argument does not have a great deal of force in winning the vote of a wavering constituent whose pocket is shallow and empty; and it is to be recalled that election is coming on. Someone should invent a system of fiscal dentistry by which the individual tax tooth can be extracted without pain.

The Hauptmann case is surrounded by a desert of talk. Amid the dreary waste of contention and debate, the department of Doctor Condon constitutes a welcome and cooling oasis. He is one of the few who has no comment to make.

Italy has prepared a decree making training in aviation compulsory for all young men whose brains and bodies fit them for the task. This should not be passed over casually as a mere war measure. The time will come when operating a flying machine will mean no more than driving an auto. Millions now living can remember the time when the owner of a new flivver brought the blush of shame to the cheeks of his neighbors by inquiring haughtily: "Do you drive a car?"

Hungary has forbidden the singing of a song that prompted a score of dwellers in that land to committ suicide. Not a little of the music that is poured into the ears of listeners in the United States makes them yearn to kill the composer. Possibly we too are in need of the restraining hand of the law.

Mr. Hitler has been upheld in another election, about 98 per cent of the votes cast being in his favor. The tickets contained no space in which to record disapproval and blank ballots were thrown out. The referendum indicates, nevertheless, that Germany is satisfied with her leader; but the method of voting reminds one just a little of the cry of the man who used to follow the county affairs: "Walk up, ladies and gents. No blanks on the board."

A few months ago, a Persian diplomat drove his car at too high a speed through a Maryland village and was taken in charge by the police. He claimed diplomatic immunity from arrest, was released and apologies were tendered. Now the ruler of Persia has recalled all representatives of his government in the United States because the state department of this country will not suppress newspapers which intimated that a speeding diplomat ought, in justice, to be handled like any other speeder. The action of the Shan of Persia indicates that Persia has a distorted view point and is but partly civilized. Though hardly couched in the language of diplomacy, a note reading "Go chase yourself" seems to be what the situation deamnds.

NO FINES TO BE STAYED IN CITY COURT THIS TERM

No fines will be stayed in police court, Judge Brown Jewell announced this week.

Jewell said persons who are fined must either pay or work on the city streets. If a defendant who pleads guilty has a job and is able to pay a fine later, Jewell will allow him to fill a reliable bond and then will defer sentence. Jewell said he will also try to collect all outstanding fines on the police court books.

Robert Lee, who was arrested Wednesday night, pled guilty Friday to a charge of being drunk and disorderly and was fined $8.

Sentence was deferred until April 25 on the case of James Lacy, who was arrested Friday on a charge of fighting with Thomas Vaught. Lacy made bond. A warrant has been issued for Vaught but he had not been arrested by Monday afternoon.

Jewell issued a commitment Friday for Lowell Grissom, who was fined $10 March 30 when he was brought into court and charged with drunkenness. He is now in jail.

Ward Grocery to Open Soon

Workmen were busy last week-end and Monday remodeling the South Kingshighway rooms formerly occupied by the Southside grocery and cage for the grocery store Carr Ward of Poplar Bluff will open soon. Shelves were installed and some stock brought in. Ward owns thirty-three stores in this district.

NINE CHILDREN BAPTIZED AT METHODIST CHURCH

They are William Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harper; Anna Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hollenbeck; Edwin Joseph, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Malone; Elizabeth Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ross; James Harlan and Betty Louise, children of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Mahew; Margaret Alice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Marshall; Samuel Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Tanner; and Jerry McMullin, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Conatser.

COUNTY SOCIAL WORKERS ARE RESPONSIBLE TO MRC

Welfare workers for counties continuing services under the Missouri relief commission "will be wholly responsible" to the commission, Wallace Crossley, the state administrator, said in an open letter to relief heads.

"Any deviation from, or violation of the rules and regulations of the commission governing its various activities will constitute a reason for withdrawal of any commission support," he announced. "We must keep faith with Washington,—merit a continuance of government aid."

Crossley briefly outlined the work of county welfare officers for which they will be responsible to the commission, mentioning commodities they may give either to employables or unemployable families or individuals for whom a relief need has been established. WPA families and old age pensions are not eligible to receive commodities, he said. Neither are persons who received rural rehabilitation grants except when production commodities included in the budget estimates were not available in the county relief offices before cases were closed.

County welfare workers also certified persons to WPA, refer them to RRA, and enroll them in CCC camps in accordance with policies already established.

"We recognize that the activities for which the county social worker is responsible to the commission will require only a portion of his or her time," Crossley said in closing. "Therefore, those services requested by the county court, or sponsoring agency, in connection with relief or service to needy persons in the county should be performed. It is the desire of the commission to work in harmony and in close co-operation with the county courts of the on with the county courts of state," he added, "and we feel sure that the courts will uphold the social workers in their endeavors to follow strictly all rules and regulations imposed upon the commission by the government. To become lax, or inefficient, or to yield to local pressure in the designation of relief clients, certification, selection of CCC enrollees, etc., would endanger the entire program and might deprive Missouri of government aid and participation in certain governmental activities.

WPA Approves Unit of Storm Sewer Project

C. L. Blanton, Jr., announced Monday that he has rectived notice of presidential approval on one unit of Sikeston's $205,000 WPA storm sewer project.

The approved unit project provides for the manufacture and installation of 1138 feet of sewer main in the north part of town. One thousand one hundred and thirty-eight dollars are now available to start work on the project, which will require $29,264 for completion. Mr. Blanton said, however, he will not ask for release of funds until May. Present allocation of money for new and old projects is sufficient to keep WPA employes at work this month.

According to plans prepared last fall by Harvey Johnson, the engineer in charge of city WPA projects, the sewer will be started at Grove and Park avenues with a thirty-six-inch reinforced concrete pipe of the lockjoint type. The pipe will be increased to forty-two inches, extending to Park and Woodlawn and angle under the northwest corner of the athletic field to Bulldog street, then east and under Highway 61 to an open ditch.

If funds are available, laterals will be laid to drain North Kingshighway, North Ranney, Center, Lake, and Tanner streets, and in the future, the line may be extended north to serve a large territory along North Kingshighway now uninhabitated.

Work will begin on the north outfall because laborers may start constructing the open ditch during the time required to make and cure sufficient pipe for the main line. The WPA intends to contract with a relaible pipe manufacturer for the precasting of the pipe at a central plant near the south section outfall sewer, using Sikeston WPA labor.

The city has already agreed to contribute from municipal funds $3229.60, which represents the sponsor's share for the entire project. City money will be spent for these items: Cement, $1965.60; sand, $225; gravel, $139; and lumber, $900.

Hayti Child Hurt In Unavoidable Accident

Three-year-old Byron Jackson Masterson was recovering in the Southeast Missouri hospital at Cape Girardeau last week-end of a fracture of the skull and of the left clavical bone in the shoulder, sustained when he was struck down by Miss Maxine Husher's car as he ran across Malone avenue in front of the Marshall hotel Thursday evening. Byron is a son of H. Byron Masterson of Hayti, a state high school inspector, and Mrs. Masterson.

Physicians described the child's condition as serious but not critical after he regained consciousness Friday morning. He had also suffered lacerations on his head and thigh.

The accident happened when Byron left his mother and Mrs. Louis Largent, and her daughter, Mary Lou, and ran into the street. He was thrown several feet as Miss Husher's car hit him. The Largents and the Mastersons had just finished eating dinner in the Marshall hotel coffee shop.

Miss Husher told highway patrolmen that she did not see Byron until he had run directly in front of her Chevrolet sedan. She stopped as soon as she could, but she was unable to keep from striking him. The accident was termed unavoidable.

The Mastersons had been in Sikeston all Thursday so that Mr. Masterson could visit the schools. Trooper Melvin Dace took Byron to the hospital.

Work On Five New WPA Jobs To Start In May

Presidential approval of five new WPA projects for Southeast Missouri communities was announced Monday by C. L. Blanton, Jr., ninth area WPA director. Work on the new undertakings will not be started until May.

They are:

Raze two-story high and elementary school building and construct new combined one-story high and elementary school and gymnasium building, landscape and grade grounds, and build retaining walls at Ellsinore in Carter county. The project is to cost $41,751; $1132 has been released.

Build addition to the present Charter Oak school in Stoddard county and paint the entire structure. One thousand one hundred and thirty-three dollars has been set aside to begin work on the project, which will require $3210.

Build accessory school building 40 by 80 feet at Glennonville, Dunklin county. The project will cost $5881 and $1136 has been allotted to start it.

Grade, build drainage structure, and gravel surface North Sprigg street in Cape Girardeau between Washington and Pearl streets. $1139 has been released; the project will cost $4576.

Plant trees and shrubs and work along Highway 61 in Cape Girardeau, New Madrid, and Pemiscot counties. $1128 of the $6783 needed has been allocated for the project. The part of Highway 61 in Scott county was landscaped by the highway department last summer.

Mr. Blanton has received an additional $2573 for work on the Chaffee streets.

INTERMEDIATE G. A. TO MEET TONIGHT

The Intermediate G. A. of the First Baptist church will meet at the home of Shirley Jean Smith this (Tuesday) evening. All members are invited to be present.

STOLEN CAR FOUND

A 1935 Ford V-8 stolen Friday night from its parking place by the Gables was found Saturday morning on a rural road by Hart's cemetery, where it had been abandoned. It was damaged from being driven into a stump. Officers arrested but later released two suspects. The car was owned by Mitchell-Sharp Chevrolet Company and was being driven by R. D. Clayton at the time of the theft.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Tweddle of St. Louis, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Scott.

Sam Graham and Miss Mildred Simmons of the Graham Beauty Shop, and Mrs. Opai Brady of Illmo, went to Memphis, Monday afternoon to attend the Midwest Beauty Convention at the Peabody Hotel. They will return here Wednesday.

The condition of Mrs. Jack Johnson, who underwent an operation at St. Francis hospital in Cape Girardeau nearly two weeks ago, is not satisfactory at this time. An infection in the operated area has developed and caused high temperature. The operating surgeon has assured Mr. Johnson that the condition is not yet alarming.

ISSUES LAST APPEAL FOR FLOOD DONATIONS

By now, Scott countians have donated only about $85, and Mr. Orear is anxious that the remainder be subscribed so that it may be forwarded to Red Cross headquarters for immediate use. Several business firms and individuals here have failed to contribute.

Mr. and Mrs. Giles Dover and family departed for their home in New York City, Monday, after a ten-days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dover.

Mrs. Woolard Baker and two children returned to their home in Memphis Sunday after a week-end visit with Mrs. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dover.

Mrs. Charles Matthews, III, little daughter, Dot, and Mrs. Anna Winchester drove to Cairo Saturday, where they met Mrs. Robt. Lillard of Arlington, Ky., and little Ann Stokes, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Stokes, of Mayfield, Ky., who visited here until Tuesday. Mrs. Lillard was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Matthews, and Ann Stokes visited her grandmother, Mrs. Winchester.

The Monday night club will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Mow, Sr., this week.

POPLAR BLUFF NEWSPAPER PUBLISHER IS HONORED

Prominent newspaper publishers and educators of the state went to Poplar Bluff Friday evening to celebrat with members of the Daily American Republic staff the formal opening of their new home.

John Wolpers, the American Republic publisher, Mrs. Wolpers, and staff members were guests of honor at a dinner arranged by Mayor J. C. Allen and Guy Cahill, president of the Poplar Bluff Chamber of Commerce.

As the principal speaker, Secretary of State Dwight H. Brown reviewed the history of newspaper publishing in Poplar Bluff and praised Mr. Wolpers for his successful attempt to give Poplar Bluff and a large district surrounding it a splendid newspaper. Brown, a resident of Poplar Bluff, published a daily paper there until he began devoting his time exclusively to politics.

Dean Frank L. Matron of the University of Missouri's school of journalism, said the America Republic is one of the best newspapers in the United States for a town the Bluff's size and commended Mr. Wolpers for the paper's excellent quality and progressive spirit.

Other speakers were Fred Naeter, co-publisher of The Southeast Missourian in Cape Girardeau, and Dr. Frederick A. Middlebush, president of the University of Missouri.

Guests at the banquet included Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Blanton, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Blanton, Jr., Cletus Shell, and Eli Williams of Sikeston; R. C. Goshorn, publisher of the Jefferson City Tribune and president of the Missouri Press Association; C. W. Keller, field representative of the Missouri Press Association; James Todd and W. T. Van Cleve of the Moberly Democrat; C. E. Watkins of the Chillicothe Constitution; J. H. Anderson, Associated Press correspondent in St. Louis; Mrs. Frederick A. Middlebush and Mrs. Frank L. Martin of Columbia; Dr. T. W. H. Irion, head of the school of education at the University of Missouri, and Mrs. Irion; Dr. W. W. Parker, president of the Cape Girardeau teachers' college, and Mrs. Parker; Dean Vest C. Myers of the College and Mrs. Myers; Dr. S. A. Kruse and Professor and Mrs. A. C. Magill of the college; and many Southeast Missouri newspaper publishers.

Mr. Wolpers, a graduate of the Cape college, first became associated with a Poplar Bluff newspaper in 1916. He started a daily in 1923 and, in 1928 he consolidated Republican and Democratic dailies into one of non-partisan platform. The new building is one bought last summer. It has been fitted with all of the most modern newspaper plant equipment.

GERTRUDE CRUMPECKER WED TO GLENN LAMPLEY

Miss Gertrude Crumpecker, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crumpecker of near Morehouse, and Glenn Lampley, a son of Mrs. E. W .Gibson of Cape Girardeau, were married Friday morning at the First Baptist church in Cape Girardeau.

The Rev. Franklin D. Owen, pastor of the Oak Ridge Baptist church, performed the ceremony. Miss Francina Peters and Joe Delassus were attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Lampley left immediately after the wedding trip. Next week they will be at home in the Leonora apartments in Cape Girardeau.

Mrs. Lampley went to Cape Girardeau to work as a stenographer for the Himmelberger-Harrison Manufacturing Company after attending school in Morehouse and a business college at Poplar Bluff Mr. Lampley was a prominent footpall player both at the Cape Central high school and at the teachers' college, from which he graduated in 1934. He is now a state highway patrolman assigned to the Sikeston office.

SERVES ATTACHMENT TO CLOSE FOX STORE

The Fox Drygoods and Food Store was closed at 6 o'clock Thursday evening when Sheriff Joe Anderson served an attachment for the Sieloss Packing Company of St. Louis. The store owed Sieloss $700 for meat.

Sheriff Anderson found only $6.35 in the store's four cash registers. Friday morning, Blanton & Montgomery, Sieloss' attorneys, obtained a court order for sale of perishable merchandise, and later in the day Anderson auctioned $175 worth of meats and vegetables. The rest of the stock will be held in the store. The suit is scheduled to be heard in circuit court during the August term.

Late Friday afternoon, Blanton & Montgomery filed a petition in involuntary bankruptcy against the store for the McKnight-Keaton Grocery Company, the Goddard Grocery Company, and Winchester, Incorporated, whom Fox owed about $1000. Ernest Harper was appointed temporary receiver. The store's debts are understood to total $15,000.

Herbert E. Fox opened a store here the first of March after closing drygoods businesses in Wyatt and Charleston. Last week he closed his Charleston grocery and moved merchandise here. Senator J. C. McDowell is Fox' attorney.

Safety Meeting Postponed

Because Sunday was Easter, a meeting of the Southeast Missouri public safety council planned for then has been postponed until next Sunday, April 19. Members of all Sikeston's civic club safety committees are asked to attend.

SIKESTON STANDARD

C. L. BLANTON, EDITOR

MEMBER 1936

ISSUED TUESDAY AND FRIDAY AT SIKESTON, MISSOURI

Rates:
Reading notices, per line . 10c
Bank Statements $10,00
Yearly Subscription in Scott and the adjoining counties $2.00
Yearly subscription elsewhere in the United States $2.50

The Standard's sanctum sanctorum was signally honored Saturday forenoon by visits from Hon. Frank Martin, dean of the School of Journalism, University of Missouri; Hon. R. C. Goshorn, president of the Missouri Press Association; Chick Keller, executive secretary of the Missouri Press Association; James Todd and Mr. Vancleve, of the Moberly Index-Monitor; George Johnston, of the Fulton Sun; and C. E. Watkins, of the Chillicothe Constitution. These gentlemen viewed The Standard's art gallery, but without alarm. It was our pleasure to show these gentlemen the interior of our beautiful bank building, and to do as much bragging on our city and community as they would stand for.

A man said Sikeston was twenty-five years ahead of the times in building and business and twenty-five years behind the times in streets and sewerage. All of which is true. Sikeston folks should snap out of this situation and Council and civic organizations should get together and see if there isn't some way that a forward move can be made to remedy this situation. Why couldn't each of the Wards be divided into districts, like special road districts, and vote bonds or tax bills for sewers? Then the Council already has the authority to levy a tax of 65 cents per running foot for street maintenance which would soon pay for paving, in fact if something could be done immediately the WPA could pay most of the bill. All of this just a suggestion as we are interested in surface drainage and to have another paved street on the other side of our property.

Sunday was Easter. Every preacher took special care with his sermon, which was a waste of time because the minds of ma and the girls were on their new clothes while the mind of poor pa was on what they cost.

Sikeston needs a registration law the worst possible way, and we believe the voters of Sikeston would be glad to have the council pass such a law at the earliest possible moment. Such a law would save a lot of confusion and a lot of charges and counter-charges that are made locally after every election.

It would be hard for any opponent of the New Deal to convince Rufus Underhill and John T. Harper that times are not better today for the farmers than they were four years ago under the Hoover administration. In talking with these men this week we learned that Rufus sold a ham a few days ago that brought him $7.80. In contrast with this price for only a small part of a hog he recalled that in 1932 he sold a sow and 9 good pigs for six dollars and that the purchaser insisted on delivery before paying that much. John Harper delivered 236 bushels of corn to Sikeston a few days ago for $236.00. He recalled that a few years ago the best offer he could get for good corn was 20c a bushel. With this substantial evidenre in their jeans there's no need for any G. O. P. exponent to try to convince them with pure verbage.—Bloomfield Vindicator.

Rattlesnake sandwiches were eaten by a large number of Paris men and boys last Friday afternoon. They were made from canned rattlesnake meat that was brought from Florida by M. E. Buerk. Mr. Buerk paid $1.50 per can for the meat and the cans were quite small. He did not go to that expense just for the fun of the thing but in order to sustain his reputation for truth and veracity. After a previous trip to Florida Martin told about rattlesnake meat being on sale down there. He was laughed to scorn by unbelieving friends. This time he let the rattlesnake meat speak for itself. It was canned in a factory at Arcadia. The snakes used are six feet long and five inches in circumference. The flavor, according to Paris men and boys who tried it last Friday, was delicious.—Paris Appeal.

Miss Alma Buchholz, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Buchholz, was married in the Lutheran church at 1:30 Sunday afternoon to Homer Suchman, a son of Mrs. Olga Suchman.

Before the Rev. Martin Cook of Chaffee, the pastor, read the service, Miss Zelma Shelby of Marmaduke, Ark., a cousin of the bride, played Wagner's Lohengrin wedding march. The auditorium was decorated with bleeding hearts, hyacinths, calla lilies and lilacs.

The bride was dressed in a white silk crepe gown of floor length. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Evelyn Rummel of DeSoto, her cousin and attendant, was dressed in a pink gown and carried pink carnations. William Suchman was groomsman for his brother.

Guests at a reception held at the P. H. Buchholz home after the wedding included these friends and relatives from out-of-town: John Suchman, a brother of the bridegroom, Miss Vera Sheedy, and Mrs. Bertha Rummel, a grandmother of the bride, all of St. Louis; Frank Bernasek and Charles Bernasek of Chester, Ill.; Alfred Moureau, a grandfather of the bridegroom, and Arnold Thies, an uncle of Ava, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wischeropp and Miss Rhoda Lorenz of DeSoto; Mrs. Ida S. Turley and Mrs. Eunice Childress of Cape Girardeau; and Edward Shelby, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Amelia Buchholz, her grandmother, of Marmaduke.

Biggest Still Confiscated

The largest still of its kind ever taken in Southeast Missouri was confiscated near Marston late Thursday and one man arrested, E. C. Liley, a member of the federal revenue squad in this district, announced. The still was a copper one of 250-gallon capacity.

LATHOMS CALLED TO IND. AFTER RELATIVE'S DEATH

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Lathom left Saturday morning for Princeton, Ind., to attend the funeral services Sunday afternoon for J. R. Brown, Mr. Lathom's brother-in-law.

Mr. Brown, a 60-year-old farmer of near Princeton, died suddenly Friday morning. He is survived only by his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Lathom returned late Sunday night.

TWO BOYS ROW DOWN DITCH TO NEW MADRID

Moore Greer, Jr., and Charles Beal had close views of the high water last week-end.

Going to the drainage ditch near the Gables Friday afternoon, they set out in a row boat Moore made several years ago and went slowly down the stream that grows larger with water from many small laterals.

Both Friday and Saturday nights they slept on the levees, but they were molested by no larger creatures than a mouse that crawled up Moore's leg one evening. Once they killed and ate a rabbit marooned on a small strip of land surrounded by flood water, and early Sunday they swam in the Mississippi river at New Madrid, where their journey ended.

G. Moore Greer met the boys at New Madrid Sunday to carry them and the boat home.

NORTH STREET PAVING TO BE COMPLETED FRIDAY

The North street block between Kingshighway and New Madrid will be half paved by noon today (Tuesday), Harvey Johnson said yesterday.

Men first begai pouring concrete Saturday but were forced to stop when rain fell. They were on duty all Monday, however, and by early afternoon had completed work on more than half of the north strip.

Paving of the south strip will be started as soon as all work of the subgrade is finished. Mr. Johnson expects North street to be completely paved by Friday unless rain falls. Later this week, excavation on North Kingshighway will be started to that paving may be begun next week.

Mrs. E. C. Matthews entertained the members of the Bergman family of Cape Girardeau, Sunday, at her home on North Kingshighway. In the afternoon, the junior members enjoyed an Easter egg hunt in the spacious grounds.

HIGHWAY EMPLOYES TO BUILD HOUSES SOON

John A. Loung issued building permits Monday to Rey Wedel and to C. C. Wilkerson, both employes at the division ten offices of the state highway office.

Wedel will construct a five-room house with bath on lot two, block five, of the high school addition at an estimated cost of $2500.

Wilkinson's five-room house with a bath and full basement is to be built on lot two, block one, of the Parkland addition. It will cost about $3500.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Matthews son Bob, and Mrs. Bettie Matthews were dinner guests of Mrs. Scott Alexander in Charleston, Sunday.

Mrs. A. C. Sikes will entertain the Friday afternoon bridge club this week in her home on South Kingshighway.

PERTINENT PARAGRAPHS FROM PARIS APPEAL

There is another interesting thing about boards of education. They seldom are composed of educated men.

Well, it does look like we righteous Democrats get all the breaks. Our latest piece of luck is in New Jersey where the antics of Governor Hoffman, a Republican, gives us an open road to victory next fall.

Public schools in both town and country have a fundamental fault. It is their indifference to spelling, punctuation, capitalization and penmanship. Too many teachers consider these things unimportant, and too few of them could make passable grades on any of these items.

We know a problem that is going to cause our Republican friends a lot of more perplexity than the problem of how to overcome Boss Pendergast here in Missouri. It is the problem of how to get any of the Republican papers in Kansas City to join with them in their comic opera war on Uncle Tom.

There's a reason why we the people do not worry because the American dollar is worth only 59c. It is because we can still buy 20 pounds of sugar or a dollar's worth of taxes with one of them. And even the rich fellers who say it is a debased dollar continue to chase it as though it were worth having. Not even Mr. Hoover would sell one of them for 99c.

The Germans have built another Zeppelin and flown it safely across the Atlantic. They have been doing this for 20 years, without the loss of a ship. England and the United States have built many Zeppelins during that time every one of which has met with disaster. The lesson, we suppose, is that we should quit trying to fly such ships or else get some honest construction jobs.

Another bad sign of the times is the passing of the goose egg, the duck egg, the turkey egg and the guinea egg as an occasional table delicacy. Back in the days of real sport our mother served each of these varieties, hard boiled, to every child at least once during the spring. They were great occasions and many were the myths that were built about each variey. We haven't seen a goose egg in twenty years. They probably would not look half as big now as the did in childhood. No little folk should be allowed to grow up without experiencing the thrill of having a hard boiled goose egg for breakfast.

In Virginia, according to press clippings we have received from a former Monroe county citizen, D. D. Pierce, the people are to vote on the matter of reducing the number of counties from 100 to 31 through a consolidation plan. This, of course, would save huge sums to the taxpayers. But the average tax-payer is about his county as he is about his school district. He would rather keep it as it is than to reduce his tax bill by increasing its size. Here in Monroe county we could effect large savings to ourselves by having 50 instead of 90 school districts, and with no harm to the cause of education, but the people would rather have little districts and big levies than big districts and little levies.

LITTLE RIVER DRAINAGE DISTRICT FILES PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY AT CAPE

The Little river drainage district has filed a petition in bankruptcy in the Cape Girardeau federal court, availing itself of the provisions of section eighty of the amended bankruptcy act recently held constitutional by the circuit court of appeals for the fifth circuit at New Orleans.

The petition shows that the district has outstanding bonds in the sum of $8,018,000. Default was made in the payment of both principal and interest on October 1, 1929.

The action was made necessary because of owners of 2.4 per cent of the outstanding bonds refused to accept the RFC debt readjustment plan, a statement by Oliver & Oliver, the district's attorneys, said. The plan provided for payment of the principal of the bonds on the basis of 30 cents on the dollar with nothing for interest.

Charleston Honor Pupils Named

Charleston, Mo., April 9.—The fifth term of the high school year ended last Friday. Those which made an average of S in all subjects and deportment, and were perfect in attendance were on the honor roll. Those which received this honor were named today. They are as follows: Seniors: Waneta Converse, Mary Louise Wright, Mary Ried Stotts; Juniors: Anita Bebout, Winston Brown, Harry Gentry, Ada Hequembourg.

111 RECRUITS REPORT TO DISTRICT CCC CAMPS

Southeast Missouri's quota of 111 white and negro CCC recruits reported Friday morning at various district CCC camps and at the United States army recruiting station in Poplar Bluff.

Butler county's twenty white men went to the station in the Bluff,. as did Dunklin's ten white recruits. Cape Girardeau county's fifteen whites were sent to the Perryville CCC camp and its two negroes to the Delta camp, as were Scott county's three negro corps members.

Ten whites from Mississippi, fifteen from New Madrid, twelve from Scott, and ten from Stoddard counties reported at the New Madrid CCC camp. Mississippi and New Madrid counties sent five negroes each, Stoddard two, and Butler, two, to the camp near Poplar Bluff.

COLLECTOR'S CASE MAY GO TO JURY

Charleston, Mo., April 10—State Auditor Forrest Smith will be asked for a detailed audit covering the past five years in the accounts of Alice G. Lee, former county treasurer, Wm. J. Melton, presiding judge of the county said today. The action will be taken, he said, in line with a request of Prosecuting Attorney James Haw.

Haw explained the information would be presented to a special grand jury, which he will ask to be called when circuit court convenes Monday.

Auditors in charge of the work here, acting on orders of their superior, said no audit more in detail than the one filed four weeks ago would be prepared. That report revealed net shortage of $57,000 in the collector's accounts.

Balanced Meals for Spring Tonic

Far better than the old-fashioned remedy of sulphur and molasses to chase away spring fever, is the assurance that your meals are entirely adequate, and just to make assurance doubly sure, let's check up on nutritional requirements.

The whole year around, according to Inez S. Wilson, home economist, the body needs and must have high-quality proteins to build and repair body tissues; it needs iron and copper for building rich red blood; it must have calcium and phosphorus for strong bones and teeth; it must have the vitamins necessary for health. In foods, this means meat, fresh vegetables and fruits, and dairy products, and then after those items are supplied enough other foods chosen as you wish to furnish the additional energy needed for the day's activity.

The value of sulphur and molasses, according to medical men, lies in its influence on the blood. However, modern scientists have learned that one of the important factors in building rich blood is the supply of iron and copper in the diet, iron because it is an essential part of red blood cells and copper because it seems to be necessary in order for iron to be assimilated by the body. Both of these elements are found in all meats, but especially in the glandular meats, such as liver, heart, and kidneys. Liver leads all other foods in its iron and copper content, and as a result is the chief blood-building food advocated in the treatment of anemia, a condition in which the red blood cells of the body are depleted.

It was an old Egyptian custom to paint the figure of an enemy on the soles of one's sandals—so he could be insulted daily by treading him under foot.

A Selected Editorial

Looks like a good year for the Democrats. A few months ago the Republicans had their day, or believed they were having it when the supreme court and Al Smith collaborated in handing out a varied assortment of attacks on the New Deal and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Some of this community's most ardent Democrats expressed worry over what they believed to be a trend away from the principles they espoused. All of them are resting easy now and express the belief the assault of the supreme court and the childish threat of Al Smith did more to make the country Roosevelt-minded than any other thing. And it is quite noticeable how anti-administration leaders are now agreeing Roosevelt is assured of another term.

Frank R. Kent, among the most bitter columinsts with regard to the president, says there is no longer worry in the high council of the Democratic party. Henry Haskell, Republican editor of the Kansas City Star, says his party will have to change its present plans if it is to get anywhere. Senator Carter Glass, Democratic insurgent who has seldom if ever agreed with Roosevelt, is now stating he will support him. And whoever the Republicans nominate to oppose Roosevelt is going to be the wrong man with a large section of his party.—Shelbina Demcrat.

There are seven ropes in a ship; they are:—manrope, headrope, handrope, footrope, bellrope, buoyrope, and diprope.

The U. S. Navy has had but four fleet actions, but in each one it captured and destroyed every enemy ship.

Deacon: "Why does you all preach that the infernal regions is covered with ice and snow?"

Parson: "Wal, if I done tole them it was everlasting fire down thar all the rheumatic niggers in my congregation would try to flock there."

NOT MANY BOLTERS

The "Democrats" who will bolt President Roosevelt are few in number, far between, and destitute of influence. It is significant that, eight months before the election, powerful leaders are declaring their fealty to the President and perhaps more significant that Republican officials are also coming out in support of the Democratic national ticket.

In California Senator Johnson is openly advocating the reelection of Mr. Roosevelt, although the Senator styles himself a Republican. The Republican Governor, Mr. Merriam, recently said something about our heaven-sent President and how necessary he was to the national well-being. Mr. Johnson might or might not need Mr. Roosevelt later on. Mr. Merriam needs him now. The fact is, the President is stronger in California than even the state political idols.

Senator Tydings of Maryland and Mayor Jackson of Baltimore are both proclaiming their loyalty, although both have differed at times with administration aims. The Senator and the Mayor are very influential men; the former, indeed, is said to have built up a most far-reaching organization. But are they as strong in Maryland as Mr. Roosevelt? It may well be questioned if they are. Students of politics who like to see things as they are recognize in the President a man having a tremendous hold on the popular imagination. He is the hope and faith of vast elements whose votes determine election results.

The Democrats need entertain no fears of a bolt of magnitude. In point of fact, self-proclaimed Democrats who berate the President so roundly are ultra-conservative Republicans. They are the very people who have so often led the Democratic party to disaster, the people responsible for the crazy idea that the Democrats could only win by courting the favor of the Tories. As our own State Chairman Aylward has said, the Democratic party is inherently progressive and forward looking, and only in this role can it succeed. It is succeeding now because it is faithful to its natural philosophy.

Politics has been reshuffled; there can be no doubt about this. Mr. Roosevelt has cut squarely across the face of all the political elements of the country. He has divested the Democratic party of the idea that it should be controlled by "Wall Street", and he has attracted to it millions of people who are interested in a measure of personal security rather than a mere political designation. The reactionaries have their party. Let them keep it. The Democrats will remain liberal and so long as liberalism guides them they will win. The prospective bolters belong in the opposition party, and they will confer a favor on the Democrats by getting out and staying out.—Missouri Democrat.

The original forest cover of the state amounted to 32,000,000 acres, or 72 per cent of the total land area. All of this land with exceptions of 3,500,000 acres was covered with good commercial timber. It is now estimated that less than 250,000 acres of virigin timber remains.

The first American flag to fly over a foreign fortress was raised on anuary 27, 1778, when the American ship Providence captured a British fort at New Providence in the West Indies. The flag was raised, guns spiked, all ammunition removed, three hundred small arms taken, twenty American prisoners of war released, and the Providence sailed with six prize vessels.

GOLF GLEANINGS

Club Secretary

Recently the golfers of Sikeston reorganized their club and adopted a new plan of organization. Murray Phillips was elected president, Ted Martin, vice-president, and George W. Kirk, secretary-treasurer. The name for the new organization is The Sikeston Golf Club.

The new organization has leased the golf grounds from the Sikeston Realty Company, the owner of this forty-acre tract, and will be responsible for the operation of the golf course for the ytar 1936.

A new mowing machine has been purchased and is now ready for operation. A Fordson tractor has been obtained and will be used to pull the tandem mowing machine. By this means, it will be possible to mow the entire course in one and a half days, whereas it formerly required four days by mule power. The course is now being rolled with a five-ton power roller brought in from Poplar Bluff for this purpose. As a result, the course can be kept in much better condition than formerly.

A group insurance policy has been taken out by the Sikeston golf club from damage suits or litigation arising from injuries sustained on the club grounds by any one. This does not protect the individual member for injuries he might inflict but does protect the club.

Twenty-five new members have joined the club and are now learning the fine points of the game. Golf is rapidly becoming the real natinoal game of America. More individuals play golf now in America than actually participate in any other form of sport, and more money is invested in golf equipment than in any other sport equipment. It is expected that an additional ten or twelve will avail themselves of the special rate of $15 for full privileges for the remainder of 1936. This offer must be accepted at the 20th of April. In addition to this special rate now open to those who desire to learn this fascinating game, several of the veteran golfers of the club have volunteered their services in teaching the beginners the game. The local club does not have a professional instructor this year, but experienced members of the club will assist the new members in acquiring the proper form.

It has also been decided by the club that ladies' memberships for the remainder of this year can be obtained for the sum of only $10. Quite a number of women have already been playing the course. It is hoped that larger numbers will become interested in the game.

Two matches have been scheduled with the strong Blytheville club, but the exact dates have not yet been agreed upon. This provides a schedule of eight matches for this season. In all probability, two additional matches will be scheduled with Dexter, Cairo, or Poplar Bluff, clubs which are not in the same division of the league.

The commercial history of Missouri presents few more phenomenally successful business careers than that of John T. Davis, whose death occurred on April 13, 1894, forty-two years ago this week. Yet this man, who is at the age of forty-nine left an estate said to be valued at nearly $20,000,000 is now almost forgotten.

Not only "one of the best known western merchants, "Mr. Davis an active investor in the three great boom projects of his day—banks, railroads, and real estate. He inherited a fortune of $3,000,000, and his remarkable success in increasing that fortune proved him a commercial genius.

Born on September 13, 1844, in St. Louis, he was educated in the public schools of the city. In 1863, he graduated from Washington University—a member of the second class to complete a four-year course at that school. Immediately afterward he went into his father's firm, the Samuel C. Davis Company, one of the oldest wholesale firms in the city.

In 1867, at the age of twenty-three, young Davis married Maria J. Filley, daughter of a former mayor of St. Louis. In this same year he was taken into partnership in the firm of which, on the death of his father some few years later, he became sole head.

From that time, Davis' career was characteristic of his energy and farsightedness as a business man. According to the customs of earlier days, the Samuel C. Davis Company under which name the firm continued to operate, sold an assortment of staple articles most in demand in the city. Young Davis, however, realizing the possibilities of specialization and foreseeing its inevitableness in industry, disposed of all side departments and confined the business to the sale of wholesale drygoods. That his action was wise was confirmed by the fact that by the '80s, according to Scharf, the drygoods trade in St. Louis had expanded from humble transactions until it offered a market surpassed by none in the country.

Davis, together with several of his friends, then organized the St. Louis Trust Company in which he became the largest stockholder. Later he was made the vice-president of the State Bank, and still later he acquired stock in other corporations.

Not content, however, with these ventures, Davis made large investments in real estate in the downtown sections of St. Louis, Chicago, New York, and Boston. Owing to the fact that he apparently held no property which brought no return, he seemed, as in all other transactions, to have acquired the proverbial "Midas touch."

In the meantime, he had become a director and investor in the Frisco, the Paducah, Tennessee Alabama, and the Tennessee Midland railroads, and here again his judgment proved astute.

At the close of nearly thirty-one years of active work, John T. Davis, planning to retire, died suddenly at his home in St. Louis. From 1871 until his death in 1894, he was a member of the controlling board of Washington University. In the memorial delivered at his death by an official of that institution, he was spoken of as one "of the best loved benefactors of that institution, its friend as a boy and as a successful business man, to which he had given liberally, but with the least possible ostentation."

INFANTS BAPTIZED AT CHARLESTON M. E. CHURCH

Charleston, Mo., April 7.—The Palm Sunday service held at the Methodist church was largely attended. The vested Choir of young people rendered a beautiful musical program under the direction of Mrs. Moffat Latimer, and the pastor, the Rev. C. P. Throgmorton, delivered a splendid sermon, his topic being "Why the Cross".

An interesting feature of the service was the baptism of the following infants: Paul Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Cornwall; Terry Finley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Hequembourg; James Dennis, and Joella Moore, children of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Thurmond; Paula Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Beasley; Lois Morine, James Warren, and Johnnie Seldon, children of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Cox; Mary Irma and James Hugh, children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson; James William, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. McFadden, Sr.; Rebecca Jane, and John Lindsay, children of Mr. and Mrs. E. Riley Brown; William Clifford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. Brown; Ravid Hilary, Jr., and Mabelanna, children of Mr. and Mrs. David Hilary Lee, Sr.; Arthur Herman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mattingly; Harry Totts, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Bryant; Lucy Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Nussbaum; Bertie Laney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Shell.

Misses Anne Goodin and Ada Hequembourg served at the altar, assisting the pastor, the Rev. C. P. Throgmorton, with the flowers (pink carnations) used in the service and the holding of the silver baptismal bowl.

NEW SOIL CONSERVATION PROGRAM IS EXPLAINED

Aspects of the new soil conservation program now being presented to farmers were explained last week-end by Leslie B. Broom, the New Madrid county extension agent.

Mr. Broom emphasized particularly that the program is voluntary. There will be no contracts, he said, and no tax on cotton. Neither will there be compliance, but there must be performance. It is impossible to state now the exact amount any farmer will receive as a grant.

Three things Mr. Broom said every farmer must do if he desires to try to qualify are these: he must take a total of all his cultivated acreage (exclusive of wild hay) from which any crop was harvested in 1935, together with all other farm land which is tillable and from which at least one crop (other than wild hay) has been harvested since January 1, 1930; he must get a total of his soil depleting crop acreage such as corn, oats, wheat, barley, rye, and cotton; and he must have a total of his soil conserving crops, such as lespedeza, red, alsike, or crimson clover, alfalfa, soybeans, and cowpeas. This information must be supplied before anything can be done towards deciding whether a farmer will be able to qualify for payment, Mr. Broom said.

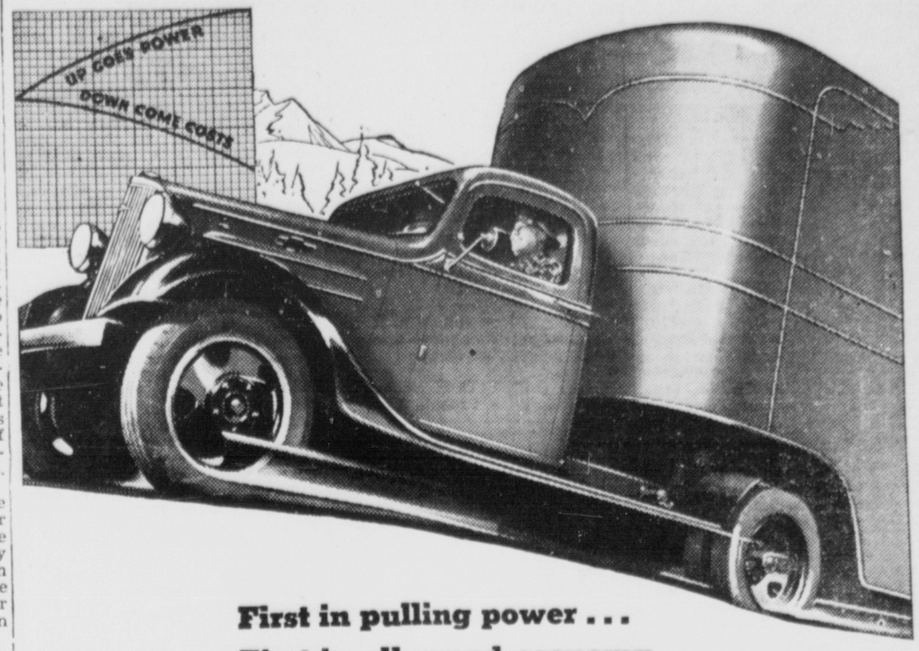

Bases used for the AAA contracts will be continued for determining the payments to be made. Farmers who have no contracts must qualify as to their base acreages for the soil conservation program in the same manner as did those who signed agreements.

There are 19 blind persons out of every 10,000 in Missouri compared with 9 out of every 10,000 of the entire United States including Missouri. One-third of the state's blind pensioners for the bi-ennium period of 1931-32 suffered from trachoma, a disease that is very prevalent throughout many southern counties of the state.

As a manufacturing state, Missouri ranks about eleventh in value of products and thirteenth in the number of wage earners. Of the states west of the Mississippi River, Missouri has been the leader in manufacturing until displaced in recent years by California.

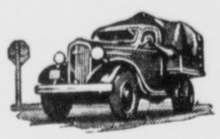

The average date for the last killing frost in the spring comes about the middle of April, and the first killing frost in the fall about the middle of October thus making the average growing season for the state about 180 days long.

Charles Ferdinand Wilmar, Missouri's great painter of Indian life, lived among the Indian tribes along the upper Missouri River at intervals for six years studying the native types their habits and home life. As a result he is ranked as one of the greatest painters of Indian and buffalo subjects. The artist died in 1862 shortly after finishing his work of painting the dome of the old St. Louis courthouse.

GET YOUR CAR READY FOR SPRING

YOU NEED richer-bodied oil to protect your engine in summer. Winter oil may be dangerously thinned by "choking"—and filled with dirt sucked in by the engine.

Drive in today and let us drain, flush out and refill your crankcase with the correct grade of fresh, clean, summer Mobiloil. It takes only a few minutes—saves you actual cash.

Millions proved these savings last year. They've reported up to 50% greater mileage and fewer repairs with this remarkable oil made by the Socony-Vacuum Clearosol Process.

In addition, Mobilgas and Mobiloil dealers have a quick, expert service for radiator, gears and chassis. They'll give your car complete summer protection. Drive in today—at the Sign of the Red Gargoyle or the Flying Red Horse.

THIS SERVICE SAVES YOU MONEY
1 CHANGE TO the correct grade of summer Mobiloil.
2 CLEAN RADIATOR of rust with Mobil Radiator Flush.

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Thedford's Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The grown folks stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets. . . Mrs. C. W. Adams, of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Thedford's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

59,814 ENROLLED IN STATE ADULT EDUCATION CLASSES

A notion of the size and success of Missouri WPA emergency education projects may be found in a March report of activities Alfred C. Moon, the state director, has just sent to Washington. Mr. Moon forwarded a copy of his report to C. L. Blanton, Jr., ninth area WPA director.

Throughout the state, the report shows, 1090 instrutors and supervisors have charge of classes having a total enrollment of 59,814 persons.

The largest single group of people—37,257—are taking general adult education courses offered by 503 teachers. Literacy education, with 10,292 enrollees, ranks second. Two hundred and sixty instructors are devoting their time to it.

Smaller numbers are taking parent education (1990); vocational training (6057); workers' education (3349); and freshman college work (153). Seven hundred and sixteen children are enrolled in nursery schools taught by 123 teachers.

Strip Crops Hold Soil When Wind Whips Fields

Strip cropping, one of the best and most economical methods of checking erosion by water, also is valuable in checking wind erosion in western areas.

Whether planted on contour lines or at right angles to prevailing winds, strips of sweet clover, alfalfa, sorghum, sudan grass, or sunflower not only stop soil that starts to blow, but also break the wind as it sweeps across the field. It is small soil particles carried by a high wind that produce the scouring effect known as wind erosion. Strip cropping stops drifting soils in the same way as fences and weed clumps.

Another advantage of strip cropping is that strips may be shifted from year to year. The top growth and roots are plowed under and add humus to the soil. This is one of the best preventives of "blowing." Soil with a good content of organic matter is much less likely to blow than soil cultivated year after year until most of the humus disappears.

IN BANKRUPTCY

To the Creditors of The Little River Drainage District:

NOTICE is hereby given that on the 9th day of April, A. D. 1936, the verified petition of The Little River Drainage District was duly filed in the office of the clerk of this Court stating, among other things, that the district is insolvent and unable to meet its debts as they mature; and that it desires to effect a plan of debt readjustment whereby its bonded indebtedness will be reduced and refinanced pursuant to the provisions of Section 80, of Chapter IX, of the National Bankrupty Act, as amended, and praying that the court take such action under the Act mentioned as is necessary to fully effect such debt readjustment. That the petition of the district and the proceedings for debt readjustment as set forth therein was approved by the court as properly filed under the Bankruptcy Act and is now pending therein. That by order of the court duly entered in this cause a hearing will be held in the chambers of the Judge of the court in the Federal Building, in the city of Cape Girardeau, State of Missouri on the 8th day of May, 1936, at 11 o'clock A. M., or as soon thereafter as same may be held, for the purpose of considering the plan of readjustment as set out or referred to in the petition as well as any changes or modifications thereof which may be proposed or decreed necessary or proper, and for the further purpose of hearing any creditor of the district upon any controvertible matter in connection with the proposed plan of debt readjustment and the advisability of entering an order confirming same.

The plan of debt readjustment materially affects the holders of all outstanding bonds of the district, as it will, if put into effect require the holders of such Bonds to accept in exchange therefor Three hundred dollars ($300) for each One Thousand Dollars ($1,000) thereof, nothing on interest.

Creditors of the district are hereby referred to the petition on file in the above entitled cause and to the exhibits attached thereto and the orders of the court for details and particulars of the proposed plan of debt readjustment and of the proceedings taken and to be taken therein.

The proposed plan of debt readjustment has been approved by the district and duly accepted by the holders of more than 97 per centum of the holders of the outstanding bonds of the district, and upon the approval or confirmation of the plan or readjustment by the court, the district is empowered and authorized to take such action is necessary to carry the same into effect.

This 9th day of April, 1936.

Insured Lubrication

GOOD-BYE to hit-or-miss oiling and greasing! . . . NOW an utterly new idea brings you a PERFECT lubrication plan, PROTECTED by Insurance in The Travelers Indemnity Company.

The Quaker Statement

LUBRICANTS

1—Perfected motor oils and greases to meet full requirements of all seasons for each part of every make of car.

2—Motor oil made from 100 per cent Pennsylvania crude oil: so pure it does not require acid treatment which lessens an oil's oiliness.

3—By costly, extra refining processes, Quaker State removes the quart of thin, useless oil of little or no lubricating value—which remains in every gallon of ordinary motor oil—and replaces this waste with a quart of rich, fullbodied lubricant. Four fullbodied lubricant. Four full quarts of genuine, heat-resisting lubrication in every gallon.

THE PROPOSITION

1—Because your car will not operate without oil and grease, you face a choice of brands.

2—Brands differ greatly in quality; we urge that you use Quaker State, but we do not attempt to prove its superiority by claims alone. Instead we say:

3—If you will use only Quaker State lubricants in your car, ADOPT THE QUAKER STATE PLAN OF LUBRICATION and equip your car with "Roll-o-Miles" at $3.50, we will supply you with a one year guarantee insured in The Travelers Indemnity Company of Hartford, Conn., which agrees to pay the customary cost of repairing or replacing any burned out and inoperative bearings resulting from faulty or insufficient lubrication.

TO FILE QUO WARRANTO AGAINST GLOBE-DEMOCRAT

Attorney-General Roy McKittrick was to file quo warranto proceedings in the Missouri supreme court yesterday against the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, alleging the newspaper's "Famous Names" contest violates the state anti-lottery laws and exceeds the paper's rights and privileges under its state charter.

McKittrick's announcement was made Friday after a conference with Globe-Democrat attorneys at which they indicated the paper does not intend to discontinue the contest. They do not consider it a lottery.

If the defendant were found guilty by the court, it could be prevented from doing business in Missouri, be fined, or receive a conditional ouster order if it agreed to discontinue the contest.

Death Claims John C. Clemson of Oran

Mr. John C. Clemson of Oran died of pneumonia at the Southeast Missouri hospital in Cape Girardeau, Thursday, April 9, 1936. He had been ill only a few days.

Mr. Clemson was born in Dresden, Tennessee, July 12, 1848. He went to Oran as a young man and to work for the Old Iron Mountain Railroad System in 1879. He was pensioned by the Missouri Pacific in 1928. Since that time he has busied himself around his home in Oran, being active until only a few days before death.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist church in Oran, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with the pastor, Rev. D. D. Seger officiating. Burial was in the Friend cemetery at Oran.

Mr. Clemson was long a faithful member of the Baptist church at Oran, serving in many capacities in the church, and was a regular attendant at it's services through the years.

Mr. Clemson was united in marriage to Miss Ella Harris at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Phil Williams of Kelso on February 24, 1886. It was their happy privilege last February to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary, at which time many of their friends from near and far came to express their love to them.

Mr. Clemson taught 36 boys to handle the telegraph instrument while he was station agent in Oran. Those boys have grown in to manhood and some of them are to still be found in railroad offices.

Besides his wife Mr. Clemson is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Georgia Williams of Oran, Mrs. Virginia Duckworth of Tuscaloosa, Alabama; two sisters, Mrs. Lew C. Smith of Cape Girardeau, Mrs. R. E. Dedge of Memphis, Tenn; two grandchildren, Clemson and Helen Duckworth of Tuscaloosa; two great-grandchildren, John Clemson Duckworth the 3rd, Virginia Henderson Duckworth of Tuscaloosa.

Mr. Clemson was a member of A. O. U. W.; O. R. T. and the Odd Fellows.

MANY PARENTS, SCOUTERS ATTEND TRAINING COURSE

Twenty-five parents of boys of cub age and eleven Scoutmasters' attended the first lecture of training courses being sponsored by the Kiwanis club. They were given in the Marshall hotel dining room Thursday night.

C. G. Morrison of Cape Girardeau, Scout executive for the Scout executive for the Southeast Missouri area council, spoke to the parents; and George W. Kirk, president of the council, and Tharon Stallings conducted the first lecture for Scoutmasters and Scouters.

The second lecture of the Scoutmasters' traning course will be delivered in the American Legion rooms in the McCoy-Tanner building this Thursday.

Mr. Kirk said last week-end that both parents and Scoutmasters may still enroll for the training course. Two additional lectures will be given parents, and five more will be offered Scouters.

A cub pack sponsored by Kiwanians will be organized when the parents' course is completed. Only boys whose parents have attended the lectures will be eligible for membership.

19 AT FROG DINNER FOR AGENT'S OFFICE WORKERS

Nineteen persons attended a frog dinner at Porter's cafe in Benton Thursday evening for all present and former members of the Scott county extension agent's office and for two state agricultural officials. Fowler A. Young, assistant Scott county agent, and Sayers Tanner, also an associate of the office, had gigged the frogs.

Guests included C. C. Hearne and Ide P. Trotter, both of the Missouri College of Agriculture; Frank B. Veatch, Scott county agent, and Mrs. Veatch; Mr. and Mrs. Fowler A. Young; Mr. and Mrs. Sayers Tanner; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Watkins, Jr.; Miss Alma Hooker; Miss Alma Compas; Leslie B. Broom, New Madrid county agent; Miss Lucille Sloas of New Madrid; Simon P. Bollinger, cotton assistant in Ripley county; Miss Catherine Ahrens of Oran; Miss Dixie Smith of Benton; Miss Christine Phillips of Morley; and David Blanton of Sikeston.

This program was given during the dinner: piano solo, Mr. Veatch; clog dance, Mr. Broom; vocal solo, Mrs. Young; piano solo, Miss Compas; and tap dance, Miss Smith. Guests danced during the later part of the evening.

Burial Society Charged In Suit In Newton County

By Associated Press

Springfield, Mo., April 8, 1936.—Objections of the Better Business Bureau and a group of funeral directors today led the Atlas Life Society to agree that the decree moving it from here to Newton County be set aside. A pro forma decree of reincorporation was granted in circuit court here March 7.

The society formerly was known as the Granby Burial Association, with Arthur A. Bull, President; Marshall T. Jamison, secretary and treasurer; and Jasper Ryan a member who joined them in the petition for transfer to Green county.

The Better Business Bureau claimed the reincorporation and relocation decree was illegal because the law requires that such associations shall not be organized for pecuniary benefit.

Marshall T. Jamison, the objector claimed, is interested in a funeral establishment at Dexter, and prior to asking the decree he issued about 6000 memberships requiring their burial benefit be procured through the Rice-Jamison Funeral Home.

The bureau claimed also he is interested in funeral homes in Kennett and Charleston.

WE SPONSOR NO SCHEMES

Every now and then we are approached by promoters who seek to interest us in a burial association scheme by selling certificates or memberships to a large number of people promising a definite kind of funeral service in return, we are told our business can be greatly increased.

Our answer to these proposals is always the same. We refuse to sponsor any such project. In our opinion, funeral service is a matter of personal arrangement. The family should have complete freedom of choice and not be limited by any iron bound contract made in the past.

Our services vary in cost according to individual needs. The highest possible quality, with careful, efficient attention to every detail guarantees complete satisfaction.

for you!
by HART SCHAFFNER & MARX

Hart Schaffner & Marx had you fellows - who - hate - tight shoulders in mind when they designed this suit.

They put a gusset where sleeve meets shoulder (see sketch) which gives plenty of freedom. And for good measure they cut clever side vents in the jacket to prevent tightness across the seat.

This suit is top style—it's designed from jackets worn by the well dressed crowd at United Hunts Meet and polo matches at Meadowbrook, L. I. Your size is waiting for you here, in the pattern and color you like. Come on in and try it on

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for the positions of senior and junior stenographer and senior and junior typist.

Applicants must be at least 18 but under 53. For positions in the apportioned service at Washington, D. C., they must show actual and bona fide residence in the state or territory claimed for at least six months next preceding the closing date for receipt of applications.

W. A. WHITE'S WIFE SENT TO INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Two sisters, on of them Mrs. Agnes Tidwell White, 16-year-old wife of W. A. White of Cape Girardeau, formerly of Sikeston, were ordered taken to the state industrial school for girls at Chillicothe after a joint hearing in the juvenile division of the Cape Girardeau common pleas court last week.

Mrs. White and her sister, Mrs. Lorene Tidwell Summers, 17 years old, were found to be "neglected and delinquent children." They will be kept at the school until they are 21 years old.

A hearing was called after Prosecuting Attorney Elmer A. Strom of Cape county learned the sisters had caused their husbands and close relatives to worry. They had allegedly been separated from their husbands for short periods of time.

Mrs. White said in court that she was willing to return to her husband and that she thought "we could make a go of it. He treated me all right when we lived together," she said. She added, when the courst asked if she loves Mr. White, who is 69 years old, "I donk think there is such a thing as love, but I think we could get along all right. I don't want to be sent away."

Both Mr. White and Pat Summers, Loren's husband, told Judge Lee L. Bowman they wanted their wives returned to them. Mrs. William Gilmore, the grils' mother, also said she wished her daughters could be left in Cape Girardeau.

DECKER'S MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL OVERRULED; APPEALS TO HIGH COURT

Judge Frank Kelly overruled Dr. A. J. Decker's motion for a new trial Friday and formally sentenced him to two years in the penitentiary.

Decker, who was given a two-year term after his conviction earlier this term on a manslaughter charge resulting from an illegal operation performed on Mrs. Herbert McMullin of Fornfelt, immediately appealed to the state supreme court.

Harry Kaempfer's motion for a change of venue was passed until later this month, and court was adjourned until April 23.
